Captain Coghlan, of "Hoch der Kaiser" fame, has many personal friends in Oregon, who, perhaps, will be interested to learn that the captain who was in charge of the Raleigh at Manila has decided to settle down at the foot of Pikee Peak and has bought a modest little home there, where he will go when not in service.

Fred Laurence in trying to board the outbound freight at Wallula for Starbuck slipped and sprained his ankle and then set all his weight on the weak spot. Unfortunately he had on congress shoes, lacing at the sides. There was no support to offset the strain, and the ankle broke through both flesh and shoe, penetrating the cinders. Laurence, suffering agonies, was put on the express for Walla Walla and taken to St. Mary's hospital, where the foot was amputated immediately.

HELPLESS.

The man trussed up so that he can neither move hand nor foot is in his helplessness a fair type of many a man affected by rheumatism. Often the disease comes only partially disabled, and with crutch and cane the sufferer hobbles painfully about.

Rheumatism can be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This great blood purifying medicine eliminates the poisons which cause the disease. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the purity and abundance of the blood supply, thus giving vigor and vitality to all organs of the body which depend for their health on plenty of pure blood. It builds up the body with firm flesh instead of flabby fat. The "Discovery" contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

"I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad at times I could not leave my bed," writes Mr. R. J. McKnight, of Cadon, Williamsburg Co., S. C. "I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors, and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pain in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Everywhere I saw the 'Discovery' I said I must die. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of the 'Pellets,' and to-day my health is a good deal better than it was years with rheumatism."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

SEVENTH NATIONAL NEW YORK CITY CLOSSES.

Comptroller of the Currency Takes Charge.

LOST MONEY LOANED TO BROKERS

Loan of $1,600,000 Made to One Firm, Which Could Not Be Collected This Week, Led to the Suspension.

New York, June 27.—The Seventh National bank of this city closed its doors this morning. This notice was posted: "This bank is in the hands of the comptroller of the currency."

The affairs of the bank had been in a tangle for several days. A strong fight had been made to pull it out of muddly financial water and strong financial interests came to the rescue, but the effort failed and the bank had to close its doors.

Indebted to Clearing House.

The bank came in a debtor at the clearing house this morning to the extent of $646,108.85. The clearing house committee communicated with the officers of the bank, who held a meeting and decided to temporarily suspend. The troubles of the bank, it is alleged, was brought about by a loan of $1,600,000 to a brokerage firm. The failure to assure the comptroller of the currency that this loan would be taken up by Saturday that forced the suspension and put it in the hands of that official.

Had Postoffice Funds.

The bank was the custodian of the funds of the New York postoffice, but the postoffice is amply protected.

Salt Lake, Utah, June 27.—Perry Heath, said to be connected with the New York Seventh National bank, is here. In a statement he said he was unable to explain the singular circumstances of the failure, and he supposed everything was all right when he left New York.

Bank Manager Arrested.

Berlin, June 27.—Financial circles were completely taken by surprise last night by the arrest of Manager Exner, of the Leipzig bank, which suspended payment Tuesday. Sensational revelations as to the actual reasons for the closing of the bank are expected.

Runs Started on Other Banks.

Leipzig, June 27.—In consequence of the imprisonment of Manager Exner of the Leipzig bank, a general commercial panic is in progress and runs on other banks are increasing. It is feared that other banking houses and commercial firms will go to the wall. Enterprises connected with the Leipzig bank are already ruined. It is stated Exner is not an embezzler. All the bank's books were seized.

ELKHORN AGAIN FLOODED

Prompt Action Taken to Suppress Lawlessness on Part of Disasters.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 27.—Another severe storm swept over Elkhorn valley last night, making a great additional loss to the flooded district. No deaths are reported, but a heavy downpour caused great consternation among the flood victims.

There was some lawlessness on the part of negroes at Keystone last night, but was suppressed at the pistol's point, and the negroes were put in chains. The mayor says the negroes must work or get out and any attempt at looting or rioting will be met with Winchester rifles.

Great Damage in Kanawha.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 27.—The storm of last night was severe throughout the Little Kanawha. There was a regular cloudburst, and the damage will be very heavy. The full extent of the damage is not yet known.

CONSIDINE-MEREDITH KILLING

THE MAN WHOM THEY QUARRELED OVER WELL KNOWN IN PORTLAND.

The Impression in Portland is That a Job Was Put up on Meredith to Bring About His Death.

Portland, June 27.—Charles Harper, over whom ex-Chief of Police W. L. Meredith and John Considine of Seattle displayed their friendship of years standing, is a Portlander. When Meredith was a detective on the Seattle police force, he arrested Harper, who was wanted in Los Angeles, against the remonstrances of his friend Considine. Since then the gambler and the police officer have been bitter enemies, the animosity culminating in the recent tragedy. Charles Harper's real name is Charles Keith, a member of the Keith family of this city, which has long been identified with the oyster house business. Keith was born and raised here. He is one of the most active bunko operators on the coast and has frightened people in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Spokane, and, in short, every town in the entire Northwest. In 1892 he was wanted by the Portland police for a series of offenses. There was a man who made a practice of criminally assaulting women in lodging houses here and otherwise abusing them. Suspicion pointed to Keith, alias Harper, who was finally arrested here three years ago by the detectives who had a gun play with him before they could get him to a photographer's to be mugged for the rogue's gallery. In the studio the officers had another fight with Keith. On being ordered out of Portland Keith went to Seattle, where Meredith arrested him and shipped him to Los Angeles where he was wanted. The charge against Keith was assault with intent to commit murder. While out on $2000 awaiting the grand jury, he jumped out of town, coming here and subsequently to Seattle. Governor Gage, of California, who was not yet executive of the state, defended Keith when he was eventually tried and secured his acquittal. In the charges of grating Considine brought against Meredith was one in which it was alleged Keith had paid Meredith a graft. There is an impression here that a job was put up on Meredith to encompass his death.

Meredith Brooded Over Troubles.

Seattle, June 27.—There is a growing belief that ex-Chief of Police Meredith was not far from insane at the time of the shooting Tuesday. He had brooded over his trouble with Considine for many days and his friends who talked with him on the day of the tragedy say that he was undoubtedly mentally irresponsible.

George W. Houston, the train dispatcher who was a bystander and who was shot during the affray may lose his left forearm.

The autopsy revealed the fact that Meredith's skull was fractured in two places by blows from the clubbed revolver. The coroner says irresponsibility would have followed either blow in an ordinary man; also that those fractures might have caused death had Meredith not been shot.

The coroner's inquest is being held. Considine is still in jail and there seems no immediate prospect for him to gain his liberty as the authorities determined to probe the matter to the bottom.

Considines Will Be Indicted.

Seattle, June 27.—The coroner's jury this morning returned a verdict against Tom and John Considine for the murder of ex-Chief of Police Meredith.

WHY COMMITTEE WON'T VISIT CELILO

Portland Chamber of Commerce Trying to Have Willamette Valley Junket Discarded in Favor of Upper River Trip.

Portland, June 27.—The Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to have the trip of the harbor committee up the Willamette valley abandoned in favor of an inspection of the rapids at Celilo. There is small prospect of this being accomplished, however, because of the opposition of Congressman Thomas H. Tongue. The committee will traverse the valley on their way to Portland, so it is considered unnecessary to simply make a back track, covering practically the same ground. Congressman Tongue is a member of the committee and desires to have something to say as to how the visitors shall occupy their time when in Oregon. It is said that he has a desire to be sent back to Washington when his present term expires and with this end in view he wishes to parade the committee before his constituents and demonstrate his pull. The object of the committee's visit to the coast is to examine the various places demanding appropriations in order that the members can vote intelligently hereafter. In the Willamette valley there is nothing of this sort to interest the committee because all that Congressman Tongue would show them is the fertile farms of the valley and his blooded stock, perhaps. The public improvements in Tongue's district are not to be visited even in the itinerary prepared for the valley trip. The locks at the mouth of the Yamhill river, Coquille, and other places need no attention on the part of the committee anyway, as they are already provided for by appropriations sufficient to carry on the work, or at any rate the work already commenced will be completed without the personal inspection of the harbor committee. In view of these things the Portland Chamber of Commerce is hoping to have the Willamette valley junket discarded in favor of an inspection of the Chamber of Commerce will be successful in this matter.

Oregon at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 27.—The Oregon editorial delegation gave a reception to the Buffalo press last night. There was a large attendance to the happy affair. Oregon paintings decorated the walls of the press room and the spirit of Oregon, who flies with her own wings, was everywhere.
