White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hoharty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful stomach and liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 25c. Sold by Tallman & Co., druggist.

REPORTS OF CROP DAMAGE

UMATILLA'S WHEAT WILL BE OFF ONE THIRD THIS YEAR.

George Perringer's Wheat Crop Will Fall Short—Herman Suhl Tells of South Cold Springs Fields.

One of the largest wheat growers in the county of Umatilla, and consequently in the state of Oregon, is George Perringer, who resides in Pendleton. Mr. Perringer doesn't do all his farming by proxy, out gets in and drills with the rest of the men, and keeps himself as thoroughly informed as possible upon the crop situation. He returned on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 9, from a trip through his fields, south of Adams, and reports a damage. Without quoting him literally the following is the result of his investigations:

Between Adams and Pendleton, West of the Shellfice place, between Adams and Pendleton, for a distance of eight or ten miles, the damage to the wheat has been from 15 to 25 per cent. East of that landmark, and off to the southeast, where lie the choicest lands of the reservation, the damage is less, and the late wheat there may not have been damaged at all. Mr. Perringer has 1700 acres of wheat, and his crop, as it is now estimated, will fall 1000 bushels short of what he was counting on ten days ago. The most of this loss will come from one field of 320 acres, which was put down for 35 bushels per acre. Mr. Perringer has knocked the five off the thirty and will be perfectly satisfied if it reaches that. His other fields, farther east, have not suffered. In regard to the cause of the damage Mr. Perringer said he had to give it up, as he did not know whether it was the frost or the late cold winds. His belief in that regard was similar to the expression of opinion of a dozen other of the best farmers, that the frost had weakened the wheat plant and left it an easy victim to what might follow. Mr. Perringer further stated that the loss would not only be in having less wheat, but that much of it would not be No. 1.

Herman Suhl's Loss.

Herman Suhl, who resides in South Cold Springs, nine miles northwest of Pendleton was in the city Tuesday evening, July 9. He has 260 acres of wheat. Instead of getting 35 bushels of No. 1 wheat to the acre he will get 25 bushels, but he said positively that it would not be No. 1. The early sown wheat took the brunt of the loss, while that sown later, not being so far advanced when the frost and cold winds wereavoring around, escaped with comparatively little damage.

A WHEAT FIELD BURNED

supposed to Have Caught by a Spark From Passing Engine.

Herman Roehlike, who resides at Fulton station on the W. & C. R., has not as much wheat by 10 or 12 acres as he had last week. This came about by a fire. Mr. Roehlike took a walk out to look at his wheat Sunday morning, July 7. He was surprised to run across a patch of 10 or 12 acres that had been burned. The wheat was dry in that particular corner of the lot, and had apparently been ignited by a spark from a passing engine. It had burned the dry wheat and had stopped when it got to where the wheat was green. It is thought that the fire took place on Saturday evening, July 6, but that is a matter of conjecture, as no one saw it to give an alarm.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS SHOT

Experience of a Returned Soldier Who Was Captured by Filipinos.

E. G. Benson, a discharged American soldier, who returned to this country on the transport Thyra a week ago, told the story of the killing of five American soldiers in an attempt to escape from the insurgents by whom they had been captured. In April, 1900, the story of the killing of these five men, so Benson says, has never been published.

Benson and six other prisoners were confined in a small town near the coast of Luzon in a small bamboo shack on a river bank. All seven of them made an attempt to escape at the same time, and Benson and a man named Brown got away. The other five were shot and killed. Their names were: Olaf Sunwall, of San Francisco; Sexton, of New York city; Dolan, of Chicago; John Kinney, of Marquette, Mich.; Medlock, Colledgeville, Ark.

Benson and Brown separated, and Benson says he lived for four days in an uninhabited forest, living on snails, roots, etc. He was recaptured at Punta Real, at the mouth of the August river, and taken to Binan Guan, a town in the province of Infanto, where he was held in captivity for five months. Ultimately he was released by order of Aguinaldo, some time prior to the latter's capture by Faustus. Benson says that Binan Guan, in Infanto province, has never been captured by the American troops. Another town by the same name, but in another part of the island, was taken. He says that while prior to his escape and recapture he was not treated very well, Astelio San Pablo, the governor of Infanto province, treated him as well or better than he would have been by the American army officers.

Benson was originally captured with a pack train near Becorr in Cavite province. He was attached to Swan's expeditionary brigade. He was with the Filipinos in a long retreat before Lawton's brigade. His home is at Louisville, Ky., where he will return.—Oregonian.

SUICIDE OF ATTORNEY WHITE

Son of Ambassador White, White Suffering From Illness, Destroys Himself.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 10.—The suicide here of Attorney Frederick White, son of Ambassador White, is being generally discussed and some additional details were brought out.

Mr. White had appeared to be in usual health during the day, and had attended to matters of business of the management of the White estate. He was alone in the house with the servants during a part of the afternoon. Mrs. White returned shortly after 5 o'clock and found Mr. White dead in the bathroom. A bullet from a rifle had passed through his brain and he had been instantaneously. No one heard the shot.

Some 18 years ago, on completing his course at the Columbia law college, Mr. White had a severe attack of typhoid fever, from which he has never recovered. Stomach and intestinal troubles resulted. Later his nervous system became weakened, and within a few years neurasthenia developed.

About a year ago he suffered a severe attack of the complaint. During the recent hot spell another attack of the disease came on, leaving him in a state of acute nervousness.

Coroner Mathews today officially reported Frederick D. White's death as a case of suicide due to neurasthenia.

EAGLE SCREAMER'S PASSING

The One Time All Important Functionary is Losing His Grip.

No better illustration of the decline of platform oratory is furnished than the recurring celebrations of the "glorious Fourth." Twenty-five years ago no celebration in any town was complete without an orator of local celebrity or national renown. The man who made the eagle scream was the star attraction of the day. The fireworks in the evening were the fitting finale of a patriotic fervor worked up by the perspiring spellbinder who set off the rhetorical skyrockets earlier in the day.

The chronicles of the Fourth that are sent in from the various towns contain fewer mentions of Fourth of July orators each year. It is true that orators of national fame are still in demand. But there are not enough of them to go around and country towns are no longer willing to stifle in the hot sun and listen to a retired preacher, an ex-congressman or a back number politician.

Whether this is a sign of decline in patriotism or in the power of oratory, or the token of more widely diffused common sense among the plain people is food for interesting speculation. It may be that the people no longer feel the need of the annual visitation from the oratorical tail-twister in order to impress them with the full meaning of Independence day.

The schoolhouse, the church and the newspaper are doing business all the year round. They are the constant disseminators of patriotism. Even the partisan press that follows blindly the leadership of party, right or wrong, is always for the flag when national interests are imperiled.

Perhaps this explains why the people prefer to make the noise themselves on the Fourth rather than to listen to the rhetorical explosions of one man.—Record-Herald.
