HEPPNER MAN'S CLOSE CALL

W. H. Wherry Receives an Electric Shock During a Thunder Storm.

Lightning plays queer pranks occasionally. Here is an account from the Heppner Times of a man who came near losing his life by coming in contact with a barbed wire:

"W. H. Wherry of Heppner came near seeing his finish during the thunder storm last Saturday afternoon, and is now confined to the house with a badly burnt face and eye and shattered nerves. He was riding horseback up near Andy Stevenson's place, miles southeast of town, hunting for some stray sheep belonging to J. H. Kinman. When the lightning and thunder were maikng things interesting Mr. Wherry dismounted to open a wire gate. Just as he touched the wire he received an electrical shock which sent him to the ground in an unconscious state. Thus he laid for over three hours, when he finally woke and found the right side of his face blistered and his right eye frightfully burnt, also severe pains in his entire right side and limbs. By great effort he managed to scramble on to his horse and started back to Heppner. He was exhausted, however, by the time he got to Tom Quaid's place, and one of Mr. Quaid's men brought him to town in a hack. Dr. Kistner feared at first that Mr. Wherry's eye was burnt out, but finds that with careful attention the optic will not be permanently injured. He ought to be able to be out and around again within a few days.

"The barb wire which he touched during the thunder storm had evidently been charged with electricity, and Mr. Wherry received the shock on the side of the face next the fence."

Umatilla County Wheat Crop.

A great deal has been published at home and abroad recently over the alleged shortage of the wheat crop in Umatilla county, and a certain space writer for the Oregonian and Spokesman-Review living in Pendleton has garnered in several dollars by sending in "copy" on that subject to the detriment of our farmers. The facts are that a great portion of the failure noted originated in the fertile imagination of the Pendleton correspondent. The wheat crop in Umatilla county, both in quantity and quality, is fully up to the average this year. Of course some wheat has been slightly injured by unfavorable climatic conditions, but this is the case every year. Several threshers have started up in this end of the county and all bring in the most favorable reports thus far. Umatilla county's cereal crop will be fully up to its usual excellent standard this season.—Milton Eagle.

What's Your Face Worth?

Sometimes a fortune, but never, if you have a sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, all signs of liver trouble. But Dr. King's New Life pills give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cents at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

Hugh Fields a Bankrupt.

A late proceeding in the United States court at Portland was the filing of a petition of voluntary bankruptcy in which Hugh Fields of Brownsville is the petitioner. Hugh Fields was supposed to be a wealthy man, being heavily engaged in the sheep business in Eastern Oregon, having large interests in Morrow county. In Linn county he was a large land owner. The bankruptcy proceedings comes as a great surprise to everyone.

THE WHEAT IS ALL RIGHT

W. P. TEMPLE FINDS FIRST REPORTS WERE NOT ACCURATE.

Walla Walla Reports are More Favorable Than Earlier This Season.

"Two weeks ago I thought that the wheat crop of this county was very badly damaged by the unfavorable weather conditions that caused so much speculation regarding the 1901 yield. Now, having made an examination that was somewhat extensive, I am of the opinion that our fears were not well grounded."

This was the statement of W. P. Temple to the East Oregonian this morning. He said further:

"Of course, there was damage. But there is always damage every year. Let me give you some figures. I have looked at the grain of Elmer Snyder, Molstrom Brothers and B. Howdyshell, and I believe that it will average 25 bushels to the acre of strictly number one wheat.

Mr. Temple was asked regarding his own wheat, of which he has 1250 acres. This, he said, would yield fully 28 bushels to the acre of grain that will test number one strong.

Walla Walla Yields.

Over in Walla Walla county, there is a much better yield than was expected at the beginning of the season. When the unfavorable weather conditions prevailed, everyone thought that the loss was heavy, and local business was affected seriously. Later, as the threshing returns come in from the ranches, the opinion is that the yield will be well up to the average of former years, and that the quality will be good.

"This matter of the quality of the wheat is more important than that of the actual amount. Buyers will be compelled to concede that the quality is such as to justify paying close to the price of the number one grade," said a gentleman who returned from Walla Walla Friday evening. "Harvesting is in full blast all around that place, and the improved prospects by reason of the later returns have bettered trade."

THE MILTON NEIGHBORHOOD

Peacock Mills Being Enlarged—A Team Goes Over a High Embankment.

The Milton Eagle of July 19 contains the following items.

The Peacock Mill company is putting $12,000 worth of improvements on their property. When completed the plant will have a daily capacity of 500 barrels of high grade flour.

The harvest time is with us once again and everybody and his relatives are at work gathering in the golden grain. The quality and yield of wheat in the vicinity of Milton seems highly satisfactory.

Grandma Barney, an old pioneer lady residing on the Walla Walla river near the Mud creek neighborhood, died Friday last and her remains were shipped to the Willamette valley for interment. Old age and a general breaking down of the system was the cause of death.

Mr. A. M. Elam, who received a compound fracture of the arm and other severe injuries from a playful stallion about a month ago, is again able to be out on the street, and is thankful that he is alive. He had a close call to join the silent majority and has no desire to repeat the performance.

Joseph Clodius, the Dry creek farmer and orchardist, had a lucky escape from a serious accident at his farm on Monday. He was driving a young team of horses along a bluff when the line caught under the tongue of the vehicle and the horses backed over a precipice thirty feet of sheer descent. The wonder is that driver and horses were not killed, but all escaped with scarcely a bruise. Even the wagon was not materially damaged. Joe is now laboring under the impression that a special guardian angel is keeping watch and ward over his welfare.

Athena Notes.

The following items are from the Athena Press of July 19:

W. D. Chamberlain came up from Pendleton Sunday and spent the day in Athena.

"Doc" Osburn was among the Athenaites who attended the circus in Pendleton Wednesday.

The King boys have purchased a new J. I. Case threshing machine from the Athena Mercantile Co.

C. C. Sharp is in town today from Pendleton. He has the contract for painting and papering Hon. T. J. Kirk's new residence.

Clarence Whiteman is of the opinion that his 340 acres of wheat will yield between 35 and 40 bushels per acre.

N. H. Pinkerton was in Pendleton Sunday. He took down several head of horses for inspection by horse buyers for the British army in South Africa.

Athena baseball players are in demand. Bert Cartano received an offer to go to Baker City and finish the season with the team there, but declined the offer.

Fruit prospects were never better than this year at the Bergevin place south of town. Every variety of fruit will give a prolific yield and the quality will be of the very best.

In the family of J. C. Burke, who resides in Geer Springs neighborhood, three are down with smallpox. William Glen also has the smallpox at the Burke place. Drs. Sharp & Botkin are the attending physicians.

J A. Williams, a harvest hand, was the victim of a holdup Friday evening, on the O. R. & N. tracks, near the Pacific coast elevator A couple of thugs relieved him of $11.75, a pocket knife and some tobacco, and made their escape.

GEORGE ROSENBERG'S GOOD LUCK.

Grubstaked a Prospector Who Made a Strike on Hootalinqua River.

Further particulars are received regarding the reported rich strike made by George Rosenberg and H. C. Runner on the Hootalinqua river, a stream flowing into the Yukon river between White Horse Rapids and Dawson City. Mr. Rosenberg was approached sometime ago by an old prospector, who was confident he knew of a locality on the Hootalinqua where good "pay" could be uncovered. Runner, true to the traditions of his cult, was "broke." And, also true to the honor of his kind, he was honest. He proposed that Mr. Rosenberg "grubstake" him, and thus enable him to prospect the "dirt" and demonstrate whether or not it was worth working.

Runner took the grub and floated down the river to the mouth of the Hootalinqua, turning up that stream and throwing up his cabin. He immediately began sinking, and had not gone far towards bedrock before he began to find "colors." A short distance further down he found rich pay, and finally washed several pans of dirt that weighed out $30 each.

He at once sent word to Mr. Rosenberg to come to the place, dropping everything else. This the latter did, and found that the prospects were as at first reported by his grubstake partner.

At the time the letter was written that conveyed this information Mr. Rosenberg had not returned from the locality of the strike, and there was an element of uncertainty as to the authenticity of the story. However, there was about it no element of improbability, and hope was strong that the ground would prove to be as rich as indicated in the dispatches in the East Oregonian of July 15.

Ground that pays $30 to the pan in marvellously valuable, and, if it held out for even a very short bulk, would make a fortune for the owner. When it is considered that dirt that goes ten cents to the pan in Alaska, where mining methods are expensive, is good, it will be seen that this $30 dirt is a veritable bonanza.

Mr. Rosenberg went to Skagway a year or two ago to assume charge of the business of W. F. Matlock. His friends here hope that the report regarding his good luck is true.

Triumph for American Commerce.

It is reported that an American syndicate may buy a leading line of British ships, conduct it in our usual style and carry an important part of the world's commerce with it. America always takes the lead in matters of this kind. It also leads the world in medicines. There is no tonic to equal the old reliable Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It sets things right in the stomach. When this is done, the nerves are supplied with proper nourishment, adding tone and vigor to the entire system. It is a sure cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles, and a preventive for malaria, fever and ague. It is also a great blood purifier and should be in every household. Don't fail to try it.

Portland's Public Utilities.

By a very large majority the Portland charter commisson has adopted the principle of municipal ownership of "public utilities," which, by the terms of the proposed charter, are to include street lighting, the water supply, gas works, electric light works steam water or electric power works, heating works, telephone lines, street railways, "and such other public utilities as the common council may designate." It is provided, however, that the city shall not acquire any of these public utilities except after being authorized to do so by a vote of the electors of the city.

Had a Glorious Time.

County Clerk Vawter Crawford and the quill driver of this metropolitan journal returned the first of the week from a 4-days' fishing exploit, 25 miles south of here in the Blue mountains, having taken in Lower Ditch creek and Penland prairie, says the Heppner Times. They caught 172 of the finny tribe, ranging in length from 5 to 12 inches, ate like buzzards, saw two mammoth buck elk at a distance of 150 yards peacefully grazing in the meadow near Penland's headquarters, shot a great deal of small game, killed snakes, had a runaway smashup and otherwise had an experience that will forever fill their minds with happy and exciting recollections.

To the Ocean.

There is no more attractive summer resort than "Westport Beach" on the Washington coast. Tickets to this point as well as to all the Oregon seaside resorts, good returning up to September 15, at the low rate of ten dollars for the round trip. For full particulars call at the office of the Washington & Columbia River railway company.

OREGON CORN WANTED.

To Form Part of the Economic Exhibit at the Columbian Museum.

The Board of Trade is in receipt of a request from C. F. Millspaugh, curator of the department of botany of the Field Columbia museum, at Chicago, asking for samples of Oregon corn. Mr. Millspaugh writes that he is deeply interested in filling a series of new cases with all the forms, kinds, uses and history of Indian corn, as a part of the economic exhibit of the museum, says the Telegram. One of the most interesting series in these cases will, he anticipates, be a complete set of standards of each state in the union. He, therefore, asks for a quart sample of each grade in Indian corn "as stipulated by your state laws, Board of Trade laws or Produce Exchange standards, as may be provided; also a copy of the laws prescribing the grading and describing the grades of corn."

The samples are to be directed to F. J. V. Skiff, director of the museum.

As Oregon is not a very heavy corn producer it is doubtful whether the request of the Field Columbian Museum management can be complied with to any satisfactory extent. Still, some fine samples of corn may be sent from Southern Oregon, where most of the corn is raised in this state. Being an industry of minor importance, however, it is not believed that the trade bodies of Southern Oregon have established grades or standards. It is known that there are no state laws relative to the matter.

Periodical Error.

This is the way the Heppner Times apologizes for an extra period: In last week's mention of the Pendleton Fourth of July doings, a measly little period accidentally slipped in between the figures 2 and 5, making it appear that the Heppner Symphony band received $2.50 for their excellent musical services—an amount which, if divided among the 16 members, would have enabled them to have a rip-smashing time socially. The amount the boys received was $250. The printer explained the cause of the typographical error by saying that in making up the forms he needed a little more matter with which to fill out the space, and thought it expedient to drop in a few periods wherever they looked the best."

"Nerve Waste."

One of the most helpful books on nerve weakness ever issued is that entitled "Nerve Waste," by Dr. Sawyer of San Francisco, now in its fifth thousand. This work of an experienced and reputable physician is in agreeable contrast to the vast sum of false aching which prevails on this interesting subject. It abounds in carefully considered and practical advice, and has the two great merits of wisdom and sincerity.

It is endorsed by both the religious and secular press. The Chicago Advance says: "A perusal of the book and the application of its principles will put health, hope and heart into thousands of lives that are now suffering through nervous imparement."

The book is $1.00 by mail postpaid.

One of the most interesting chapters—chapter xx, on Nervines and Nerve Tonics—has been printed separately as a sample chapter, and will be sent to any address for stamp by the publishers, THE PACIFIC PUBLISHING CO., Box 2656, San Francisco.
