ADJUDGED INSANE.

John W. Strain of Echo taken to the Asylum—Was a Soldier.

John W. Strain of Echo was brought to Pendleton on Monday, August 19, and in the afternoon was examined as to his sanity by County Judge Hartman. Dr. D. J. McFaul acting as examining physician. He was committed to the insane asylum and Deputy Sheriff Joe Blakley left with him in charge this morning for Baker.

Strain was a soldier in the Philippine campaign and was in the hospital at Manila for seven months. He has been sick at Echo for three months, gradually getting worse. He seems to be all right for a day or two, then has a bad spell. When the spell comes on he has a desire to kill but no tendency to suicide. He is six feet in height, weighs 165 pounds, is 34 years old, does not use intoxicants or opium, but chews tobacco moderately.

Smashed a Catsup Bottle.
Two strangers, Al Habenicht and another nicknamed "Bill Swipes" had a little trouble in "Ole's" Queen chop-house this afternoon. The former was paying for both meals, which had been served. They had not commened to eat before they engaged in a wordy dispute, followed by Habenicht smashing a bottle filled with catsup over the head of Swipes. Rich ripe tomato catsup was scattered broadcast over the lunch counter, also over some of the customers who were sitting near.
Marshal Heathman found Habenicht on the scene, being detained by the proprietor, but Swipes ran away and had not been located at last accounts.

STEALING WOOL FOR YEARS

ARRESTS OF LAST SUNDAY WILL PUT A STOP TO IT.

Credit Given to Jack Brown for Making it Possible to Bag the Criminals While They Were Barging Wool.

The arrest of George E. Haigh and J. Frank Day, on Sunday, August 18, while engaged in sacking wool in the barn of the latter, as related in the East Oregonian of Monday, August 19, has attracted much comment. The credit for the arrests is primarily due to Jack Brown. The wool buyers of Pendleton and the owners of warehouses in which wool is stored have been missing wool for years. Different ones have been suspected, but sufficient evidence has never been obtained to secure a conviction. These stealings have amounted to several thousand pounds annually. Information as to the above mentioned arrests were made will undoubtedly be read with interest.

Jack Brown Locates Wool.
On Wednesday, August 14, Jack Brown, who has been employed by W.
J. Furnish off and on for seven or eight years, located the wool in the Day barn and became aware of the fact that it was owned by George Haigh. How that information was obtained is still kept a secret by Mr.
Brown, and he says he would not give it away even if asked on the witness stand in circuit court. Mr. Brown shortly thereafter went to W. J. Furnish, president of the Pendleton savings bank and lessee of the large warehouse adjoining the O. R. & N. track on Thompson street, and related to him the information that had come to his knowledge. They decided to call District Attorney T. G. Halley into the case with them and the matter was kept a secret for the three. The time originally set for making the arrest was Saturday evening, August 17, but their plans were frustrated by the fact that Mr. Day decided to spend the evening convivially and carried out his scheme so successfully that he was in no condition to sack wool.

The Deal Was Made.
Mr. Brown had gone to George Haigh after he had learned that it was Haigh's wool in Day's barn, and offered to buy it. For some reason not made perfectly plain Haigh had to make the deal with Brown. The deal was made after the temporary postponement of Saturday evening. Mr.
Brown told T. G. Halley that Haigh, Day and himself would be in the barn between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Brown furnished the information and Mr. Halley issued the warrant for the capture based upon what he had been told. The greatest secrecy was maintained. Mr.
Halley had the warrants ready but neither the city nor county officials were notified until the last moment. When it came time on Sunday morning to go to the Day barn after the criminals, the warrant of arrest was in the hands of John Halley, special officer. Just before starting in his buggy for the scene, he wanted a deputy sheriff to go along with him, and called upon C. P. Davis. They went to the barn, got their men and placed them in the county jail.

Day's Defense.
J. Frank Day, in his preliminary hearing on Monday before Justice Fitz Gerald, claimed to be innocent of any criminality in the matter. He said that Haigh had promised him $5 for the use of his team and wagon for each trip made, and that Haigh had used the outfit about eight times, making the bill $40. Mr. Haigh was generous and instead of restricting the price to $40, told Day he would pay off a small mortgage—$50 and a little interest there was against Day's home. That was what Day was to get. He did nothing. The circumstances were such that Justice Fitz Gerald thought that Day had better be given an opportunity to explain more fully in circuit court, so he was held as well as Haigh, and their bail was fixed at the same amount of $500.

How it Was Stolen.
Haigh states that some of the wool found in the barn was stolen from the Furnish warehouse and some from the scouring mill. That from the latter was taken away in sheets, carried at night over to the alley near the Alta house and to the dark places between the warehouses at the Ebers mill, some transferred to grain sacks and the rest taken loose in the sheets, placed in the wagon and taken to the Day barn.

PERSONAL MENTION.
Mrs. Ed Eben will return this evening from Lehman springs.
Clint Brown left Monday evening for a visit of several days at his former home at Milton.

John Sylvester, the veteran merchant of Pilot Rock, is in Pendleton today on business.
Mrs. B. S. Burroughs and Ben Burroughs spent Sunday at Meacham as the guest of Grandma Munra.

Mrs. Woodard and daughter, Mrs. F.
W. Waite, have returned from Colfax, Wash., where they were the guests of relatives.
Mrs. Rose Campbell spent Sunday at Meacham as the guest of Mr. and Mrs.
Clyde Beach of Lewiston, Idaho, who are spending a couple of weeks there.

Tracy Inman, night operator at the O. R. & N. depot, will leave tonight for Tokos, Wash., where he will continue in the service of the company.
Mrs. F. R. Manning and two children have gone to Lost Falls, Idaho, where the mother of the first-mentioned is ill. The news of the illness came by telegraph.

Bert Campbell has gone to Hildway springs to remain for two weeks. His uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe H.
Parkes, have been at Hildway for a couple of weeks.
Jack Ellis, corporal serving under the United States recruiting officer in Pendleton two years ago, was here Monday night from Athena, his present stopping place.

C. E. Redfield passed through Pendleton this morning on his return from the east, accompanied by Mrs. Redfield's mother. He is on his way to his home at Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hallock, Miss Alma Hallock and Blaine and Joe Hallock have returned from a visit of several weeks' duration spent in the mountains up from Cascade Locks.
Mr. and Mrs. Heine Parkes and family of Walla Walla are camping at Meacham for the benefit of the health of Mrs. Parkes. They were at Hot Lake, Union county, for a while.

Miss Cora Crawford has returned from an extended outing at Meacham.
Miss Grace Crawford is visiting at Elgin, Union county, and is expected home the latter part of the week.
James A. Howard left Pendleton on Sunday morning, spent the day at Meacham and passed on for a trip to Lawton and a visit to the Maxwell mine, of which he is one of the owners.

H. T. Booth of Baker City is at the Pendleton. Mr. Booth is manager for Eastern Oregon of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company, and will spend some time here getting agencies established, and this territory organized for his company.

William Keller left Sunday morning for the scene of the shooting on Sa urday at so nearly proved fatal to Sam R. Thompson, with whom he was hunting. Mr. Keller is expected home this evening with the camp equipage.

George VanOrsdall of Meacham, a brother of John T. VanOrsdall, is a visitor in Pendleton and will remain on and Pendleton, both Mr. and Mrs.
Monday, accompanied by his niece, Miss Carol VanOrsdall, who was enjoying an outing there.

Mrs. Robert Ballentine is at Portland severely afflicted with a mental malady. Mr. Ballentine, it will be recalled, was formerly a conductor on the O. R. & N. between Huntington and Pendleton, both Mr. and Mrs.
Ballentine being well known here.

Miss Myrtle Smith left for the west and remained over Sunday at The Dalles as guests of friends. She is now in Portland trimming in one of the wholesale millinery houses. She may go to San Francisco before her return, which will be in the course of two or three weeks.

W. W. Gillett went to Portland Monday night after a new separator and complete outfit. His third separator was destroyed by fire following spontaneous combustion on Friday, August 16. This will be the fourth separator he has owned within two years. Fire took the first three.

Ed Struble, employed by Edwards Brothers, on Bear creek, was in Pendleton Monday and went to Milton on the mixed train in the evening. He will return to Pendleton today and leave tonight for Tacoma to attend the Elks carnival and afterwards visit at Portland for a few days.

Dr. H. S. Garfield writes from Crescent Lake, Oregon, that he and Mrs.
Garfield will be at home by August 25 to 28. He adds that "many are camping at the lake now and sport is not nearly so good as formerly. Crescent Lake is badly fished out. Shot a fine buck here the other day."

Contrary to expectations Frederick Willar is getting along nicely at the county hospital, after having had his left leg amputated above the knee one day last week. As he was 72 years of age the surgeons were not at all sanguine that he would recover, but the indications are now excellent and he is gaining in strength right along.

The Dalles Chronicle: Miss Stella Alexander of Pendleton and Misses Nellie White and Melvina Dolman of Paris, Texas, came up on the Gatzert Sunday afternoon and remained over until the night train. While in the city they were the guests of Judge and Mrs. G. C. Blakeley. Miss Alexander is on her return trip from the Pan-American exposition, while the other young ladies came West on the Great Western excursion and have been guests of their aunt, Mrs. N. E. Do-man, of St. Helena who is a sister of Senator Geo. McBride.
