Murphy has now the most complete line of wall papers and borders ever shown in Pendleton. All the latest shades and designs. You should see the stock. The management of the Walla Walla fruit fair is having serious trouble to get lumber for construction of the buildings needed properly to conduct the show, and the result will be much additional expense and delay.

SOME CLERKS ABOLISHED. General Roadmaster Boltons Rearranges His Department. Inquiry was made at the office of W. Boltons, general roadmaster of the O. R. & N., in regard to the report that division roadmaster's offices had been abolished, and the following statement was made: Part of the work done by these offices has been dispensed with and some is now being done by the office here and by the general office in Portland. This lessening of the work of the division offices necessitated a corresponding reduction in the clerical force, which was made. The division roadmasters and their offices are otherwise not affected.

L. S. Peck, who has been stenographer to W. Boltons, general roadmaster of the O. R. & N., has resigned his position and gone to San Francisco. Fred Van Horn, who succeeded Bert Coyle as cashier of the O. R. & N. freight office, has resigned his position. He will leave for Portland in a day or two. His successor is Otto Smith of that city. Douglas Crushed at Weston. Weston, Ore., Aug. 27.—Crushed beneath a great weight of earth and rock, Douglas, townman of the Pine creek bulkhead construction in the main part of the city, almost met a horrible death yesterday afternoon, and as it is, lies at his home where he may die. Douglas has been employed in the culvert work for some time. While giving orders and superintending the work he passed beneath an overhanging embankment which suddenly collapsed, almost burying him from sight. Ten minutes were required for extraction, when it was found that Douglas' chest had been crushed, his side hurt, five ribs crushed in, both collar bones and a shoulder blade broken. He will likely recover, though terribly injured.

For Sale. 100 acres of summer fallow, 800 acres of stubble wheat land; all implements and stock necessary to work the land. Inquire of Paul Bowman. Sheep For Rent. 4000 young ewes. Address, J. E. Smith Livestock Co. A sensational hold-up and murder occurred in Tacoma early Sunday morning while the carnival crowd was on the streets, two masked men entering the Elk saloon and ordering the occupants to throw up their hands. The proprietor thought the men were joking and with the result they fired, wounding him.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE N. E. Conference in Walla Walla to Hear a Case Against Ministers. Walla Walla, Aug. 27.—The N. E. annual conference meets here on September 4, with Bishop Malleloleu presiding. The conference will have a case of some seriousness for three members inasmuch as charges have been preferred at Spokane against Dr. Henry Brown, presiding elder, and Dr. P. A. Cool, rector of the First M. E. church of that city, and Rev. T. G. Hodgson, pastor of the church of Coeur d'Alene. Additional charges of fraud and deceit are made against Dr. Cool. These are the results of the trial and expulsion of five members from the First M. E. church. The charges will be investigated by the conference which will meet at Walla Walla September 4. The charges of maladministration against the three clergymen. Rev. Perry Chandler, who has been serving as field agent for Whitman college, will take pastoral work, being appointed by Bishop Malleloleu at this conference. Mr. Chandler has been quite effective and has done considerable for Whitman college, according to a statement made by President S. B. L. Penrose before the latter's departure for the east last June. He has made Whitman more generally known throughout the inland Empire, and the enrollment will show the good effects of his work.

New Telephone Company. There is talk here of competition for the Inland Telegraph and Telephone Co. The Automatic Telephone Company, a concern said to be backed by eastern capital, is now constructing a new system in Seattle, also holding franchises in Portland and Tacoma, contemplates extending its sphere of influence, and a local exchange is a strong probability. W. J. Barrett of San Francisco, general western manager for the Koebing Brothers Construction company, who is now in Seattle, may expect-

PERSONAL MENTION.

James Derrick of Milton is here today. L. B. Reeder returned this morning from Tacoma. Donald Ross, a sheepman of Vinson, is in town today. Mrs. Charles A. Craig went to Adams this morning to remain for several days. S. Rader of Walla Walla is here today, a guest of his son, M. A. Rader. Mrs. George R. Lash came home Sunday from Hot Lake, Union county. Al Jamison of La Grande has accepted a position with the Domestic Steam laundry. C. W. Avery, manager of Bingham springs is in town today. He returns there this evening. E. Y. Judd left this morning for The Dalles, intending to return to Pendleton tomorrow. Clark Sturtevant and wife and his mother, Mrs. A. J. Sturtevant, are here today from Pilot Rock. Mr. and Mrs. William Blakeley, who have been on their ranch for a few days, are expected home today. Joseph Hoch was in Milton on Monday. He states that three packing houses are now busy putting up fruit there. Mrs. R. M. Raley and daughter, Miss Cosbi, are expected home Monday, September 2, from a summer at the seacoast. Mrs. T. B. Swearingen returned today from a visit to relatives at New Whatcom Wash. She also visited in Tacoma and Seattle. Mrs. Simms, nee Reta Culp, is visiting in Pendleton from Spokane. Mrs. Simms is now a trained nurse and may remain in Pendleton. Charles Gardner, clerk at the Hotel Pendleton, has gone to the coast for a vacation. His place is temporarily filled by Ben Burroughs. Leon Cohen returned today from a trip to Seattle and other points on the Sound. Mrs. Cohen is at Victoria, where she will remain for some time. Miss Fanchon Borie is visiting Miss Blanche Horne at the latter's home on Upper McKay creek. Miss Horne has been here for several days visiting friends. Dr. W. G. Cole went to Walla Walla this morning and today performed a surgical operation at the new Walla Walla hospital. He will return this evening. Miss Anna McGee arrived this afternoon on the Hunt train from Ellensburg. Miss McGee spent the summer visiting friends at Long Beach, Portland and Ellensburg. W. E. Brock has returned from a visit of four weeks at the seacoast and in Portland. Frank G. Mitchell of the firm of Brock & McComas Co. leaves next week to return for a short time at the coast. Roy Alexander came home this morning from a summer's visit in Baker City. He has gone from there on several hunting and fishing expeditions into the mountains and has enjoyed his vacation very much. Miss Nora Watkins of Portland, who has been a guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Munra, at Meacham, will be here as a guest of Miss Earl Luckey on Thursday. An informant here has been given at the Armory on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Watkins. W. H. Wilson, who was employed at the O. R. & N. Co.'s offices here for several months last winter, arrived this morning from Portland and will go on to New York, after remaining here for a few days' visit. He goes to New York to remain permanently. H. H. Ames and A. F. Ranney of Susanville are here. Mr. Ames is manager of the Stockton Mining Co., and says that by a small amount of work on the road beyond the John Day grade Pendleton would get most of the trade of the Susanville district. J. M. Goar, who recently accepted a position with the wholesale firm of Winchester & Mayer, Portland, leaves at the end of this week to assume his new duties. Wm. H. Dindinger, who has been here for some time, coming from Seattle, succeeds Mr. Goar in the charge of the dry goods department. Mrs. Samuels, nee Lena Inman, who was the guest of Mrs. Rose Campbell, has gone to Lewiston, Idaho to visit her mother, Mrs. Inman, for a few days. She will go soon to Seattle and sail for Nome City, Alaska, where she and her husband conduct a merchandising business. Mrs. Samuels has been in Chicago, St. Joe and St. Louis buying goods for shipment to Nome. She says their business is prosperous and she can assure them permanent for many years. During the coming year, more winter diggings will be worked and the output of gold proportionately increased.

ed here soon for the new combination. With him may come officials of the company.

The Automatic company entered the Pacific coast at Seattle buying a franchise there. It purchased the franchise of the Columbia Telephone company at Portland a few weeks ago and Tacoma's council granted it a franchise two months ago. Last week the company let a contract for a $40,000 building to be used exclusively for its business in Seattle. The Walla Walla office of the new company would be but a link in the chain of offices the company intend starting between the Pacific coast and the Rocky mountains.

BAKER SAYS "RECIPROCITY."

Baker City Man Thinks Eastern Oregon Can Well Have It. George L. Baker, manager of the Frazer opera house and also of the Baker City theater, having returned home had this to say regarding Eastern Oregon reciprocity: "The spirit shown by all of our neighboring cities is very commendable," said Mr. Baker. "The people there do not look upon what Baker is doing with envy or jealousy. On the contrary there is a spirit of pleasure at seeing an Eastern Oregon city enter upon work of this character with energy. People all feel a general interest in what we are doing here. If Baker is doing the thing, it is very successful and fair and just, it is evident that there is opportunity for others. "Of course, in their interest there is a spirit of reciprocity. While Pendleton, La Grande and other cities down the road are interested in what Baker is doing, they expect Baker to be interested in what they may do. This is right. An intermingling of the people of this region will be beneficial to all. We of this part of the state are more closely associated than any part of the region is with the rest of the world. We should not have an exchange of ideas and business relations, wherever possible. The people of our neighboring cities view the matter with a broad comprehension of what should be done, and I am sure that Baker will find that cordial support is given the fair enterprise."

LAKE OF LEMONADE.

Newspaper Man Found One in the Lone Star State. A former citizen and publisher of the local paper of a little town down in Southern Illinois, but now residing in the Lone Star state, writes back to his friends that he has discovered in Texas a lake of lemonade. It was not simply a lake of acid water, but a genuine lemonade lake, the water of which, sugared to the taste, floated slices of lemons in the most tempting fashion. The lemonade in the lake was cold, and sometimes hot, on the most attractive circus hues and tints. The Texan writes that the only things lacking to make the lake complete were straws and easy chairs. To procure money to supply these, thus enabling him to open the finest lemonade stand in the state, he looked for oil in the vicinity and struck it. But the gusher flooded the country, the oil flowed into the lemonade, and he became a ruined man. Capitalists will not touch the lemonade because it has oil in it, nor the oil because it has lemonade in it, and there seems to be no means of separating the two. For this reason the discoverer would prefer to return to Illinois for the present, and it was in a letter asking for assistance to enable him to make the trip that he told the story of his hard luck. John C. Wright of Harbor Springs, Mich., should send word for this man's return at once and place him on the staff of The Lyce.

Mr. Pennoyer's Correction.

Writes Ex-Governor Pennoyer to the Portland Telegram: Portland, Aug. 23.—To the Editor, In your yesterday's issue, referring to the famous case of Pennoyer vs. Neff, it is stated that I brought suit against Neff for debt, and that having acquired the property Neff tendered me the money for the debt and wanted the sale set aside. Both statements are erroneous. John H. Mitchell brought the suit and the property was sold to him at sheriff's sale, and I bought from Mitchell. Neff never tendered me the money. On the contrary Mrs. Neff came to Portland after the sale, and I gave her a written agreement, good for 60 days, to deed back the land on the payment to me of the money invested, with simple interest. The Neffs did not pay me, but the United States supreme court gave back to them the land, while I had paid the Neffs debt to Mitchell for them, and have never got my money back. The court held that the law of the state had been complied with in the sale of the land, but that under the 14th amendment that was not sufficient, as there should have been an attachment of the property. The sale was made August 7, 1890, while the 14th amendment was adopted July 28, 1868. SYLVESTER PENNOYER.
