HARMONIZE INTERESTS.

Matter Fish Warden Van Dusen Takes This View of the Situation. H. G. Van Dusen, master fish warden, who was in Pendleton to look into matters pertaining to the Oregon fish industry, was asked by the East Oregonian regarding the reported conflict apparent between the fish and agricultural interests in the state, and had the following to say on the subject:

"It is true that in the minds of many persons there is a conflict between the fishing interests and the agricultural interests of the eastern part of the state. The latter are prone to look upon it as a mere question of the interests of a few sporting men who want the lower Columbia river desired to further their interests at the expense of the farmers further up, on the tributaries of the Columbia, who want the water for irrigation."

"The rational view to take is that there are two great industries, fishing and agriculture, and the two must be harmonized. Both are important. The policy of the fish department of the state is to effect this harmony of interest in every manner possible. So far as it is in my power I shall see that streams only are used that will in their use operate to cause no loss to the farmers and fruit raisers."

"Let me give a few figures as to the fishing industry. The commercial product from the fisheries amounts to from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 per year. One hundred tons of fish were taken this year by the fishermen, receiving a little more than $100 a ton, making fully $10,000,000 that went to the men who draw the nets and seines. Many other men are employed about the canneries. Labor receives a very large portion of the total paid in for the fish product. The payroll amounts to $2,500,000 a day during the busy fishing season."

A Commercial Proposition. When these facts are considered it is apparent that the common impression is wrong that the work of the fish commission is in the interest of those who want to catch trout. The commercial fish are what we are pursuing."

ting, and the other is not of comparative importance. The recent heavy runs of fish are demonstrative that the artificial propagation of fish will in the end bring wonderful results. Already these results are showing, and in the future the fishing industry of Oregon will be preserved by it. We will do some further work here before deciding just what shall be done with the fish rack at the mouth of McKay creek. It may be moved half a mile or so farther up the Umatilla river, that the cold water from the Fanning springs may be utilized for a hatchery when built. Let me impress it upon Eastern Oregon farmers that we are not antagonizing their interests, but proposing here and elsewhere to avoid obstructing the use of waters for irrigation in so far as we can. And this can be done to a large extent. Our grain and fish industries are two of Oregon's vitally important products, and neither should be prejudiced for the other."

IN THE GOOD OLD FASHIONED DAYS. Powdered Wigs Formed an Important Adjunct to a Gentleman's Apparel. It is safe to say that the majority of bald men of today would gladly revive the old, dignified custom if they could. But, they can do the next best thing to it; that is, to revive the growth of the hair nature gave them. In cases where the hair root or hair bulb has not been completely destroyed by parasites that infest it, Newbro's Herpicide will do wonders in the way of stimulating the growth of lifeless and falling hair. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. That is the successful mission of Herpicide.

Now For Buffalo. The hot season is over and the weather is delightful for traveling and pleasant throughout the east. It is just the time to visit the great exposition at Buffalo. On Tuesday, September 3, the O. R. & N. Co. will sell tickets to Buffalo and return, good for 60 days at $70. Purchasers of tickets have choice of routes going or coming. Call at O. R. & N. ticket office.

She Didn't Wear a Mask. But her beauty was completely hidden by sores, blotches and pimples till she used Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Then they vanished as will all eruptions, fever sores, boils, ulcers, carbuncles and felons from its use. Infalible for cuts, corns, burns, scalds and piles. Cure guaranteed. 25c at Tallman & Co.

Melons and Vegetables. R. Martin receives every day fresh shipments of vegetables and melons and they are the best on the market as they are specially selected for Martin by good judges of melons and vegetables. If you need any good peaches for canning you should leave your orders at Martin's. He also has jars and extra caps and rubbers. Old Soldier's Experience. M. M. Austin, a civil war veteran of Winchester, Ind., writes: "My wife was sick a long time in spite of good doctor's treatment, but was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills which worked wonders for her health." They always do. Try them. Only 25c at Tallman & Co.

FOR THE ACADEMY FUND $2102 IS ALREADY IN HAND OR PLEDGED FOR IT. Many Stand Willing to Give Additional Amounts Towards the Desired $25,000 to be Raised. Although little has been said about the proposed $25,000 fund for the Pendleton academy, already $2102 is in hand or pledged in subscriptions that are just as good as gold. This does not count many subscriptions less than $100 that will go down on the lists so soon as those who are handling the matter go to the people for the smaller subscription.

Some weeks ago the academy's friends began to consider the future of the institution, and decided that a fund of $25,000 could be secured if the proper effort were made. Of this quite a portion will be forthcoming from people living elsewhere, it Pendleton and Umatilla county people will raise something like $10,000. With scarcely any special effort, indeed, practically as voluntary contributions, the $2102 is already secured, and the list will grow very rapidly. It appears to be a safe prediction that the academy will be able to authorize workmen to begin construction during the coming year. The subscription list of amounts up to and beyond $100 now stands as follows: Cash in hand from Presbyterian church and entertainments by students and friends, $352. W. J. Farnish, $250. T. G. Taylor, $150. W. E. Ladd of Portland, $150, towards the purchase of a site, East Oregonian, $100. Temple & Wilcox, $100. C. J. Smith, $100. Henry Seales, $100. E. J. Murphy, $100. James Crawford, $100. Dr. E. P. Hill of Portland, $100. F. L. Forbes, $100. Jesse Failing, $100. Haldane Dickson, $100. J. H. Converse of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, $100. Total, $2102.

Special attention is called to the subscription of Mr. Converse of the Baldwin Locomotive Works. He has been interested in the academy by Rev. W. H. Bleakney, who was a teacher at the academy, and who visited in the east this summer. Others far away stand ready to extend aid if the people here do their part. But, as might be expected, all of these outside subscriptions depend upon the town and county first doing something to help the institution. Prospects are bright. Proper work will land the $25,000 fund, and place the academy in a position to rank as one of the best college preparatory schools on the coast.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE Portland Proposes One and Will Move to Organize It. Mayor F. W. Vincent and the executives of all Oregon towns have received the following from the Portland Board of Trade, looking to the organization of a state board. It is possible the occasion of the organization will be made a general gathering of representative men of the state. The circular reads: The Portland Board of Trade, observing that the states north and south of us are, through organization of their citizens and the energy of efforts naturally following such organization, securing the largest part of the immigrants and capital now in such great numbers seeking homes and investment on the Pacific coast, have appointed a committee to take steps for the organization of a state Board of Trade, to be composed of delegates to be elected from the various Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, and all other organizations throughout the state, formed or to be formed for the advancement of the interests of the state generally, and of the several cities and communities locally. It is believed that immense advantage can be obtained through such organization in the way of the development of our unparalleled resources and the consequent influx of capital and population. With a view to calling a meeting for the purpose of effecting such an organization, we have addressed this letter, asking you, if there is a body in your city or community organized for the purpose of advancing the local interests, to place the same in the hands of its president or executive officers, with the request that he or they communicate with the secretary of the Portland Board of Trade signifying their willingness to co-operate in such movement, and if you have no such organization, that you write yourself, as to the feasibility of having such an organization formed there, and participating with us in the manner suggested. In case this movement meets with the encouragement which we think it deserves we will fix a time for a meeting to be held in Portland, to which every one having the interests of the state or his community at heart will be welcomed, and will notify the mayors of cities and organized bodies throughout the state.

INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND. Sightless Youth May Receive the Advantages Free of All Expense. Doubtless many parents of blind children do not know of the conditions of admission to the Oregon Institute for the Blind at Salem. G. W. Jones, superintendent, sends out the information they need. The school is supported by appropriations made by the legislature, and the advantages it offers are free to all the blind youth of the state and those whose sight is so defective that they cannot obtain an education in the public school. The only expense parents are required to bear is in supplying their children with comfortable clothing in such quantities as to admit of the necessary change for washing and mending, and to defray traveling expenses to and from the school. If the parents, relatives or friends of a child are not able to provide these necessary expenditures, the county courts are required by law to render such assistance. All pupils board and have their home at the institution during the school term. Board, furnished rooms, and medical attendance are free. The conditions of admission are - Insufficient vision to attend the public schools; ability to receive intellectual, physical, and moral training; willingness to conform to necessary rules and regulations; good moral character. School opens for the reception of pupils September 18, when all are expected to be present so as to begin the work together and avoid the confusion of coming in later in the term. The session will continue for thirty-six weeks.
