HAULING BIG LOADS WHEAT

Charles Frazier Tells the First Story of the Season.

This is the time of year when the men and teams are engaged in hauling large loads of grain to the warehouses from the fields, and it is the time of year for certain teams can haul. Charles Frazier, who represents the Pacific Elevator company at Mission, on the reservation near the agency, was here this morning early, purchasing some supplies, and said that he was in part to bring the first tale of big wheat hauling.

The biggest load that has come to the warehouse over the affairs of which I preside was brought in yesterday by Al Bagatini who is hauling the William Connerly and using one of the latter's teams. He drew with six teams nine miles from Tutuilla to Mission 115 sacks of wheat, weighing 16,455 pounds, or eight tons and 45 pounds, making an average of a mile more than one and one-quarter mile to the horse. Between Mission and the place on Tutuilla from which Bagatini hauled this big load is a steep hill. I do not know whether or not he hauled it up that hill, but presume he did, inasmuch as it had to be hauled, and he would not have been likely to double up the grade when coming so short a distance.

Frazier's story will no doubt bring others. Regardless of the grain crop, in this county the grain hauling crop never fails, and in fact becomes a little larger each succeeding year. However, no one doubts Frazier's assertion, for his word is just so good as a bond with any man in the county who knows him.

His Estimate on the County.
Illustrating how divergent are the estimates on the county's crop, Mr. Frazier places it at 3,000,000, while on the other day, in an interview in the East Oregonian, W. S. Byers estimated it at 6,000,000. Mr. Frazier states that in many localities the yield was not up to the usual standard, contrary to the belief that has been general that it is unusually large this year. He says the acreage is larger than in former years, but that the yield per acre is not above the average.

DANGER OF HOG CHOLERA

ANIMAL INDUSTRY BUREAU MAKES A STARTLING DISCOVERY.

Inspector Hutchinson Gives Plain and Specific Directions For Disinfection.

Copies are received in Pendleton by F. F. Wamsley, O. R. & N. agent, of a letter written to Col. R. C. Judson, O. R. & N. industrial agent, by E. N. Hutchinson, of the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture of Portland which says:

Post Mortems Revealed It.
"I have to inform you that the post mortem examinations of hogs coming from the Grande Ronde valley indicates great danger of another outbreak of cholera and swine plague among the hogs there, similar to the epizootic disease of last fall.

"In view of the importance of the swine industry in this section of your territory, it has occurred to me that possibly you will desire to acquaint your various agents there with certain precautionary measures which may be taken, and which they in turn could communicate to feeders and breeders.

"First, it should be borne in mind that the seeds of these diseases gain entrance to the hog almost entirely through contaminated food and drink. During the time that these diseases are prevailing in any locality, the most strenuous care should be taken to keep hogs away from streams which drain other farms where the disease may exist. Stagnant pools and wallows are also a favored spot for the breeding of these germs, and should consequently be avoided; or, if that is impossible of accomplishment, such places should be kept constantly purified by the liberal use of unslacked lime. At such time hogs should have access also to plenty of salt and ash which contain considerable quantities of charcoal. It is a common custom to neglect to give hogs salt, although they need it just as much as do other domestic animals.

Keep Troughs Clean.
"Feeding troughs should be kept scrupulously clean, and accumulations of moist food and dirt in the corners and cracks of such troughs should be removed and destroyed each time fresh food is put in. When possible, hogs should be given a quantity of green grass every day. When this cannot be given to them, alfalfa may be given. It will be found that they will relish this hay and eat considerable quantities of it. In addition to this and the regular food, linned meal or 'oil cakes' will be found to be an excellent digestive tonic and a highly nutritious food, which has a tendency to keep the bowels well regulated.

"As a medicine, the most efficacious formula that has been tried is the following combination: The ingredients of which should be completely pulverized and thoroughly mixed:
"Wood charcoal, 1 pound; sulphur, 1 pound; sodium chloride, 2 pounds; sodium bi-carbonate, 3 pounds; sodium hypophosphate, 2 pounds; sodium sulphate, 1 pound; antimony sulphate, 1 pound."

"The dose of this mixture is a large tablespoonful for each 200 pounds of hogs treated, and it should be given only once a day, and then by mixing bran or middings or meal with hot water and then stirring into this the proper quantity of the medicine. Hogs are fond of this mixture. It increases their appetite, and when they once taste of food with which it has been mixed they will eat it though nothing else would tempt them.

"Finally, the very best disinfectant to use to ward off swine diseases is unslacked lime. Advise that it be used in the barn, and in the bucketful. Its value as a fertilizer will alone return its cost, and no other disinfectant agent is equal to it."

THREW OUT THE OFFICER

Adams Dance Episode Furnishes a Case For the Courts.

Col. J. H. Raley went to Adams Tuesday to defend William Eastman for resisting arrest by the city marshal. The Maccabees of Adams had a dance last Friday night at the city hall. It is the duty of the marshal to be present at all functions that occur there, and on the night in question went to the hall in company with Eastman who was managing the dance. They built a fire and arranged everything properly for the dance. Marshal Coffee then went out, leaving his lantern in the hall. When a number of the guests had arrived, Coffee returned, but Eastman, who was selling tickets refused to let him in without first paying a dollar for admission. The marshal thought it was intended for a joke, and tried to force his way in, whereupon he was forcibly ejected from the room. A warrant was sworn out and Eastman was arrested for resisting an officer of the law in the performance of his duty. The case was postponed until today.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 36 Warren St., N. Y.

A FEW SOCIAL NOTES.

New Dancing Club Formed For a Winter Series of Parties.

A number of the young men of Pendleton met last evening at the Western Warehouse Co.'s office and formed a dancing club for the coming winter. The club was a financial and social success last year and the young people have made elaborate arrangements for the season now beginning. The name under which the new club will be known has not yet been decided.

The first party will be given at the new LaDow hall on Thursday evening, September 19, in honor of Miss Semele Groate of Spokane. Thereafter, every third Friday will be the date set for the dances. The committee have resolved to spare no expense to make the events socially successful.

At the meeting last night, the following officers were elected: J. B. Welch, president; Fred Earl, vice president; Mark Moorhouse, secretary; Earl Boris, treasurer and Chester Foster, floor manager.

Announcement is made of the wedding on next Wednesday evening, September 18, of Dr. William House of Heppner and Miss Katherine Osborn Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons, at the Church of the Redeemer. Friends and acquaintances of the couple will be welcomed to the church. No invitations.

PULLED A WILDCAT.

Federal Officers Dig Up an Illit Brandy Still Near Huntington.
Deputy United States Marshal Al Roberts, accompanied by Deputy Internal Revenue Collector John Minto, on Tuesday arrested C. C. Davis, better known as 'Lone' Davis, who is a prominent ranch owner living on Snake river a few miles below Huntington on the charge of running a still in the manufacture of fruit brandy. A portion of a still was found on Davis' place and sent to Portland where it will be used as evidence against him. Davis is a noted character in that section of the country where he has resided for the past 30 years. He is married to a Chinese wife by whom he has two children, a boy and a girl, aged 12 and 9 years respectively.

The officers claim that they have a clear case against Davis, who is now in the county jail awaiting his preliminary hearing which will probably take place today before United States Commissioner Moore, Baker City.
