were required to quit meddling with private business and to attend to its own? The state surely has a business It ought to do for all of us what eac of us cannot do for himself. Each man cannot lay out and maintain his own highway. It is therefore proper that the state should do this. But every man can ran his own wegon over a highway and the state therefore has no business to meddle with wagoning.

The Times says that "in production three factors must co-operate—capital, tahor and land "Why does it name capital first? Did Adam have any capital? If he didn't have, how did he produce if capital be necessary to production? Are not labor and land the primary factors-each absoluties ne-Can production take place at all without the one being applied to the other? And is not capital merely a tool which labor employs to sid it?

Apparently the Times thinks that land could not be used it some man did not own it and charge rent. land would produce just as much if a title deed had never been written. Ownership of land is not necessary, Nor is it necessary for men to invest money in land in order to produce upon it. The best builings in Chicago stand upon land that is not owned by the builders. And some of the very best buildings stand upon ground which the people own, collecting from the users the full annual value for public uses.

The Times says confiscation is rob-Sometimes confiscation may be a preventive of robbery. Thus when property in slaves was confiscated it When the new president is looked at stopped the robbery of black men by white men. And if the people appro-priated land values which are now appropriated by individuals it will stop a robbery of the public which compels the government to confiscate private property to carry on public business. If all land values were taken for comon use there would then be no need

The Times is entirely right in say-ing that under the single tax men would not buy and hold land if all the rent is to be taken for public purposes.

However, the esteemed Times comforts itself with the pleasant thought that this "ridiculous principle" is "making no converts." Yet the literature of the day is filled with proof credited with a remarkable discovery, that never before was the principle so much discussed and never before has it found such wide acceptance. It is en is now preying on society, helping to make the rich richer and the poor poorer.

Lonely Homes

A home is never complete without children. Yet many homes are childless. Many wives are desolate for the lack of a child to love. Their lives are aimless—void of the high motives of motherhood. While barrenness is causing incalcutable sadness and sorrow, it exists in most cases on account of some little female trouble, which Wine of Cardul would speedily set right. This pure Wine regulates the disordered female organs by building up the worn out nerves and regulating the menstrual flow. It restores the fallen womb to its proper place. By strengthening the generative organs, it makes pregnancy possible where barrenness exists. You

WINE OF CARDUI

Suffering women all over the land have been depending on it for seventy-five years. No more convincing proof can be given than the testimony of Mrs. Benson, who is only one of thousands of women to whom Wine of Cardul has brought a permanent cure. Many cases of miscarriage-that trouble which robs mothers of their hopes—have been avoided by timely use of the Wine. You are asked to try Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, its companion medicine. Nine out of ten cases of female trouble, bar ness included, yield to them. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Vandervoort, Ark., April 2, 1900.

Last May I had a miscarriage, which was followed by fooding. I read your Almanae and my husband get me a bettle of Wine of Cardul and it stopped my flooding and restored my failen womb to its place. Now I amounted after taking three bottles and bave another to take which I got this morning. I am expecting to become a mother and Wine of Cardul will be my doctor.
