SOME MERRY MINSTRELSY.

Tonight at the Frazer See Richard and Pringle's Big Aggregation.

The Richard & Pringle's Minstrels will present a mammoth bill of merry minstreley at the Frazer tonight. This season the organization numbers fifty performers and presents a choice collection of mirth-provoking and novel acts never seen here before. The whole bill is a "screamer" from beginning to end. Every phase of good minstrelsy and vaudeville is presented and the program is crowded with hits, in the way of latest songs, dancer, acro batisms, comedians, aerialists, quartet, the military sensation "The Black Watch Drill," a score of funny endmen, an Oriental first part, with iant Japanese settings and costuming -a positive novelty in minstrelsyand an abundance of other features that stamp the best and most liberally equipped of its kind playing here this season. It travels in its own train of private cars, carries a magnificent orchestra, two brass bands and stylish English dog-carts drawn by Kentucky thoroughbred horses, all of which were seen in its attractive street parade. which took place this afternoon.

THE STATE FAIR AT SALEM

The Eastern Oregon Stockmen Have Exhibits: Stock Exhibit Excellent. The state fair which opened Monday at Salem, is enjoying a fair attendance, although the weather for the first two days was not favorable. Tuesday was "Press Day." The features of the day were a stock parade, awarding of live stock premiums, races in the afternoon and an entertainment and banquet in the evening by the Salem Press Club. The remaining days of the fair are assigned as follows: Wednesday, Salem Day; Thursday, Portland Day; Friday, Woodmens' Day;

Saturday, Grange Day.

The eastern Oregon stockmen are represented in the stock exhibit at the state fair by C. B. Wade of Pendleton, who exhibits Herefords, including 2-year-old bull St. Valentine, bred by Robbins Bros., of Indiana, and W. O. Minor of Herpner, who exhibits Short-horns, including the noted prize winter Collisim, 2500 pounds, bred by Rob-bins Bros. of Indiana and Sallie Girl, champion of the United States

He is of the opinion that only the array of livestock at the Illinois state fair is superior to the one at Salem. At the Oregon state fair there is a wide representation of cattle, sheep, goats and hogs. The exhibit of cattle is perhaps the completest of any at the fair.
