GOOD OUTLOOK FOR FAIR

Farmers Give Much Encouragement to The Enterprise.

The outlook for the Exchange Fair, to be held here on October 8, is over encouraging. The Commercial association has placed the management of the fair in the hands of R. T. Cox, who, with J. M. Spence, left this morning for McKay creek to interview the farmers. A message was received from Mr. Cox about noon, saying that he had met with much encouragement from the farmers, whom he had met this morning. Mr. Cox and other farm products have been promised and every one says that it will be "just the thing."

Circulars have been printed and sent to many who may have something to sell or something to buy. The promoters are enthusiastic in their expectations of making the experiment a success.

Enterprising Pendleton has adopted a new scheme to increase the town's trade, says the Western Leader. Monthly exchange fairs will be held, at which farmers may meet with buyers, barter their products, and do their trading. The first fair will be held October 8.

PLAY HERE MONDAY NIGHT

"Sporting Life" an English Melodrama Great Scenic Attraction.

"Sporting Life," is an English melodrama with a very elaborate scenic apparatus for production at the Frazier opera house next Monday. The play was written by Cecil Raleigh and Seymour Hicks, London authors, and is said to possess all the elements of excitement, the most elaborate and all citizen, all the heart throbs, and all the loves and hates indigenous to plays of its character, in addition to some entirely novel methods of stirring the human emotions. It is given in five acts and no less than twelve scenes, and among them it is claimed will be the most elaborate found some of the best seen. During its long runs in New York and Chicago, the magnitude of the scenic environment was more frequently commented upon than any other feature, and yet the press of both cities was unanimous in pronouncing the play itself a superior article of melodrama. The spirited boxing bout and exciting race course scene are two of the chief features of the piece, and the first, at least, is an innovation. To the uninitiated the interior of a boxing club during the progress of a glove contest, with all its attendant features, will come as a genuine surprise, and the manner in which those affairs are conducted is strictly followed out in the mimic bout in "Sporting Life." There are a great number of people employed in the production and among these a score or more are familiar to our theatre goers.

Geo. W. Lane, Pawamo, Mich., writes: "Your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the best remedy for indigestion and stomach trouble that I ever used. For years I suffered from indigestion, at times compelling me to stay in bed and causing me untold agony. I am completely cured by Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. In recommending it to friends who suffer from indigestion I always offer to pay for it if it fails. Thus far I have never paid." Tallman & Co.
