AMERICAN LOSSES IN PHILIPPINES

Fight at Balangiga Was Disastrous to Our Arms.

TROOPS SURPRISED BY BOLOMEN

Report Says That Lieutenant Bumpus, Dr. Griswold and Captain Correll Lost Their Lives.

Manila, Sept. 30.—A dispatch from Gen. Hughes commanding in the island of Samar reports the arrival of a sergeant and private from a fight at Balangiga with information that Capt. Correll, Dr. Griswold and Lieut. Bumpus were killed in that disastrous affair. First reports said the officers escaped. The attacking force consisted of four hundred Bolomen, about one hundred and fifty of whom were slain by the Americans. The attack was so sudden that many of our soldiers were cut down before they could go to their arms.

Another Report. Washington, Sept. 30.—Another report from Gen. Chaffee on the Balangiga disaster says the insurgents captured all but three rifles, instead of twelve, as first reported.

A Captain Killed. New York, Sept. 30.—The parents of Capt. O'Connell received a cablegram announcing that he was killed in the Balangiga attack.

THE LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION

National Meeting to Consider Matters of Great Importance.

Denver, Sept. 30.—The committees appointed some time ago to draft bills for national laws to be submitted to the fifth annual convention of the National Livestock association, which meets in Chicago December 3, have accepted the drafts of bills as follows:

Federal inspection in interstate shipments of livestock; for government inspection of woolen goods; allowing settlers in the arid and semiarid districts the right to exchange lands of equal value with the government so as to solidify their holdings; for a second assistant secretary of agriculture, who will be required to give his sole attention to the livestock industry; for a classified assessment of livestock.

The list of speakers already secured for the convention includes the following: Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture; Frederick C. Colville, botanist to the government; Gifford Pinchot, government forester; Governor Richard Yates of Illinois; and Hon. Carter Harrison, mayor of Chicago.

A BIG RELIGIOUS EXODUS

Law of Associations Tomorrow Sends the Monks Away From France.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Today is the last day before the law of associations takes effect. By this law all religious orders not specially authorized by the government must leave France. This will be the largest religious exodus since the Edict of Nantes. As a result of the law, three-quarters of the religious orders existing in France a month ago have already emigrated, including Jesuits and Assumptionists. The government proposes to confiscate all the property of the unauthorized orders. The Trappists have applied for authorization and declare that if it is refused they will barricade their monasteries and defend them at the cost of their lives, rather than yield to what they call religious persecutions.

ATTACK ON M'KINLEY'S TOMB

Guard Assaulted—Theory That Mausoleum Was to Be Blown up.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 30.—The city is astir today over an assault on the guard at the vault in which McKinley's body rests. Some advance the theory that one man who broke jail here last night made the attack in an effort to secure a rifle with which to protect himself against the pursuing officers. The belief is general, however, that the attack was part of a plot to blow up the tomb.

BURGHERS SUFFER LOSSES

Durban, Sept. 30.—Fifteen hundred burghers under command of Botha were repulsed on the twenty-sixth after an all day attack on Portlatala on the Zululand border. Losses on both sides were heavy. The Boer commandant Opperman and nineteen men were killed. British losses were one officer and eleven men killed, five officers and 38 men wounded, and 64 missing.

PRIZES FOR NEEDLEWORK

Pendleton Ladies Much Pleased With Success of Exhibit.

The large number of prizes which were awarded to the work of Pendleton women at the interstate fair at Spokane was an agreeable surprise. There was a great deal of needle work on exhibition from other cities in the northwest and Canada and the women and girls of Pendleton have reason to be proud of their efforts. Following is a list of prizes:

Miss Nell Whittemore took first prize for an oil painting that was specially mentioned for its excellence.

Miss Mattie Good, first prize, netting. It was the only first prize given at the fair for netting.

Mrs. M. E. Folsom, first prize, drawn work, tray cloth; first prize, tea cloth.

Mrs. G. B. Hamilton, first prize, tapestry.

Susie Borell, third prize, doll dressed in evening costume.

Mabel Cameron, premium, premium bracelet, doll dressed in street costume.

Josephine Cameron, second prize, doll dressed in street costume.

Miss Tillie Carlson, first prize, embroidery, sofa pillow; first prize, center piece.

Edith Johnson, second prize, doll dressed in street costume.

Nona Johnson, premium bracelet for doll dressed in street costume.

Genevieve Koeppen, third prize, doll dressed as a baby.

Mrs. C. W. Brownfield, second prize, dress furniture battenberg.

Lee Moorhouse had an exhibit of Indian photographs at the fair. No prize had been offered, but the directors awarded Mr. Moorhouse a watch charm medal on which were engraved the words: "For best display of Indian photographs, Spokane interstate fair, 1901."

Wallace-Wilson Wedding.

J. H. Wallace of Pendleton and Miss Myrtle Wilson of Dayton were married at Walla Walla Sunday noon. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Albert Mason. Mr. Wallace is well known here and is employed at Cleaver Bros.' dry goods store. The bride is an estimable young lady of Dayton and the daughter of J. H. Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace returned from Walla Walla Sunday evening. They will live for a while at the residence of Mrs. Rose Campbell.

Cornelson-Purdy.

Rev. James M. Cornelson and Lavara E. Purdy were married at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Rev. Robt. J. Diven, officiating. The wedding was a quiet one, only a few friends being invited. Rev. Mr. Cornelson is in charge of the Presbyterian mission at the reservation and the bride is a teacher there.

TESTIMONY IN THE SCHLEY COURT TODAY

Was Variant, and Decided No Important Points.

FIGHTING BOB EVANS ON THE STAND

He Could Have Maintained a Blockade With the Battleship Iowa for a Month.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Commander Miller, who commanded the collier Merrimac until it was turned over to Lieut. Richard Hobson was the most important witness at this morning's session of the Schley court. He testified that the weather from May 24 to 27 would not have prevented him from coaling a vessel of the flying squadron, but that on the 26th he would not have done so voluntarily, because one of the valves was broken.

He testified that so far as he knew, nothing was done to develop the fact whether or not the Spanish fleet was in Cienfuegos harbor or to ascertain the strength of the batteries. He said the ships of the flying squadron were within firing distance of the fortifications, but no firing was done on either side. He does not know why the retrograde movement was made, and said his ship, the Iowa, had enough coal to maintain a blockade for almost a month when the order to return to Key West was given.

Nasty, Squally Weather.

Questioned by court as to whether or not he could have coaled any vessels on May 25 had he been ordered to do so, Miller said he could not with comfort to himself or the other ships. It was nasty, squally weather and he had his own wish he would not have attempted it.

Capt. Jewell Made Denial.

Capt. Jewell, who commanded the Minnesota during the war, took the stand and denied that he had made a statement to Schley that he had been around Santiago for a week but had not seen the Spanish fleet. Schley in his report to congress claimed Jewell had made such a statement.

At the afternoon session, Admiral Evans was called.

Evans stated the fleet stood seven or eight miles from shore during the day and about the same distance at night. He had been informed of the Cienfuegos code, but did not give it to Schley, because he had not thought a commander of a squadron would need to get his signals from a junior officer. Capt. Chadwick of Sampson's flagship had given him (Evans) the code.

Another Scottish Earthquake.

London, Sept. 30.—Another earthquake was felt at Inverness, Scotland, today. Residents were greatly frightened. About a week ago two shocks were felt and some damage done to property.

No Federal Help For Nome.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The acting secretary of war has taken adverse action on the proposition to send the transport Egbert to Cape Nome, Alaska, for the relief of alleged destitute miners.

On Her Feet

All day long and racking with pain from the aching in her heels. There is what many a self-supporting girl must experience. On those days each month, when in other circumstances she would go to bed, she must still be at the desk or counter and struggle through the day as best she may.

PAIN ALL GONE.

"I have taken your medicine with the greatest satisfaction," writes Mrs. George Kiehl, of Lockport Station, Westmoreland Co., Penna. "Your Favorite Prescription" has cured me of a chronic trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and painful monthly troubles. I can honestly say I never work a whole day and not get tired, and before taking Dr. Pierce's medicines I always felt tired. My pain is all gone and I feel like a new person. I suffered with headache all the time, but have no headache now since taking your medicine. I have been cured of trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and the best doctor in the state could not cure me.
