At Forest Grove many prunes are going to waste on account of the crop being so large that the driers cannot handle the fruit.

Prof. Rynerson will drive through the streets at Saturday noon and by telepathy search for and find a pin that will be hidden by a committee of local citizens.

Webb street is still in bad condition. The work of grading and improving the street still lags. The street is almost impassable to teams and it will be worse when winter sets in.

At Baker City Postmaster Potter has received notice from Washington that the department has allowed him another clerk, commencing October 15. This makes an increase of two clerks and one carrier in the last six months which the department has allowed the Baker City office. This increase is made necessary because of the unusual large number of outside post-offices that receive their mail through the Baker City office.

REPORTS GOOD BUSINESS

A New Establishment which is Meeting with Success.

The firm of W. J. Clarke & Co., in the Fraser opera house building, on Court street, that started in the general hardware business on June 1, this year, reports a very satisfactory trade, much better than they expected. The firm carries a heavy line of up to date goods, all new stock, consisting of the famous Majestic range, heating and cooking stoves, all kinds of cooking utensils, kitchen furniture, builders hardware, guns and ammunition, lumber's goods, electrical supplies and all articles carried by the best hardware stores of the large cities. Among the firm's specialties is enameled ware, of which they carry a large and complete stock. Every piece of this ware is sold under a five years guarantee. The firm makes a specialty of builders hardware and is prepared to supply contractors and builders on short notice at special rates.

The plumbing department of W. J. Clarke & Co. is equipped with the most modern tools and machinery, which, with the very best workmen, enables them to do scientific plumbing under a guarantee that means money and insures first class work. Estimates of the cost of plumbing will be cheerfully furnished upon application.

The department of table and pocket cutlery, scissors, shears and razors is made up of the best goods which are sold at the very lowest prices, being purchased direct from the factories in large lots.

W. J. Clarke & Co. are prepared to quote the lowest prices, and people contemplating purchasing are invited to call, obtain quotations so that they may be thoroughly posted before they are obligated. It is not considered any trouble to quote prices and to show goods at the establishment of W. J. Clarke & Co. Call there and be convinced.

ACADEMY FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

First Game with Walla Walla High School, Oct. 19.

Manager R. S. Pond of the Pendleton academy football team has been in communication with the managers of outside teams and has succeeded in getting a number of games. The Walla Walla high school has asked to come here, and if Coach Waddell is in favor of playing so soon after the beginning of practice, the game will take place here on Saturday, October 19. The new coach will be here on Monday and will begin work immediately after his arrival. Two of the old players, who have not yet entered for the year's work, are expected to be on hand next Monday.

Whitman will be here on November 1 and the Goldendale academy on Thanksgiving. Pacific University and Weiser high school have expressed the desire to try their strength against the academy, and it is barely possible that both teams may play in Pendleton.

The academy team was strong last year, but with the addition of a good coach and a larger number of young men to draw from, there will be little comparison between the teams then and now. Manager Pond says that the team can scarcely be expected to cope with Whitman and the U. of O., but the boys will at least make a good showing.

THE CHIEF TREE PLANTER

EXAMINES SHIFTING SANDS ALONG COLUMBIA.

One of the Results of Chief Forester Pinchot's Visit to Oregon.

The Dalles, Oct. 10.—One of the results of the visit of Chief Forester Pinchot to Oregon this summer, in company with and at the request of Congressman Malcolm Moody of The Dalles, is that William L. Hall, chief tree planter, is now investigating the sands of the Columbia river district. Mr. Hall also came at the request of Congressman Moody.

Last summer, while returning from the trip to Ontario, Mr. Moody called the attention of Mr. Pinchot to the drifting sands along the Columbia river, which are a menace to railroad traffic, and occasion vexatious delays at certain seasons of the year, annoying both to the companies and the people who travel as passengers. Mr. Pinchot was asked at that time if his department could not lend assistance in anchoring the sandbars that now float over the surface of the earth whenever the wind blows.

The direct object was to aid the railroad company, but besides that is the demonstration of means whereby the rancher and fruit raiser may utilize the sand lands and find how to avoid the piling up of the enormous quantities of earth that now make it impossible to use some of the Columbia valley tracts.

Mr. Pinchot, after examination, was convinced that immediately the work done to reclaim these lands, and sent Mr. Hall, his professional tree planter, with the idea that he is to apply himself to the working out of the problem in the manner best under the circumstances.

He will report to the headquarters at Washington, and it is hoped by Mr. Moody that the effect will be that the federal government will take hold and cure the evil of drifting sands that has cost so much money to railroad companies, and stopped the farmers from occupying lands otherwise valuable.

Mr. Hall spent 10 days traveling over the road between The Dalles and Umatilla on a railroad velocipede, accompanied by an employe of the road carefully examining the character, size and direction of the big sand drifts and dunes with a view of determining on a line of action by which they may be anchored.

Some of the Details.

Beginning near Mosier, 12 miles west of this city, the sand stretches along the river in a narrow ribbon, gradually widening and making into the valley until at this point it completely covers a strip one mile wide, ranging from low dunes to drifts 30 feet high, sweeping on up the Columbia until it merges into the sandy sage plains above the mouth of the Umatilla river. To illustrate the shifting character of these drifts, 20 years ago the valley above this city was a grassy plain upon which cattle were pastured, market gardens cultivated and a city race track maintained. Today, an average of 10 feet of sand over spreads every sign of vegetation, shifting so continually and rapidly in the high winds of this section that it is a serious menace to traffic of the railroad company. To this drifting sand alone was due the wreck of a gravel train September 12 when two engines, derailed by a sudden drift on the track, plowed into a drift of sand, killing two of the most trusted engineers on the road. While more serious on account of loss of life, this track is only one of many where heavy destruction to rolling stock and extensive delays to track have been experienced by the railroad company for years. The loss and damage is estimated at $100,000, and the less expense of the large force of sand shovellers which the company is compelled to keep on hand along these sections of the road in order to keep their track clear.

SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

To be Established at Portland by Chas. Nebergall.

Chas. Nebergall, the blind man from Baker City, is in Pendleton today. He is on his way to Portland to organize a board of trustees for the establishment of a self-supporting school for the blind. Mr. Nebergall says that there are a great many persons in the state who are afflicted with blindness unable on account of their eye to take advantage of the school at Salem. The enrollment at the Salem institution is in the neighborhood of twenty-five and there are at least fifty others in the state who have no means of self-support. The method to be employed for the establishment of the new school will be to gain the assistance of the public school children. The donation of a very small amount from each child in the schools of the state will be sufficient to erect the necessary buildings. Thereafter, the school will maintain itself by the industry of the inmates. The students will be employed in the manufacture of mattresses, hammocks, flynets, brooms, seines and carpets. Mr. Nebergall will leave for Portland tonight to complete the arrangements.

HELD UP AT LA GRANDE

Trainer Orvil Sanders and Jockey Pierce Lose Money and Watch. Trainer Orvil Sanders and Jockey Pierce left on Tuesday for the racing meet at La Grande. They went overland with Gus Lafontaine's three horses, Sleim, Grace W., and Bossie G., and arrived in La Grande last night. They had no more than reached their destination than they were held up and robbed of about $25 in money and a stop watch belonging to Mr. Lafontaine. The latter heard of the occurrence this morning, but the details of the outrage were not given. The La Grande meet will begin on Tuesday and last five days. Mr. Lafontaine says that he was anxious to get his horses there in good time so that they might have plenty of rest and be in the best possible condition for the meet. Mr. Lafontaine will leave for La Grande on Sunday evening.

Johnston & Ridgway Stock Sold Out, Excepting Seven.

Of the Johnston & Ridgway stock, seven pianos remain unsold. These are one Steinway, one Chickering, one Whitney, one Emerson, one Crown and two Kimball. It is unnecessary to recommend these instruments. Their names are their own best guarantee. Remember, there are not more to be offered at these remarkably low prices, after these few remaining pianos are disposed of, so that this is the last opportunity the people of Pendleton and the surrounding country will have to secure a fine instrument at their own figures. Take advantage of the offer. Come while there is yet a selection.
