MITCHELL'S MAN WAS NAMED

He Won Out in Fight Over Oregon City Appointment.
Senator John H. Mitchell has won out in the fight for the appointment of a receiver of the Oregon City land office, his man, George W. Bibbe of Sheridan being appointed by the president. Senator Simon desired Geo. A. Steel of Multnomah, Congressman Tongue urged J. B. Irvine of Yamhill. Bibbe is postmaster at Sheridan. The Oregonian gives this story of the contest:

Judge William Galloway, who also hails from Yamhill county, has been receiver of public money at the Oregon City land office since early in March, 1895. Though he is a democrat and his term of office expired in a republican administration, he has served already nearly 18 months beyond his time, owing to inability of the republicans to agree on a man to succeed him. Senator Simon first recommended J. W. Maxwell for the place, but found the opposition so strong that he withdrew Maxwell's name and threw his support to George A. Steel. Senator Mitchell recommended George W. Colvig, of Jacksonville, for the consularship at Barranquilla, Columbia, and Henry Meldrum, of Oregon City, for the surveyor-generalship of Oregon, the other members of the delegation protested against Bibbe's appointment to the Oregon City land office, and the matter was thus held up. Congressman Tongue had a candidate in the person of J. B. Irvine, of McMinnville. Senator Mitchell asked Congressman Tongue's support for his candidate, Bibbe, when the senator left for Europe last summer. But Congressman Tongue did not feel inclined to endorse Senator Mitchell's recommendation. He and Senators Mitchell and Simon arranged a conference at which it was hoped the two might agree on a man, but this was fruitless, and the matter stood with three candidates in the field, each of whom was endorsed by one member of the delegation. Senator Mitchell's recent return from Europe and his presence in Washington seem to have settled the case.

STORY OF THE PLAY

"Under Two Flags" has "Cigarette," Role of Blanche Bates.

Blanche Bates, the Portland girl who has become famous in the east as an actor, attained great success in the role of "Cigarette" in "Under Two Flags." Next to her, so claim many critics, in the delineation of that part, comes Miss Louise Loring, who, with the Leon M. Hattenbush company and who will enact the role at the Fraser next Monday night, October 14. The story of the play is:

Bertie Cecil, who is heir to the title and estate of Lord Royalton, his father, leaves England because he remains he will be obliged to resign his younger brother who has forged Bertie's name to a note just due. Bertie, not knowing where to go, finally reaches Africa, and enlists as a private soldier in the army of France. He is accompanied by his faithful servant Raka. In Africa he meets a little vivacious, "Cigarette" who is a favorite of the soldiers. She falls in love with Bertie, but not suspecting her love, pays her but scant attention. About this time, Princess Croona, who is the sister of his old friend Lord Rockingham, visits Africa, and they come face to face. Bertie immediately professes to know her, and she discovers his identity. While plighting their troth Black Hawk, colonel of the regiment and Bertie's avowed enemy, appears on the scene and passes a slight remark on the action of the princess. Bertie resents this and strikes the colonel in the face. He is court-martialed and condemned to die at sunrise on the second day following. Cigarette resolves to save him, and rides across the desert to the grand marshal and secures a reprieve for Bertie. On her return ride, she encounters a band of Arabs and a terrific sand storm. She finally escapes and arrives at camp with the reprieve, just in time to hear the command for Bertie's death. She throws herself between him and the soldiers and receives the full round of bullets in her own body. Then follows her touching death scene, the end of the play.

TO RELET MAIL CONTRACTS

Postal Department will Strive to Obviate Many Common Frauds.

F. W. Vailie, assistant superintendent of the railway mail service, recently in Pendleton, giving the following information regarding mail carrying contracts, of which a number are let in the territory to this town:

This fall every mail route in the United States west of the Mississippi river is to be re-let. Changes are to be made that the department gives the job of much benefit to the public. One of these changes has to do with professional bidders who secure contracts and then for a profit sublet them to local carriers. For instance, a minister east of the mountains bid on and secured a contract at $1000 and sublet it to a carrier at $1000. During the four years of the contract he netted $1000. That was enterprise. It is proposed to eliminate this feature, and hereafter in all bids the following clause is to be incorporated: "No bids submitted under this advertisement will be considered unless the bidder shall agree in bond that in the event of the service being awarded to him he will give his personal supervision to the performance of the same, and will reside contiguous to the route." Heretofore, except under late contracts, parties living along star routes have been required to pay mail carriers a fee for leaving mail at their houses. Under the new contracts the government assumes this expense, and hereafter the following clause will be inserted in all contracts: "In addition to carrying the mails from various postoffices, the carrier on each route will be also required to deliver mail into all boxes and hang small bags or satchels containing mail on cranes or posts that may be erected along the route. Any persons living on or near any star route and not within the corporate limits of any town or within eighty rods of any postoffice is entitled to this privilege."

THE THEATRE GRIST
Hypnotist Ryerson's Comedians are Not Much—Tragedy of Comedy
Ryerson's hypnotic entertainment frazzled out at the edges last night, until it looked like considerably less than thirty cents. In fact, the American government makes no coin small enough to express its value. It was ghastly. It was dramatic crime. The attempted comedy of the "Royal Entertainers" became awful tragedy in its fearful travesty on that which is funny, until, by revulsion of feeling, the listener extracted merriment from the grotesque attempts made by people, excellent indeed as individuals, but, as actors on the stage—

No one can quite do justice to the subject without a tongue like that of Webster and a pen like that of Shakespeare. Finally, the hypnotist began. The introduction had been a sketch by three persons. That was the awful part of the evening's proceeding. But the work of the hypnotist himself was better. He is by no means so good as McEwen, who visited Pendleton several times, nor can he approach Bishop, who once stood at the head of the school of hypnotists, nor Johnson, who was Bishop's successor. However, he has mastered to some extent the power of suggestion which lies at the bottom of the processes whence come the hypnotic condition, and had he the good judgment to "cut out" all the preliminary tragedy of comedy, and devote the evening to the exposition of the science he professes, he could entertain an audience very nicely.

FRED WAFFLE'S ESCAPE

O. R. & N. has Trouble with Japs at Bingham.

Bingham springs station was the scene of an unusual disturbance on Wednesday. Conductor Fred Waffle, of freight train No. 22, was working the brake on a box car that was moving alone down the sidetrack, when the brake chain broke and the car bumped heavily against a construction car, in which a number of Japs were having breakfast. The shock of collision overturned the tables and the boxes on which the Jap were sitting. The gang hurried outside and saw Mr. Waffle standing on the car which had disturbed their breakfast. They seized picks or rocks or anything that was handy and began clambering up the sides of the car. Mr. Waffle saw his danger, and, jumping to the ground, ran towards the engine standing at the end of the switch. One of his assailants struck at him with an ax, just grazing his shoulder. When he reached the engine, he had a severe cut on the side of his head and several lacerations on his body caused by stones, which the Japs had thrown.

RANCHERS HAVE TROUBLE

Resulting in Trespass Case by Thos. Kerr vs. B. K. Hoyt.

Some difficulties out in the Potts country arose between Thomas Kerr and B. K. Hoyt resulting in a complaint being filed in the circuit court by Thos. Kerr against B. K. Hoyt, in a trespass case, wherein the plaintiff alleges that the defendant Hoyt has unlawfully entered upon land belonging to him in the Potts neighborhood. Kerr has lived on the land since 1886 and has been recognized as the rightful owner. A short time ago, Hoyt filed on the place through the La Grande land office and has since claimed it as his own. Much ill feeling has arisen between the two men and they have often been near to blows. The occurrence which finally brought the matter into the courts was Hoyt's cutting down a fence which Kerr had built.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It is merely destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J.
