Chas. Chapman will leave for his former home at Des Moines tonight for a month's visit.

W. E. Love left last night for his first trip to Portland. He has worked for the O. R. & N. for two years without a vacation.

William Potts of the Helix country was in town today. He stated that no seeding has been done in his section so far, because of late lack of rain.

Mrs. Charles M. Mendall, nee Miss Addie McIntosh, formerly a teacher in the Pendleton public schools, has changed her residence from Missouri Valley, Iowa, to San Bernardino, Cal.

Miss Frances Woodard, a sister of Mrs. Fred Waite, left this morning for Pullman, Wash., to accept a position as teacher in the art department of the Pullman Agricultural college.

John B. Duffy of the Athena neighborhood, accompanied by Moses Hernandez, was in Pendleton today. Mr. Duffy says that the farmers are seeding, but not much is being done as yet on account of the light rainfall.

The steamship Sardinian arrived in Glasgow, Scotland, on Monday night. Mrs. Vert of this town was a passenger on that steamer and she will remain in Scotland until next spring, returning to Pendleton during April.

Gus La Fontaine returned yesterday from La Grande, where he was attending the racing meet in which he has three horses entered.

He says that the management has spared no expense in making the meet the most successful of the circuit. Two of his horses raced on Sunday but succeeded in getting only second and third places. He returned to La Grande this morning.

A communication from Principal Haeckenbury of La Grande, was read in regard to an interscholastic league between Baker City, La Grande, Union and Pendleton. The object is to arrange for oratorical or debating contests. Mr. Haeckenbury suggests that it would be a good plan to hold a contest on the evening after field day at Baker City next spring.

The plan has been attempted before but failed. The schools have high hopes of carrying it through this year. Weston Normal will probably be allowed to compete in the field day but not in the oratorical contests. The eighth grade also formed a society.

T. G. Halley has promised to give $10 to any pupil above and including the seventh grade, who will best read the constitution of the United States on John Marshall day.

The schools are becoming so crowded that more room will soon be required. The second, third and fourth grade rooms are full and new pupils are coming in. Ervin Conklin says that two new rooms will be required to accommodate the overflow.

The attendance will keep on increasing until after the Christmas holidays. The football team went through a hard practice at the base ball grounds on Saturday.

Education in Porto Rico.

The expense of maintaining schools in Porto Rico is very high. If we consider the amount spent for the small number of pupils enrolled, but as the country is gradually brought in closer touch with our own, their system will evidently be changed, until it reaches our present state of perfection.

In this country the people are being educated to the fact that there is a sure cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and that medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It should be taken at the very first symptom.

If you would avoid unnecessary suffering, it will give prompt relief and eventually cure, as hundreds of people, including many prominent physicians, have testified during the past fifty years.

FRANKLIN ADAIR,

Scientific Palmist.

Is located at the Columbia Hotel, 634 Main street.

The manner in which he reads hands is a decided novelty. He calmly sets forth all the chief events of your past life, tells your present condition, predicts the future; describes your character, talents and abilities, conditions of health, etc.

Nor is there any mystery about all this as he carefully explains every line and mount as he proceeds, giving the name of each and his theory concerning it—a theory which certainly works out with startling exactness. Charges 50c and up.

FAITHFUL TO THE STORY Hattenbach's Dramatization Follows Closely After Oud's Novel.

Leon Hattenbach's dramatization of Ouida's "Under Two Flags" is more faithful to the story than are the plays produced by other companies, in which the author's tale is sacrificed to the uses of dramatic presentation.

A defect in the work of Lady Venetia, whose dispassionate acting must be disheartening to the others in the play. In the fourth act, when Cigarette hands Venetia the purse the latter had given Lord Cecil in her girlhood days, one would look for a flood of tender memories rushing upon her, where she remarks to her voice that she thinks the bauble belongs to her.

FAITHFUL TO THE STORY

Hattenbach's Dramatization Follows Closely After Oud's Novel. Leon Hattenbach's dramatization of Ouida's "Under Two Flags" is more faithful to the story than are the plays produced by other companies, in which the author's tale is sacrificed to the uses of dramatic presentation.

A defect in the work of Lady Venetia, whose dispassionate acting must be disheartening to the others in the play. In the fourth act, when Cigarette hands Venetia the purse the latter had given Lord Cecil in her girlhood days, one would look for a flood of tender memories rushing upon her, where she remarks to her voice that she thinks the bauble belongs to her.

Then Cigarette, needing passion in Venetia to accompany her own fierce hatred of the high lady who has the love of the man she loves, is absolutely debarrd from the fine acting she would have done. And this is the leading, the only defect in the presentation.

Miss McCallum did some fine work in her plea to the Arab eticks and her dying scene was beautifully done. Her love and loyalty for her soldiers and the dying declaration that she would have sacrificed herself for any one of them, whereas she really has done it for Cecil and for him only, is something exceptional in heroines, refreshing in its nobility and largeness of heart.

Mr. Hattenbach was a good Cecil and the support was very good.
