WATSON IS GLOOMY

Links Lewis and Clark Exposition Would Better be Abandoned.

J. Frank Watson is out with a letter written from New York in which he advises abandonment of the Lewis and Clark centennial. He says:

"Having visited the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, and while we have been informed as to its success financially, I deem it my duty to advise the people of Portland as to the merits and say something about the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

The people of Buffalo raised $2,000,000 by stock and $5,000,000 by admission fees. I am informed that the amount of the exposition now estimates that the stock will be a total loss and that there will be a loss after 20 per cent on the bonds, total expense of buildings, etc., at $10,000,000. Now if we are going to have an exposition at all, we want a good one, and I would like those who are urging us to this scheme where the money comes from. If an exposition goes at Buffalo, which is within 800 miles of two-thirds of the population of the United States, cannot be made success what hope is there for one in Portland, Or., where the population is so little and the distance so great to the centers of population? We do not want to bite off more than we can chew. It is my opinion, from what I can learn, that our only course is to once give up the idea of a great affair at that time, and defer through your columns to myself on record as opposed to the proposed plan of celebrating in 1901."

Strike a Rich Find.

I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicine I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. MRS. ALBERSHARDT'S STORY
OF HER HUSBAND'S ATTEMPT TO MURDER HER

Statement Made by the Wife who was Shot Monday Night.

T. G. Hailey went to Helix yesterday afternoon for the purpose of taking the testimony of Mrs. Albershardt, who was shot in the shoulder by her husband last Monday night. Mr. Hailey returned last evening with a record of the testimony, ready for the arraignment.

The woman's story tended to show that the attempted murder was pre-meditated. She says that for nearly twenty years she has been subjected to the insults and cruel treatment of a drunken husband. Albershardt has often threatened to kill her and her son, and once, while they were living in Meacham, he tried to murder her with an axe, and she was obliged to run for three miles through the snow to the nearest neighbor's house.

He Came Home Drunk.

On last Saturday night, Albershardt came home drunk and raised such a disturbance that his wife and Mr. Timmerman, at whose house they were living, had to leave the place until he quieted down. On Monday morning he came to Pendleton and while here purchased a revolver and cartridges, saying that they were intended for his boy. Somewhat intoxicated, he returned to Helix in the evening and went straight to the Timmerman place. He stopped at the windmill and called to his wife. She came out upon the porch, but suspecting that something was wrong, would go no farther. He approached her for a short distance and then turned toward the barn, where his son Gus was sleeping. Comprehending what he was about to do, Mrs. Albershardt made up courage to ask him if he had a revolver. There was no answer and the woman ran to him and drew aside his coat. He grasped her by the arm and drawing a pistol from one of his pockets, fired two shots at her head. She broke away and ran towards the house. Another shot was fired, the bullet striking her in the right shoulder and causing her to fall forward to the ground.

Wanted to Kill His Son.

Albershardt stood for a moment and then moved toward the barn. His wife managed to get into the house and under the sofa. He returned to a place near the house and round the house and called to her in German, saying that he would not proceed any farther if she would not forgive him. There was no sound and he entered the house and listened, and then started again toward the barn.

The boy Gus had heard the shooting and was looking through a crack in the barn when he saw his father approaching with a revolver in his hand. He retreated to a riding place among the horses and Albershardt, after a fruitless search, gave up his evident intention and started about for Helix. He hurried through stubble fields and canyons during the night and morning and was at last caught by Sheriff Blakely about sixteen miles from Helix.

Always Wanted a Divorce.

Mrs. Albershardt is a hard working woman who began about a week ago to keep house for John Timmerman. She says that on the night of the shooting, she was in agony from the pain of the wound and the fear that her husband would return and complete his dreadful work. In all the years she has lived, she has never had the courage to apply for a divorce, because she was afraid that he would carry out his threat to kill her.

Rev. Dr. Holt Advises Greater Financial Independence.

An address was made at the Presbyterian church in Baker City last week by W. S. Holt, D. D., of Portland, who occupied the position of syndicated missionary. His thesis was house missions, and he at first gave in detail an account of the operations of the board and how it assisted the ministers by making them do what they could for themselves and supplementing the work.

He stated that 43 churches that had received aids, became self supporting last year. Seven of these were in the state of Washington, but none in Oregon. Dr. Holt hoped that next year would witness the emancipation of the Presbyterian church in Baker City, La Grande and Pendleton. "Why," explained the doctor after he had become warmed up on his subject, "I ask just as soon as I can help to pay a patch on my trousers as to ask for help to pay my pastor."

The speaker said there were seven counties in Eastern Oregon where there was no missionary of any kind and the depravity and ignorance are fearful.

will cure the worst cases.

Clyde M. Dummett, with Florsheim & Co., Chicago, Ill., says: "I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for 16 years. I consulted Dr. Nau, of Portland, and took his Dyspepsia Cure and am cured."

Dr. Nau's Cure is a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1890.

They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its users by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven percent of the test cases were either
