WESTON ITEMS

The Leader's Record of Current Happenings at the Local Athens

The Leader says: Mrs. R. M. Powers returned home this morning after a two week's visit to California.

Riley Simpson, of Pendleton, has moved the Bartlett residence in the upper end of town and his family has already taken possession for the winter.

Uncle Thomas Moorehouse passed the 50th milestone in his journey this morning, an age that few are permitted to reach. It would not be surprising if Uncle Tom should be a centenarian, as he is still healthy and active for his years.

Weston's new fire bell was used for the first time Friday evening, to sound an alarm. Fire in Mrs. J. C. (the grocer) store brought out the firemen and numerous assistants. The flames were soon subdued, but only after considerable damage had been done by fire and water.

Prof. J. D. Hawes received a letter yesterday from his nephew, J. D. Richardson, of San Francisco stating that his brother, W. C. Richardson, right manager of the Western Union messenger service, ate some canned cauliflower a few days ago and was immediately taken sick and had before a doctor could be summoned.

Mrs. E. J. Peebles, of Salem, is visiting at the home of her son, Prof. A. Peebles in this city. She arrived Sunday morning, being met at Pendleton by her son. Mrs. Peebles is an Oregon pioneer, having come to this state in 1847. This is her first visit to eastern Oregon since passing this region 54 years ago by the old emigrant trail.

John Hodgell, who is in his 75th year, walked in from his home on Mt. Hood mountain, a distance of 10 miles, on Tuesday. The old gentleman looks hale and hearty, taking into consideration the sickness he has had, but when it comes to walking, he says, "he isn't so young as he used to be, some thirty years ago."

POPULAR MAN IS INSANE

LOST HIS MENTAL BALANCE—JIM WASHINGTON

Has Many Friends in Pendleton—was Locked Up Sunday Morning.

Jim Washington, the well known colored man has suddenly become insane and is now confined in the county jail. For the past three or four days Jim's actions and words have led his friends to believe that his mind was unbalanced. Yesterday he told a friend in confidence that he had found his employer, E. Y. Judd to be none other than Jesus Christ, and that as soon as he arrived in town Pendleton would be swept off the face of the earth. He had selected another prominent Pendleton business man as Satan. His date for Pendleton's destruction was Sunday at two o'clock in the afternoon. He met John Robinson on the street Saturday night, asked him if he believed in Jesus Christ, and then offered to kiss Mr. Robinson's hand as he knelt on the sidewalk.

He was evidently sincere in his belief and his conviction was not to be shaken.

A complaint was made to the authorities concerning Jim's peculiar actions and he was taken to the county jail Sunday.

He appeared at the East Oregon office on Saturday and desired to leave the following notice for publication:

A Communication.

To the Editor: I shall be pleased to announce that the Black Indian war is over and he is fireproof. Still there are two things for the God by (?) to accomplish:—a job and a Sentence.—Jim.

In an interview with Jim this morning he explained the meaning of the queer communication. The first part of it referring to the Black Indian war being over, meant that he had "got" religion. The latter part indicated his willingness to suffer for his religion. He talks sensibly on other subjects, but his religious views when he is sadly misguided. When asked if he intended to take up gambling again he said that his sporting days were past and that he would never be another cent.

It is not yet known what course will be taken in regard to the insane man, Lottie Johnson, a niece of Jim's who is employed at the residence of Dr. F. W. Vincent. She has asked that Mr. F. W. Vincent, has asked that Jim be kept where he is until she can reach her home in Canton, Missouri, to arrange with her relatives for Jim's removal to his old home. If the arrangement cannot be carried out the demented man will be sent to the asylum at Salem.

Story of His Career.

Jim's career in Pendleton is peculiar in that he was a gambler and at the same time commanded a degree of respect which is not ordinarily given to any man. On his appearance in Pendleton, he was employed as porter for Mark Patton, and came to be liked by all with whom he came in contact. Afterwards he started a gambling room over McIntosh's saloon but the venture was a failure. He put a fare and a better table in the rear room of the Maze saloon and by a remarkable run of luck succeeded in amassing a few thousand dollars. Fortune changed however and it is estimated that during the last year he has lost between $10,000 and $12,000, leaving him nearly as poor as when he first arrived in town.

He is a man of absolute honor, courteous, accommodating, and is one of the most thoroughly posted men in political affairs, state and national, among all the men in Pendleton. He has as many friends as any man in Matamoras county and deserves them. There are few so good citizens in the country as Jim Washington.

BY THE HEPNER TIMES

A Vigorous Demand for Observance of Law Over There.

The Hepner Times, referring to the recent fight on the street mentioned the other day in the East Oregonian, says: Hepner's reputation is at stake and it is high time for the citizens to demand a change. The law has been winked at long enough. The city is greater than any individual. The city and its interests should be considered paramount to those of any one man or set of men. What we need is an officer of the law who is not so easily disarmed, and for whom these offenders must have respect—a man of courage, grit, backbone and determination to do his plain duty without having to be forced to do it by the citizens.

If present officers are incompetent, remove them at once and select others who will see that the law and public decency is respected. The Oregon code provides no penalty for resisting an officer. The law presumes that the officer will have enough grit to throttle the culprit who attempts to resist or disarm him. The ruffians soon learn who they can play with and who they must respect. One good marshal would avoid the necessity of putting on half a dozen deputies every time the town holds a celebration or demonstration of any kind.

The Times has no enmity nor malice whatsoever against any of the parties alluded to in this article, but is among the multitudes who are sick and disgusted with the present state of affairs, and is not afraid to say so. We feel that all good, law abiding citizens of Hepner and Morrow county will back us up in these sentiments too. What the Times wants to see is better law and order in Hepner, more respect shown old men and women, ladies and innocent children, and a meeting out of justice to rich and poor alike. If the making of a few bitter enemies will make the peace officers up and bring about these results, then the Times is more than willing to make the sacrifice.

HORSES TO SOUTH AFRICA

Nearly 100,000 from United States Since Boer War Began.

Hereford & Lowther of Billings, Mont., were in Pendleton last Saturday buying horses for the British government. They are making stops in the various towns in eastern Oregon and Washington, with the intention of getting together twenty carloads of cavalry horses for shipment to South Africa. They bought only about twenty head here Saturday but will return again to make further purchases. Mr. Hereford says that since the Boer war began, fully 100,000 head of horses have left the United States for the mounted infantry service alone. In the northwest there are three firms who have contracts with England to

JOHN DODSON MARRIED

Bride was Miss Pearl Smith, Lately Resident in Alaska.

The following appears in the society columns of the Portland Oregonian, concerning the marriage of John R. Dodson, formerly of Pendleton:

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Centenary Church, Tuesday, October 15, at 5 o'clock, when Miss Pearl Smith was united in marriage to Mr. John R. Dodson, of Circle-City, Alaska. Rev. W. B. Hollingshead officiated. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, and is a native of Portland, but for the past two years has resided in Northern Alaska.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with palms and potted plants. A huge cluster of white chrysanthemums was placed in the center of the altar. The bride was becomingly attired in a navy blue tailor-made gown, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Dodson will return to the north upon the opening of navigation, but will remain in Portland this winter, being at home to their friends after November 1 at Fourteenth and College streets.
