CRUSHED ROCK EXPERIMENT
ATHENA HAS FOUND IT WAS A GOOD THING.

Experiments Have Been Much Improved By the Work Done—Rains Have Started Seeding—Farmers Are Selling No Wheat.

Athens, Oct. 30.—Special.—Since the heavy rains improved her main street during the summer months, the result of work has been carefully watched. It is to be noted that the heavy tramping over the crushed rocks in shifting them down, and in a short time the thoroughfare will be in splendid condition. It is considered by all at the town council exercised good judgment in purchasing a rock crusher, even though it was an expensive piece of machinery. The work also did some excellent road work with it, south of town, the road now being in good condition for traffic.

The Dry Spell Broken.
Athens, Oct. 30.—Special.—One of the driest fall seasons Eastern Oregon has witnessed in many years, has been in a measure broken by rain this week, and in consequence wheat-raising is wearing a gladsome smile. Seeding of summer fall ground is now in progress, with every assurance that the seed will run deep through the soil.

No Wheat Selling.
Athens, Oct. 30.—Special.—There is almost inactivity in the local wheat market. Athens farmers do not seem disposed to sell at the present price. Local buyers are seemingly leaving their sacks, so to speak, waiting something to turn the price up a selling point.

ENCOURAGE HOG INDUSTRY
O. R. & N. COMPANY ASKING FOR INFORMATION.

From Local Agents Regarding Manner in Which the Railroad May Develop Pork Raising Along Its Lines.

Frank F. Wamsley, agent for the O. R. & N. Company, is in receipt of a letter from W. E. Coman, assistant general freight agent, concerning the industry of raising hogs along the lines of the road. Similar letters have gone to agents in other towns. Mr. Coman desires information regarding the manner in which the company can do something to encourage the farmers to raise more hogs. It is desired to know how many are now turned off each year, when the largest number was raised in past years, and Mr. Wamsley is asked to make suggestions based upon his inquiries as to what the company should do in this connection.

Question of Wheat Prices.
The East Oregonian has also caused some inquiry to be made, and finds that the largest number of hogs were raised in the years when the wheat sold very low during the depression, and also that many farmers fed wheat to hogs in seasons when the rains came early in the fall and damaged grain so that it could not be sold. During those seasons, a very large quantity of pork was produced, and it was with profit to the farmers. Several men who are acquainted with the industry, state that, when wheat is less than 50 cents a bushel, it can be fed profitably to hogs that will bring $4.50 a hundred on the hoof. This appears to be the consensus of opinion. Hog-raising is fairly certain to obtain $4.50 for their product, and they regard it as a good paying proposition to raise them at that figure when wheat is worth less than half a dollar.

A Business Man's Suggestion.
Engaging one of the leading business men of Pendleton in a discussion of the subject, the East Oregonian secured from him a novel proposition in freight arrangements, which is nothing less than that the railroad company offer to someone that will build here a packing-house, the company will give him a "packing in transit rate," like that which is given to the millers and is called a "shipping in transit" rate. By this rate the freight millers, enabled to ship wheat from a distance, until it had been shipped continuously from starting point to destination without stopping. It is probable such a rate is not granted to packers at any point, at any rate, none is known here. But, said the Pendleton business man, such a rate would serve to establish a packing-house here in this town.

Athena Raises a Number of Hogs.
Up in the Athens county, perhaps, is raised the greatest quantity of pork of all parts of Unmatta county. From that point are shipped many carloads of hogs each year, and the farmers thereabouts are giving more and more attention to the industry. They use, and ally have a few good fat hogs to sell each year, and realize quite a profit from the venture. Buyers ship from there to Portland or to the Sound, and several representatives of buying concerns make Athens regularly during the season when hogs are ready for market. Several ranchers near Pendleton have turned their attention exclusively to hogs, having given up wheat raising entirely, and using their bottom lands for pasturing and for hay raising, and some buy the grain which they feed to their porkers.

A Fireman's Close Call.
"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa, "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitter, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from our Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Tallman & Co. Price 50 cents.

DEATH OF MISS BELL BISHOP
SHE DIED THIS MORNING AT 3:15 O'CLOCK AT HER HOME.

Had Been Sick for Three Months—Miss Bishop was a Native of Oregon—Lived in Pendleton for Thirty Years—A Woman of Remarkable Strength of Character.

Miss Bell Bishop died this morning at 3:15 o'clock, at the home of her mother, Mrs. B. B. Bishop, corner of Webb and Willow streets. She had been sick during the past three months, and for the last forty-eight hours was unconscious. She rallied just before death came, and recognized her relatives and friends, passing away in a peaceful manner, in keeping with the high Christian character she bore. Her funeral will be held from the Church of the Redeemer tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Miss Bishop being a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal church.

A Native Oregonian.
Miss Bell Bishop was a daughter of Mrs. B. B. Bishop, who, with her husband, the late Judge Bishop, was one of the pioneers of Oregon. Miss Bishop lived with her parents first at The Dalles, and for the next thirty years was a resident of Pendleton. She was born in 1853. During the past two or three years she has been private secretary of Mrs. Carrie C. Van Orsdal, the latter being grand guardian of the Women of Woodcraft, all of the details of management falling to Miss Bishop in Mrs. Van Orsdal's absence. She was of the quality of character that makes deep impress upon a community. Possessed of a fine mind, endowed with intellectuality of the highest order, manifesting a disposition to endeavor her to all who came within the sphere of her influence, Miss Bishop was one of the forces in this town. Her death removes one who had much to do with the upbuilding of society, and constitutes a loss that will be felt by everyone. Her life has been one that told of the beauty of a Christian character devoted to the higher ideals of living.

Her Literary Work.
Miss Bishop was one of the original members of the Thursday Afternoon Club, an organization that has had much to do in inculcating in Pendleton a love for study and mind improvement. During the years in which she was active in club work, she contributed many articles indicating the clarity of thought and correctness of conception that were her conspicuous traits. Few women have lived in this place whose death could cause such universal sorrowing.

BUYERS FOR MARKET FAIR
BUSINESS MEN WILL SEE THAT THEY ARE HERE.

Farmers Can Safely Depend Upon Marketing the Produce They Bring to Pendleton on Tuesday, Nov. 12—Commercial Association Pledges This.

The stage lines from Sumpter to Whitney, Canyon City, Granite, Lawton and Alamo including all stock, vehicles, equipment and government mail contracts. Terms, $1000 cash; balance will be taken from receipts from the government contracts as earned. A rare opportunity. Sumpter Transportation Co., Sumpter, Oregon.

When Tuesday, Nov. 12 comes around and the farmers assemble in Pendleton with produce and livestock for sale at the second monthly market fair, buyers will be here to take everything at "going prices," is the assurance given by prominent members of the Commercial Association. It is hoped that farmers and gardeners and livestock people will not neglect to come here on that day. The arguments in favor of it apply with equal force to seller and buyer. It is of advantage to have a set day upon which they may come together and effect trades to the profit of each. These monthly market fairs have become established institutions in the East, and it is believed that they may become valuable hereabouts, and that they will, if all who are interested will co-operate to such an end.

Other Towns Follow Pendleton's Lead
Walla Walla is following Pendleton's lead, as also are La Grande and Baker City. It was thought for a time that Baker City would abandon the scheme. But now it appears to be looked upon more favorably by the business men of that place. Walla Walla has a man out in the country attending to the matter of interviewing farmers, and securing pledges of bringing in produce and livestock, and the prospects are for a good first day over there. La Grande will do the same, and also Baker City. Colonel Judson, the Hartman lines' industrial agent, who has thought out many a plan for the betterment of the country tributary to the roads he represents, is persistent in urging that the people take hold of these market days and make them successful.
