INGALLS' FATAL ACCIDENT

FELL FROM SADDLE HORSE LIVED ONLY FEW MINUTES.

He Was a Resident of Alba, 50 Years Old. Single, and Came From the East—Funeral Tomorrow.

Utah, Nov. 12.—Special.—A. D. Ingalls, a single man aged 50 years, died at Alba this morning from the effects of a fall from his saddle horse. He lived only a few minutes after the accident, being alone at the time. He was riding a horse, driving another in Alba, his home and his saddle being in the stable, and he was thrown from the horse, striking his head on the ground. It was found that bones were broken and that he was bruised badly. A physician was sent for, but Mr. Ingalls died before the answer to the message could be received. Death resulted from internal hemorrhages, which followed the shock of being thrown to the ground.

A. D. Ingalls lived in Alba and had filed upon a quarter section of land during the past few days. He has a brother in Susanville, and his folks live in the east, where it is not known here.

HEARD THE MINSTRELS.

Pendleton Theater-Goes Witness Hi Henry's Minstrel.

At the Fraser, on Tuesday night, Hi Henry's minstrel performed before a house that compelled the local management to hang out the "standing room only" sign, and which induced the playing of some chairs in the aisles, a practice of very doubtful wisdom. The house was packed from set to dome, and gave the attraction the very best business at $1 prices that could be secured in this place.

Hi Henry always gives a first-class entertainment. His people are artists and they never inject into the program's rendition anything to offend the most delicate taste. From Billy Clark, Al Gates and George Van down to the chorus singers, the company is good, and deserving of commendation.

Old-time admirers of the Hi Henry aggregations, and entertainments, better know that Mr. Henry would rather not place himself in the center of the stage, and become so close an imitation of "IT" as he is accustomed to do. He has not an easy stage presence, is nervous, self-conscious, lacking in the abandon that is necessary to dramatic drama, in presentation and really detracts from the success of the performance. It is to be said that Mr. Henry is one of the lungs of minstrelsy and has earned the gratitude of theater-goers for his unflinching reliability and elevation of the phase of dramatic art of which he is representative. But he himself is a manager, and not a person to appear with his performers. If he leave George Van as interlocutor, and remain in the wings to direct the company, he will improve the character of his entertainments immeasurably.

LOCAL MARKET GLUTTED.

Lack of Transportation Facilities Stops Wheat Movement.

The tendency of the local wheat market is practically today what it was Monday. Very little has moved in the county this week and there is little likelihood of much moving for several days. The local market is glutted owing to the shortage of transportation facilities. The market in the east is still strong, but until the heavy sales of last week are moved to the seaboard, it will have very little effect on the local market.

THE MARKET DAY SALES

WHAT THE PRODUCERS DISPOSED OF ON TUESDAY.

A Plan Proposed Whereby Seller and Buyer May Be Brought Together.

While the monthly market fair yesterday was not up to what it might have been, its success is now an assured thing. It is handled as the experience of the past has demonstrated that it should be. The Pendleton Commercial Association has the work in charge and they are very well pleased with the results of yesterday, but they are aware of the fact that, to make it what they hope to make it, it must be handled on a different method. The association has now come to the conclusion that the only feasible method of carrying on and making the market day a success is to have the secretary of the association arrange blanks and get the names of every farmer in the county and send these blanks to each one, so that he may list anything that he may have that he wants to dispose of, and send it back to the secretary. The secretary may have a complete list of everything that will be brought in for sale and may put himself in touch with prospective buyers and have them on the ground for the sales day.

The greatest trouble yesterday was to find buyers for horses. Most everything else found ready sale, but there were no horse-buyers, and consequently only about a dozen horses were sold. Another thing that the managers of the sales day want the people to remember is that they should be bringing anything in, they should do it. Several things were promised that did not come in yesterday, and sales could have been made had they been here. Following is a list of what was sold as near as it could be obtained:

- Twenty horses.
One cow.
One calf.
500 pounds of potatoes.
Six boxes of apples.
500 pounds of prunes.
Six rabbits.
Six geese.
Twenty-four turkeys.
Six ducks.
One pair hantom chickens.
Three buff cochin cocks.

TWO NEW COMPANIES.

Grant Mining and Happy Canyon Irrigation Enterprises.

Two sets of articles of incorporation were filed with Clerk Chamberlain this morning. One is the Grant Mining Company, with T. J. Kirk, W. T. Rigby and J. H. Haley as the promoters, and the object of the incorporation is for the development and operation of mines in the Dixie district, in Grant county. The company is incorporated for $100,000, which is divided into 1,000,000 shares with a valuation of 10 cents per share. The headquarters for the company will be in Pendleton.

The other is the Happy Canyon Irrigation company, which is organized and incorporated under the laws of the state of Oregon by William Slusher, Adam Leuhart and S. P. Gould, for the purpose of maintaining and operating a water ditch or flume to take water out of the Umatilla river on Mr. Leuhart's place near Nolan, 18 miles below here, for furnishing water for domestic and other purposes in and around the town of Nolan. The capital stock of the corporation is $1000. The office of the company is to be at Nolan.

HUSKY U. OF O. VARSITIES AGAINST THE ACADEMY.

Webfoot Collegians and Team of 10 calls are at it on the Lower Alta Street Grounds. Contending for Football Honors.

The football game of the University of Oregon arrived from their defeat at Walla Walla, where yesterday the Whitman College men scored in a 6 to 0 game. They went directly to the Alta street grounds, and in the presence of a large crowd, the game with Pendleton Academy began. The schedule of the game was out to see it, and after that hour when the teams lined up and play began. It was not hoped that the Academy would beat the heavier and more experienced men from Eugene, but it was hoped to give an exhibition of real football to the people of the town, and everyone from the stadium was out to see it. Fifty or more men promised to see their places to permit employees to be present.

MISSIONARIES BESTED THE MEN FROM WEBFOOT.

Captain Arthur Hauerbach Sprained His Knee, and Was Carried From the Field.

Walla Walla, Nov. 12.—Special.—Of all fast ball seen in this city the game between the University of Oregon and Whitman College was by far the fastest and best. In fact, it was an ideal game save an error or two which cost Oregon dearly. From start to finish the teams did good work, and several excellent plays were made. Whitman had the best of it, and she won by a score of 6 to 0, with a close loss of 6 more. A minute more of time would have given Whitman credit with twice the score she now claims.

The first ball was played rapidly, and the ball was in possession of the teams about equally in point of time. At no time did it get within 50 yards of either end, and the ball closed with honors even. No one had the best of it in any way.

After a rest, the Whitman missionaries came forth and played with a great deal of confidence and renewed energy. Hearty cheers greeted the boys as they took their places, and the ball began its flight to the Whitman goal. And it went in a hurry. In less than ten minutes the pigskin had gotten far into Whitman territory, and a touchdown resulted. Thus the cheering crowd went wild. A pretty kick to goal and over the back fence in fact, brought forth renewed cheers, and for all purposes, Oregon was defeated. The boys then realized that they could hardly win, and the best they could expect was a tie. After the goal was reached, Whitman made the effort of the game to prevent the Webfoot from securing, and at every turn was successful.

For a moment about this time, it looked as though the tide was turning, but such was not the case. Captain Hauerbach, of Whitman, secured a painful sprain of the knee, and had to be carried from the field. His place was taken by Ayres, a new man, but he filled it with credit. Whitman had no points on his account. The halves were played in twenty-five minutes, and each was declared excellent ball.

Last night the victors gave a banquet in honor of the Oregon visitors, at Whitman College, at which hundreds of people from the city were present. The Oregonians were royally entertained, and have no complaints of their reception and treatment.
