MYSTERY OF THE MAILS

HOLDERS OF BOX 287 ARE DISCOVERED

It was to That Number the Letter Writer Referred in Epistles.

Some of the recipients of anonymous letters which have been circulated promiscuously over Pendleton for the past six months were referred to postoffice box 287. Who owned this box was a puzzle to the officers for some time, but by some strategic detective work they are now positive of the owners of this box who receive mail from it. They are Fred and Geneva White, husband and wife, who live five and a half miles from Pendleton in the Birch Creek country. A letter was in this box Sunday with the address turned up so that it could be plainly read from the outside through the glass door, and it was addressed to "Geneva White" with the business card of the "Heiler Chemical Company," of Chicago on the corner of the envelope.

Now, some are wondering how these people happened to have the postoffice box to which the letter writer referred in her epistles, who found out so much of the doings of Pendleton people. The writers have not made any demand for money, but seemingly have just had the one object in view: That of causing jealousy between husband and wife. Why any one would want to do this is still a profound mystery, and whether they expect to extort money from their victims when they thought the time was ripe, has not yet been solved. It is understood the postal authorities will take up the case.

Mr. and Mrs. White, being in the country, they could not be found. Of course, a mistake may easily have been made and they may be as much surprised as anyone else when they learn about the anonymous letter writer having referred to box 287.

FOR A COUNTY FAIR.

N. Berkeley, Jr., Secures $2500 First Half Day.

If the success met with on his first half day's canvass is any criterion, N. Berkeley, Jr., Pendleton real estate man, who has interested himself in the proposition of getting a county fair for Umatilla, will be entirely successful in his efforts. Mr. Berkeley states that $10,000 is required to put the fair on a starting basis. Twenty-five hundred of that amount was subscribed this forenoon. Mr. Berkeley desires especially to interest the farmers of the county in the projected fair, which is to be modelled after those held in the eastern states. He will go into surrounding towns selling stock and anticipates no difficulty in raising the amount.

CAPTAIN PERRY LOOKS AFTER TRANSPORTATION

And Makes the Hostile Forces Recognize the Rights of Commerce—He Says the Pinzon Returned to Colon After Landing Five Hundred Troops. Status of the Strife.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Captain Perry of the battleship Iowa in a cablegram to the navy department this morning confirms the report that the Colombian gunboat Pinzon returned yesterday to Colon. It is understood that during her absence from Colon the Pinzon landed on the coast 500 Alban troops in the proposed attempt to recapture Colon.

Perry also sent the following: "Stubborn fighting between the contending forces near San Pablo has delayed trains, requiring prudence and patience. There probably will be fighting today near Gatun. I have secured assurances that the firing shall cease while trains are passing. Forty thousand Colombians were brought in on the trains.

Runs in the Family.

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 27.—It doesn't fall to the lot of every mother and father to raise a family of eleven children and have them married one after another in the order of their ages, particularly if ten of the eleven are girls. Such is the good fortune, however, of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ackerman, of Arcola, five miles west of here. The youngest of the ten daughters, Estella, was married a few weeks ago, and Harry, the only son, is to be married tomorrow. It is an odd fact that each of the families is located along the Susquehanna railroad, within a half hour's ride of each other.

Naval Architects to Meet.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 27.—An event of unusual interest to naval architects and ship builders will be the annual dinner of the Progressive order of Draughtsmen in this city tonight. The Atlantic coast from sixth St. to Richmond, Va. will take part. Prominent among those to be present are Admirals Melville and Hichborn, Thomas Jardine of the William Trigg Shipyard and Henry R. Caldwell of Nixon's shipyard.

New Service to Mediterranean.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 27.—The new Mediterranean service of the Dominion Line was inaugurated today with the sailing of the steamship Commonwealth for Gibraltar, Naples and Genoa with freight and passengers. It is expected that one result of the establishment of the new service will be to divert much of the business to Boston that has heretofore always been carried on through New York.

South's New Industry.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 27.—It was announced today that everything was in readiness to begin the manufacture of steel rails at the mills of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, just completed near Ensley. These will be the first steel rails for trunk lines of railway ever built in the south. The new plant starts operations with large orders on hand for the Southern and Louisville and Nashville railroads.

St. Joseph's Jubilee.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27.—The second day of the jubilee celebration of St. Joseph's College began this morning with the celebration of high mass by Bishop McPhaul of Trenton. This evening a banquet takes place in the college hall, at which Governor Stone, Mayor Ashbridge, several prominent public men and the leading Jesuit Fathers of the eastern province are expected to be present.

To Marry Lillian Costlow.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 27.—William Nunn, a prominent undertaker of Cleveland, will be married tomorrow to Miss Lillian Costlow of Columbus. The bride-to-be is the young woman for love of whom it is said Ross Ferrell murdered his friend Express Messenger Lane, a year or so ago, and for which crime Ferrell was electrocuted after one of the most sensational trials in the criminal annals of the state of Ohio.

READY FOR THE BIG SCRAP

McGOVERN—CORBETT CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT.

Featherweights Ready for a Go Tomorrow at Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 27.—Everything is in readiness for the championship featherweight fight, which is to take place here tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Nutmeg Athletic club. Terry McGovern and "Young Corbett," the prospective principals, are trained to the minute, and from all appearances no fighters were ever in better condition to enter the ring. While the champion is naturally the favorite, it is most noticeable that every follower of the game who has had the privilege of seeing "Young Corbett" in training has been impressed by the appearance that the Denver boy, "Terrible Terry" will face the hardest opponent he has ever encountered. This calculation is based on the fact that Corbett has scored twenty-five knock-outs since he has been in the game, winding up by disposing of such men as Joe Bernstein, Eddie Santry and Oscar Gardner.

In the McGovern camp, on the other hand, there appears to be no lack of confidence in the result. The little champion characteristically declines to discuss the result, contenting himself with the statement that he will do his best to win the decision. Assisted by Danny Dougherty and Hugh McGovern, and under the watchful eye of Sam Harris, McGovern has rounded in to splendid shape.

New York, Nov. 27.—McGovern's training for his fight with Corbett tomorrow ended this morning. He will take a short run on the road this afternoon just before leaving for Hartford.

Corbett Ready for the Ring.

Hartford, Nov. 27.—Corbett went out for a run this morning. Before he started he announced he would do no more work until he enters the ring. Sports are arriving on every train. Betting this morning is ten to six on McGovern.

Walcott to Box Jackson.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 27.—The sporting fraternity of Baltimore will have a Thanksgiving entertainment in the shape of a pugilistic contest between Joe Walcott and Young Peter Jackson. The contest is to be a twenty-round affair under the auspices of the Eureka Athletic club.
