JACK WRIGHT'S FAST RUN

O. R. & N. ENGINEER MAKES 83 MILES IN 56 MINUTES.

Spokane Flyer Establishes a New Record for Speed in This Section.

Walla Walla, Nov. 27.—Special.—A new record in fast running of trains has been made by Jack Wright, an engineer on the Portland-Spokane Flyer, on the Oregon Railway & Navigation company's line along Snake river. Wright was late on his run from Spokane to Umatilla, and at Grange City, the station on Snake river just below Riparia, where the river is crossed, and here he made up his mind to gain time, and reach the connection at Umatilla on time. With a train of seven cars, Wright was making the trip at a schedule time of thirty-five miles an hour. When Grange City had been passed, Wright started down the new Snake river branch, a fine piece of road sixty-three miles in length. One stop had to be made for water, and a full minute was lost in this way. Without incident, the run of sixty-three miles was made in just fifty-seven minutes, including the minute by the stop. In straight running time, the sixty-three miles were covered in fifty-six minutes, making a new record for fast running. Wright is one of the old engineers on the Oregon road, and has been a trusted employe for many years.

Another feature is the fact that the track used is comparatively new. It was laid on a new grade two years ago, and follows the course of the Snake river the entire distance traveled in this case. A number of curves have to be made to follow the course of the stream, and in some places the water of the river is within a few feet of the rails. The passage up Snake river is narrow and rock-bound all the way, yet a piece of road has been built which is pronounced by railroad men as the best in the northwest.

Walla Walla, Nov. 27.—Special.—E. E. Cadue, representing R. L. Polk & Co., the directory publishers, is in the city gathering data for a new directory to be issued about January 1. This will be the first directory issued by this concern for Walla Walla.

HORSE BROKE HIS SKULL.
Walla Walla, Nov. 27.—Special.—Charles Edison is in the hospital in this city with a broken skull. He was brought here for medical treatment, but his life is practically despaired of. His father is a car inspector at Pasco.

Tutuilla, Nov. 24.—James Nesbitt was a Tutuilla visitor on Sunday. Charles Estes and John Thorpe have a band of horses pasturing at Tutuilla.

Guessman Bros. have purchased M. H. Gillett's steam combined harvest and cut, and as soon as it rains sufficiently, will use the engine for plowing, of which they have a considerable amount contracted.

C. O. Miller has rented a section of Indian land for 1922.

E. D. Turner has sold his farm at Tutuilla to a gentleman from Dakota, who wants a change of climate.

Andrew Donaldson has gone down to The Willows to tend camp for Ed Bartholomew.

Harmon Harris has come in from the mountains, where he has spent the summer. Life in the mountains was a little monotonous sometimes. The monotony was broken once by having his camp burned in his absence with everything in the shape of cartridges and clothing, except what he was wearing.

Ed Morehead is over from Gold Springs, where he has been well-bored.

Tring brothers have purchased John Muir's stable and have a band of 1200 sheep piling on mutton chops.

Wm. Catherman is up from his Foster farm for a few days.

A band of fifty horses, belonging to Charlie Mason, which he recently purchased in Wallawa, have arrived at Tutuilla, and will range on the stubble fields for a while, before being shipped to Portland.

Peter West recently purchased the Bronson place, consisting of 160 acres, thus adding to his already large holdings of Tutuilla real estate.

H. H. Hanson has contracted his 1891 hay crop to the Oregon feed yard.

Wm. Brown, who has spent two or three years in the Klondike, has arrived here on a visit. He will start on his return to the northern country about the first of December.

D. H. Gool, of Baker City, passed Tutuilla on his way to Portland on Saturday.

Jake Davis, who recently sold his farm at Tutuilla, has purchased the Culp place in Pendleton, and moved there to live.

M. H. Gillett is just finishing his seeding of about 2000 acres.

A number of St. Louis drummers, driving big Missouri mules, have visited Tutuilla of late, carrying some very handsome samples of different lines of goods, ranges, buggies, etc., some of which they disposed of at Tutuilla.

Gus Lafontaine's band of cattle of about 450 head passed Tutuilla on Saturday on their way to his winter range on Cold Spring.

Frank Brown was down from his mountain home yesterday, making preparations to move his cattle out for the winter.

Ed Thresher is up from Butter Creek, where he has spent the summer.

A visitor to North Tutuilla on Friday is said to have been deeply impressed by something which he at first mistook for an unusually hilarious division of the Salvation Army in brand new fangled uniforms, but which later developed into a parade of the Old Maids' Convention, which was then in session.

A Sunday school census was recently taken of North Tutuilla and as usual in census taking a number of surprises developed themselves. Among them one of the pastors loaned of forty-one families belonging to his congregation of whose existence he had never previously heard.
