THE ELKS' SERVICES

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD HERE ON SUNDAY.

The Opera House Was Crowded and the Audience Was Impressed—Tributes to Memory of the Late S. P. Sturgis and William T. Murphy. Pendleton Lodge, No. 288, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, held their memorial exercises in Frazer's Opera House yesterday afternoon. Long before the time for the program to begin, the house was crowded to overflowing with people eager to hear and witness the program. The first eight or ten rows of seats in the center of the house were reserved for the members of the order and their families and a few moments after 4 o'clock they marched into the opera house in a body. The officers took seats on the stage, while the members took those reserved for them in the audience. In the center of the stage stood the head of a large elk, the animal from which the order derived its name, and over it hung the stars and stripes. The rest of the stage was appropriately decorated with purple, which is the Elks' official color.

The Opening Ode.

Here is the opening ode as sung by the officers: Great Ruler of the universe, All-seeing and benign, Look down upon and bless our work, And be all glory Thine. Oh, hear our prayers for the honored dead.

While bearing in our minds The memories graven on each heart. For days of Auld Lang Syne.

Colonel J. H. Raley delivered the eulogy. He paid a beautiful tribute to their departed members, Samuel P. Sturgis and William T. Murphy, which was in part as follows:

"Of our brothers, Samuel P. Sturgis and William T. Murphy, whose membership has been severed from this lodge by death, again we say, their lives were full of honor, of kindness and of helpful deeds. In life they knew the value and sacredness of a benevolent deed, and a kind word. They were good and noble men; they filled the lives of others with sunshine; they left a legacy of love and honor to all who knew them. Of them we say, new friends can never fill the places of the old ones. Their pure thoughts, kind words and generous deeds can never die; they bear fruit and add forever to the well-being of the human race. Their noble, self-denying lives increase the moral wealth of man and give to us assurance that the future will be grander than the past. When they stood within the twilight of life and knew that for the last time the gold was fading from the west, and that there could not fall again, within their vision, the trembling luster of another dawn; when they knew that the darkness of night to them had come, their souls were filled with a new light, for in that night the memory of their generous deeds shone out like stars from heaven above and lighted them the way. We are better for the memory of those two lives, and we are braver for such deaths; and again, to our beloved brothers, Samuel P. Sturgis and William T. Murphy, we say farewell; we loved you living and we love you still."

The Closing Ode.

Following Colonel Raley's eulogy, the closing ode was sung by the members of the lodge and the audience was dismissed with a benediction by Rev. W. E. Potwine. The ode: We have finished our labor, the parting has come.

And each of our brothers now goes to his home, And our voices blending, we now will depart In perfect love, giving each note from the heart.

Each duty accomplished, each brother content, Oh, thus may we ever our friendship cement, May Charity, Justice and Brotherly love At last lead us up to the Grand Lodge above.

The ushers were: L. G. Frazer, Elmer P. Dodd, Leon Cohen, C. E. R. Osvelt and H. L. Hexter.

Music and Reading.

The feature of the occasion was the singing of Mrs. Walter Reed, of Portland. Mrs. Reed has been recognized as perhaps the sweetest singer in Oregon, and her renditions in this memorial service were such as to prove the deserved reputation she bears as a vocalist. Her method was artistic, in keeping with the character of the occasion. It was a simple style, not partaking of that which would have been used when there were no sacred numbers of the program. An adaptation of the hymn classic, "Abide With Me," "Prayer," by Goddard, and "Absent," were charmingly sung.

Mrs. William Fitzgerald's reading of Bryant's "Thanatopsis," was in that lady's usually fine manner, and the three numbers by the surpliced choir of the Church of the Redeemer, were evidence of the very careful training that had been given the boys by the rector, the Rev. W. E. Potwine. The program was creditable to the arrangements committee, and the ritualistic work was such as to give outsiders an idea of the beauty of the Elks' secret work in the lodge room.

Cleaver Bros. will retire $25,000 stock of dry goods, clothing and furnishings. Must be sold at once.

WALLA WALLA MAN FOUND

W. A. YORK'S WHEREABOUTS ARE NOW DISCOVERED.

He is Living in Oysterville, Oregon, Whither His Wife Went Months Ago.

Walla Walla, Dec. 2.—The mystery which enshrouded the disappearance of W. A. York, a farmer of Walla Walla county, over a year ago, has been disclosed, and Mr. York has been found living at Oysterville, Ore., with his wife. Mrs. York quietly left her friends here a few months ago, and has been with her husband since much of the time nursing him in severe sickness. York left here just at the opening of harvest a year ago, and no trace of him was lost for a year, and very recently, when his wife left there was no intimation that she even knew of the whereabouts of her husband. Correspondence has recently brought out the facts.

York came to town riding a horse bareback, and after trading with several merchants, disappeared, and all trace of him was lost for a year. It was feared that he had committed suicide or had met foul play, but it now appears that he succeeded in leaving the country unnoticed. The reason assigned is inability to meet pressing demands for money.

NEW BUILDING MATERIAL

DAYTON EXPECTS A LINE WILL GO TO COVELLO.

Town is Worked Up in Anticipation of the Building of the Extension.

Dayton, Wash., Dec. 2.—This city is somewhat worked up over activity in railroad circles, and immediate prospects of a new line being built into Garfield county, emerging from this city. A force of Japanese workmen is at work today removing steel and ties from the old yards and turntable, preparatory to making extensive improvements on the line of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company. In addition to this it is rumored that the line long proposed running to Covello and Pomeroy will now be built. To give weight to this idea there are now in the yards of the company a number of cars loaded with new steel and ties, while the Japanese workmen have their own cars and seem to have come to stay for the present.

The line to Covello was surveyed many years ago, and the grade has been constructed three years. A very productive section is to be reached by the new line, and every indication now points to the early completion of the Covello extension.

LEN SHARON SUBSCRIBED.

He Took $10 in the Lewis and Clark Centennial.

Chairman Corbett, of the Lewis and Clark Centennial commission, received the following letter last week from J. L. Sharon, of this city, subscribing to the funds now being raised for the centennial:

Hon. H. W. Corbett, Portland, Or.—Dear Sir: I wish you would put my name down for one share ($10) of the stock of the Lewis and Clark Centennial fund, now being subscribed in Portland. I desire the certificate of stock as a souvenir or memento among hundreds of other papers and curios of various kinds in my possession. Yours truly, J. L. SHARON.

MRS. E. R. PARKES IS DEAD.

DEATH OF A FORMER PENDLETON WOMAN.

Passed Away at Meacham This Morning—Funeral Will be Held at Walla Walla.

Word reached Pendleton today of the death at Meacham of Mrs. E. R. Parkes, wife of a brother of Joe H. Parkes, which occurred there at 1:30 o'clock this morning, of tuberculosis. Mrs. Parkes with her family, has been living at Meacham for the past three months, they having gone there in the hope that he change in climate from that of Walla Walla would benefit her. Since the sad tragedy of a year or two ago, in which her son Archie met death, she has steadily failed, and there was no hope for the saving of the life that went out apparently in unceasing mourning for her dead boy. Mrs. Parkes formerly lived in Pendleton, leaving here in 1888, and going to Walla Walla. She was one of the pioneer women of this part of the country.

Mrs. Parkes leaves a husband and four children. The funeral will be held in Walla Walla tomorrow or next day.

She was a daughter of Samuel Anderson, well known here. She was 44 years old. George Snell, of Walla, Walla, a son-in-law, went to Meacham this morning to attend to bringing the body here for transportation to Walla Walla.

Death of Mrs. Blatchley.

Mrs. Blatchley, stepmother of Mrs. Ed Weaver, died this morning at Colfax, at 7 o'clock. She had been sick for two or three weeks, and it was thought that she was sufficiently recovered to warrant the hope of complete recovery. The malady was typhoid fever.

RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD

Senator Wm. A. Clark of Idaho

ruled $500,000,000 for a year. The American Mining Magazine contains the following article on the great United Verde mine, the property of Senator William A. Clark, which if correct, would make him probably the richest man in the world. It has only lately been light that the average value of the ore taken from the United Verde mine is $75 per ton in all values, including silver, gold, copper, lead, zinc, iron, and diamond drilling. The present workings show an ore chimney, 400 by 100 feet, that has been explored to a depth of 1,400 feet. The heat limit is reached at a depth of 1,400 feet, and is estimated to be 300 degrees.
