ORIGIN OF THE CAMEL FOUND FORTUNE AND LOVE.

Four Young School Teachers in Texas Find a Rich Uncle and a Husband.

One of the most interesting romances of the great southwest has recently come to light, and Miss Maxine Doubleday, a young school-teacher at the little town of Laurel Valley, Tex., is the heroine. Many years ago Maximilian Doubleday was in love with the girl's mother. When she married his brother he enlisted in the southern army and the family lost trace of him. The soldier, however, always kept his sweetheart's picture. Later he had a life-size portrait of it made and of recent years it has hung in a costly frame in his handsome castle at Cordova, Mexico. It was this picture which led to the discovery of his niece, says a western exchange.

She has since her father's death supported herself and mother by her school-teaching in the little Texas town. A few months ago she went on a visit to Brazos county. There she met a young man, Lee Payson, who told her of her marked resemblance to the portrait of a beautiful woman whom a friend of his loved in his youth.

"And it is a curious fact," the young man added, "that his name is the same as yours—Doubleday, Maximilian Doubleday."

"Why, I wonder if it can be my lost uncle!" the girl exclaimed. Further inquiry proved that such was the fact. A reconciliation followed. The wealthy Doubleday found his boyhood sweetheart, who is now his wife. He has made his niece his heiress and she is soon to wed Payson, the young man instrumental in bringing about all this good fortune.

Winter Maneuver of Russian Troops.
The Russians count upon their climate as one means of defense, as it was when Napoleon invaded Russia. Their troops are accordingly trained in winter maneuvers, including loading a battery, with its war transport and material complete, upon sleighs, moving it for some distance over a difficult, snow-covered country and bringing it into action again.—N.
