HE GOES TO MARICAIBO

J. E. THOMPSON, FORMERLY WITH EAST OREGONIAN.

And Who Coached the High School Team, Will Engage in Coffee Raising in South America—Departed This Morning.

John E. Thompson, who was city editor of the East Oregonian until recently, and who was coach of the high school football team during the present season, left this morning for the east. His destination is Maricao, Venezuela. Mr. Thompson will engage in the coffee raising industry. It is his intention to stop in Weiser and Boise, visiting there for a few days, and then go on to Monmouth, Mich., where his mother lives. He will remain there for a short time and then leave for Venezuela.

Mr. Thompson carried with him the best wishes of many persons here, who hope that he will meet with success in the venture into which he is going. He has been in Pendleton but a few months, coming here from Walla Walla. In his newspaper capacity and as coach of the high school team he has made hosts of friends. His work in both fields has been such as to testify to his excellent character and to the fine qualities of heart and brain that he possesses.

Goes With College Chum.

Down in Maricao is a young man who was Thompson's chum in college at the University of Michigan.

"One day," said Mr. Thompson, to the East Oregonian, "Jim threw away his books and said he was through with study. He already had a good education, and was fitted to enter the active duties of life. He literally threw them away, hitting the opposite wall with a thud that meant that he was in earnest and proposed to go out into the world and attempt to conquer a success. He went to South America and became interested in coffee raising. He has made the success he hoped for, and is now a prosperous coffee planter, exporting yearly his products to the markets of the world. It is my intention to look into the coffee business, and if climate and other conditions be agreeable, I will remain there. If I should leave Venezuela I would probably go to Argentine Republic, where, from my advice, I judge are great opportunities for young men."

Mr. Thompson's route will be via New Orleans.

WESTON LEADER WRITES AN OBITUARY NOTICE

For the Late County Seat Division Infant Born in Milton.

Mr. A. M. Elam, of Milton, has reason to feel somewhat sorry that he spoke. The amount of enthusiasm with which his county division interview is being received, would scarcely overstock a Quaker meeting, says the Weston Leader.

There is ample reason to believe that county division has few advocates outside of the immediate precincts of Milton, and that even in Milton it is not cherished devoutly save by some few ambitious citizens who believe they have special talents for certain county offices that have as yet been denied exercise.

The Leader is informed that farmers and tax-payers living in the extreme East End are not anxious for a separate county government, believing that it would entail an extra tax on their property. Mr. William Reiser, who has extensive interests near the state line, is reported as saying that he would offer his property at 50 cents on the dollar of its assessed valuation should division prevail.

Milton men who occasionally visit the county seat are enabled to travel on cushioned seats in a comfortable car. Ranchers who slowly toll over rough wagon roads for 40 or 50 miles to reach Pendleton from the south end of the county, must wonder at the blithely complaints from Milton divisionists.

Prosperity does not depend upon a county seat. Geographical location, natural resources and the enterprising and push of its citizens build up a town. It will be wise for Milton to forever renounce this division dream, and content itself with the local advantages that have already made it a beautiful little city, embowered in the foliage of fruit and shade trees, and watered by crystal streams.

But if Milton insists on division, it need not reckon that Weston and Athena will contribute to the Lee county court house and to the salaries of Lee county officers without a struggle.

CHANGES ARE DEFERRED

IMPROVEMENTS IN OPERA

HOUSE NEXT SUMMER. Manager Baker States That He Will Await End of the Present Season—"Von Yonson" Monday Night.

George L. Baker, manager of the Frazer Opera House of Pendleton, the Baker City Theater and the New Baker in Portland, left for home Friday night. While here, Mr. Baker conferred with the owners of the building in which his Pendleton theater is located, and afterward stated to the East Oregonian that the improvements in the house will be deferred until the end of the present theatrical season. When made, they will involve the expenditure of considerable money and consume much time. It is not possible to make them now, on account of the fact that he has contracts with a number of attractions that would have to be cancelled to stop now to make changes. When they are completed, if present ideas be carried out, the Frazer will be as good a play house as any in Oregon outside of Portland. Mr. Baker will send new scenery and a curtain to the Pendleton house within a few days, which will better the facilities for putting on plays here.

In its advanced and chronic form, a cold in the head is known as nasal catarrh and is the recognized source of other diseases. Having stood the test of continued successful use, Ely's Cream Balm is recognized as a specific for membranous diseases in the nasal passages, and you should resort to this treatment in your own case. It is not drying, does not produce sneezing. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York. Give up prejudice and try it.
