WHAT THE W. & C. R. R. CO. IS DOING

LOW RATES TO BRING MANY SETTLERS TO NORTHWEST.

W. & C. R. R. and U. P. Inaugurate Immigration Movement for the Coming Season for Homeseekers.

Walla Walla, Dec. 16.—Today the announcement was made by S. B. Calderhead, general freight and passenger agent of the Washington & Columbia River railway, that a special settlers' rate will be put in force by him in connection with the Northern Pacific, on February 15, effective from all eastern terminal points, at the Missouri river to the northwest, good until May 1. The rate has been made very low, with a view of landing thousands of settlers in the northwest in the early spring time, an effort being made to secure the heaviest immigration ever known.
The rates made are $25 to Portland, Seattle or Tacoma, $22.50 to Walla Walla and Spokane, and $20 to Helena and Butte.

At the very low rates quoted, it is hoped to bring thousands of homeseekers to Washington and Oregon, and it is likely that the flood of people will by far exceed that of last summer, when extra trains were needed regularly to handle the immense travel.

Along the line of the Northern Pacific and Washington & Columbia River lines are many large bodies of land awaiting settlement, and much of the country would sustain four times the present population easily. Mr. Calderhead states that the effort will be made to interest good people in the country and build it up as never before attempted.

Death of David S. Baldwin.
Walla Walla, Dec. 16.—David S. Baldwin, a pioneer of the Pacific coast, died at the home of his son, Julius M. Baldwin, in this city, Friday night, of senile decay. Mr. Baldwin was born in Boston, Mass., March 12, 1823, and came around the Horn to California in 1850. Since his arrival on the coast Mr. Baldwin had lived in Oregon and Washington, as well as California.

CONDITION OF THE WHEAT.

R. M. O'Brien Tells About the Cold Spring Country and the Crop Prospects.

R. M. O'Brien, who has considerable farming interests in the Cold Springs country, and who has spent several days recently looking after them, speaks quite encouragingly of the prospects for crops in that country the coming year. He says:
"Although the prospects are not as flattering as they were this time last year, everything indicates that, unless something unforeseen happens, crops will be good in the Cold Springs country next year."

"I would judge that at least one-fourth of the entire Oregon grain sown in this region during the fall will have to be resown. There is something curious about this, too. Grain sown by the drill in what farmers call a 'zig-zag' will have to be replanted, while that sown straight will come up even and be thick enough. This seems peculiar, but those who have looked into the causes will understand at once.
The zig-zag means where half the shoes of the drill were run in front of the other half, covering the seed grain sown by the front shoe deeper than the one behind.
That covered deepest had moisture enough to sprout it, and when the dry weather came, it dried out and died. That not planted so deep did not sprout, but lay in the ground until the later rains, when it came up and left the fields with only a half stand. That sown with the seeder shoes running side by side was all covered alike, and not deep enough to cause it to sprout, until the later rains, and consequently has a good stand."

His Plan.

"To even up this stand, where only half of the wheat came up, I have suggested to my man that instead of tearing it all out and resowing the full amount for a crop, that it be let go until spring, that a drill be set to only sow half the amount for a full crop, or make up what is lacking, that it be resown crosswise with Senora wheat, which is an earlier ripener than the fall wheat, and that will come up and ripen as soon as the fall sown, thereby making a good stand and not lessening the yield or injuring the qualities of the wheat.
In fact it will be better for the mixture."

Mr. O'Brien added that, although many thought from the amount of water which had fallen since the rains began a month ago, the ground was thoroughly wet and in good condition for next year's crop as usual at this time of year, he made a thorough examination and found that with a plow dry dirt could be turned up frequently.

Saved His Life.

"I owe my life to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure," writes H. C. Chesterson, Hayfield, Minn.
"For three years I had dyspepsia so bad that I could hold nothing on my stomach.
Doctors said I could not live. I read your advertisement on Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and commenced its use. Now I am cured and recommend it to all." Tallman & Co., and Brock & McComas.

WHAT MEANS THE W. & C. R. R.
MOVE AT RIVERSIDE, WASH.?

interpreted to be Designed to Checkmate the O. R. & N.'s Operations Dayton to Covello.

What the present move of the Washington & Columbia River railway company at Riverside foretells, is a question of much conjecture in railroad circles. A telegraphic station has been established there, which is a wide departure from former times and the company now have a large steam shovel and grading outfit on the ground, taken there ostensibly for the purpose of filling in beneath a trestle. But, from all indications, there is something more than this in the wind. In fact, it is generally rumored among railroad men that operations will soon commence in building a new road out of that place, but this rumor has not yet been confirmed.
From some who are in a position to know a few things regarding the inside workings of the Northern Pacific company, comes the intimation that a junction will be one among the things established at Riverside.

The Rival Companies.

Two years ago a right of way was purchased by this company from the Riverside, out through the Eureka Flat country, passing north of Prescott, Waltsburg and Dayton, going into Covello and from there through into Garfield county, by Pomeroy, up the Pateha and tapping Lewiston, Astoria, Antone and other towns in that country, for the purpose of having an equal chance with the rival companies for hauling the products of the country.
Whether this latest move means that building is to be commenced on this line at once and pushed through to completion to offset the late move of the O. R. & N. in laying track from Dayton to Covello, is the question which many are asking.

It was thought at the time the surveying and securing of options on the route was being done, that the company meant business, and the road was an assured thing. The O. R. & N. also had men in the field at the same time, and a hot fight was on, forcing the Northern Pacific to pay high prices for the right-of-way; but, for some reason, operation was suddenly dropped and nothing since has been heard, until this last move.

Riverside Rejoices.

Residents of Riverside and surrounding country are highly elated over the prospects of active work out of there, which will mean the building of a small town. Especially are the owners of the flouring mill jubilant, for the mill was built partly on the strength of this road giving them access to the wheat fields of Garfield county, as well as nearer territory, for their supply of grain. This mill, built as a cost of thousands of dollars, stands idle a great deal of its time for the lack of grain to work on. Riverside is surrounded by a good wheat country and is undoubtedly a good point for a town.
It is 25 miles from Walla Walla, the nearest point where people of the surrounding country can get supplies, and those people are anxious to see something done that will cause business houses to be put in, so they can get what they have to buy without going so far away from home.
The Touchet river runs through the place, which affords as much water as the Umatilla river at Pendleton and will furnish ample power for milling or manufacturing of any kind.

At least, it is admitted by those who think they know, that it will be well for people to take their eyes off Pasco for a while and turn them toward Riverside.

Just one order to try my delivery system. If you are not satisfied I will pay the damage. R. Matin.
