BEN HENDRICKS APPEARS

IN SWEDISH DIALECT.

"Ole Oleson" His Character—"A Stranger in a Strange Land" Dec. 23—"Old Jed Prouty" on the 27th.

The coming tomorrow night of Ben Hendricks and his company in the best and best Swedish play can be relied upon to attract the interest of local theater-goers. Ole's good-natured imperturbability in whatever position he may be placed, is a never failing source of entertainment, and it is needless to reiterate what has been so often told that Mr. Hendricks is claimed to be far and away the best Swedish dialect comedian on the American stage.

Mr. Hendricks contemplates introducing his well known stage character, "Ole Oleson," in other countries and is arranging to present it in England next season. His present tour with "Ole" will be the final one in this country and will give added interest to his appearance at the opera house here tomorrow night. An excellent company including the Swedish ladies' quartet will aid him.

"Old Jed Prouty."

It is not at all wonderful that Richard Golden's "Old Jed Prouty" remains its hold upon the American public. With every recurring year this genuine American play returns and every year it is as cordially greeted and as heartily enjoyed as ever. One cannot help loving homely "Old Jed Prouty," the big-hearted New England every keeper, he is so real, so human, he Frazier Opera House will no doubt comfortably filled on December 27, when "Old Jed Prouty" and his friends and neighbors will be introduced once more and everybody will joy the performance heartily for art is the feeling and sentiment of a play and hearty will be the sympathy of its audience, for if a brief item of the views of play-goers are asked as to which play for which they had the kindest feelings, which they loved on their heart-strings, most, which they would soonest see again, doubtless the majority will say, "Old Jed Prouty." This

WAS TOO PROFANE

THIS MAN SWORE LOUDLY
AT THOMAS J. TWEEDY.

ence, the Municipal Judge Fined Him—"Dr." McIntosh—$5 and He Left Town.

A man carrying the title of "Dr. McIntosh," who travels over the country extracting teeth for horses, was in the city a few days this week, but where he hails from no one seems to know. Yesterday afternoon he met Thomas Tweedy on Court street, near the Golden Rule hotel. The "Dr." had previously done some work on horses for Mr. Tweedy and they got into a dispute over the pay. The "Dr." became very angry and began using obscene language on the street, calling Mr. Tweedy all kinds of names and swearing in a loud manner. While grossly engaged calling down curses on his victim, the chief of police happened along and he proceeded to gather in "Dr. McIntosh." When brought before Judge Beam, the judge fined him $5 and the "Dr." left town on the next train.

THOM SOLD THREE TONS OF HONEY THIS YEAR.

Says He Realized $723 and That It Pays to Keep Bees on Butter Creek.

R. E. Thom, the honey king, and his son, Craig, were in Pendleton this morning from their home at the mouth of Butter Creek on the Umatilla river. Mr. Thom stated that he was in town to dispose of the last of his honey crop, and that out of 150 bee stands he got three tons of comb honey this season. Most of this honey he sold in Portland. It averaged him 12½ cents per pound, netting him $723, or over $60 per month for only a very small cost and a little time in taking care of the bees.

Mr. Thom has been in the bee culture where he now lives since 1891. He says that there is more clear money in this for the amount of outlay necessary than any other business in the country when a man knows how to handle it. He says the country where he is is well adapted for the culture, and that he never loses a stand. They feed on alfalfa and sweet clover, which makes the very highest grade of honey, and he never has any trouble to find a market for it. He is the only man in the country who is dealing in bees to any great extent, but quite a few are taking it up on a small scale. As the profit in raising them becomes more apparent, he thinks the people will branch out in this business more extensively.

DELAYS OF TRAINS ARE DUE TO BLIZZARDS.

Overland Has Been Irregular on Account of Deep Snow and Heavy Winds in Wyoming.

Passenger traffic on the transcontinental roads has been irregular during the past few days, on account of the heavy weather that has prevailed in Wyoming, especially, and for that matter, all along the lines, from the Rockies to the central west. The telegraphic advices speak of storms all the way to the Alleghenies, with worse weather on the Atlantic coast than anywhere else in the country.

People coming through on the overland trains tell of wondrous scenes not soon to be forgotten, and hearing of occurrences in Wyoming that make the blood run colder than the cold weather that is to be found outside the cars.

Anyone living in Oregon just now may congratulate himself that he has a home where the thermometer does not go to the lowest mark on the tube, and where the snow is not several feet deep at this time of year.

McKINLEY MONUMENT FUNDS ARE NOW CALLED FOR.

First National Bank Will Receive the Money and Forward it to Cleveland.

The McKinley National Memorial Association, of Cleveland, O., which was organized by the friends of the late president for the purpose of soliciting funds for the erection of a befitting monument to his memory, have sent out blanks which have been received at the First National Bank of this city, where those who wish to donate to this fund can sign and their names and addresses will be forwarded to the association with their donations. It is the purpose of this association to erect such a memorial over the grave of the martyred president at Canton, O., as will fittingly epitomize those exalted qualities of character, simplicity, dignity, devotion to duty and high ideals that were so eminently exemplified in his life and purposes. Each subscriber will be given a souvenir certificate worthy of preservation as evidence of his or her participation in the erection of the monument. The names will also be preserved in the permanent archives in the tomb.

It is the desire that this memorial may be in every sense one from the hearts of the people. An offering from all the people who loved William McKinley would make a magnificent structure. Every contribution emphasizes the loyalty of the American nation and its abhorrence of that spirit of lawlessness which inspired the assault upon his life.

Send your contributions, always giving address.

At bedtime I take a pleasant herb-drink, the next morning I feel bright and my complexion is better. My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. It is made from herbs, and is prepared as easily as tea. It is called Lane's Medicine. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Price 25c and 50c. For sale by Tallman & Co., sole agents.

Austin Craig, the postmaster and city recorder of Whitney, who was arrested on complaint of the president of the Bank of Sumpter, who charged that Craig, who has been acting as the agent of the bank at Whitney, had misappropriated funds of the bank entrusted to him by depositors, had his preliminary examination at Sumpter. After the evidence on the part of the prosecution had been given, Craig waived the examination, and was bound over in the sum of $2000 to await the action of the circuit court.

Told by Pain

If you have pains you should look after them quickly. Pain shows something is wrong. The sharper the pain the more danger there is in delay. There are thousands of women to-day who are bearing awful pain almost continually, rather than tell a physician about the shooting pains in their lower abdomen, about the agony of falling of the womb and the distress of leucorrhoea. They let the months pass and their trouble becomes harder to cure and more distressing. But modest women can secure exemption from the embarrassment of a private examination. When pain tells them of danger they can cure themselves by the use of in the privacy of their homes. You can be cured without distressing publicity. With these facts before you there is no reason for the delay which is increasing your misery and wasting the days of your life. Why not stop the pain today?

WINE OF CARDUI

I have used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Theford's Black-Draught. Before I began to take your medicines I had pains in my back, hips, lower bowels and my arms. Sometimes I thought I would go blind. My head ached and I was so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. Now I can only feel a little of the pain in my side and I am going to use your medicines until I get cured, for I believe they will certainly cure me. I have been married twelve years and am the mother of seven children. I thank you for your wonderful medicine and what it has done for me.
