RAILROAD NEWS

STORM-DELAYED TRAINS

SMASHING SCHEDULE,

Railroad Company Unable Yet to Get Traffic Upon Regular Time Table—Working Hard to Accomplish It.

Trains are not yet running upon schedule time, and people will have to wait for a time with the irregularity. Storms in the Rocky Mountain region are the cause of the delays, as everything on the O. R. & N. line is in good condition for the resumption of schedule running. Trainmen await the coming of their trains somewhat uncertain as to whether they will go out today or tomorrow, and the trains Nos. 4 and 5 the night and morning west-bound, go out frequently nowadays at about the same time in the morning. The worst delays appear to have been in the running of the night trains, the "Fast Mail" seeming to be able to get through more nearly on the schedule.

No. 5, which was due here at 11:30 last night, arrived at 4 this afternoon. It leaves the place of No. 4, due at 8 this morning, making one train take the place of both for this trip.

About 1,000 bushels of barley, 200 bushels of wheat and perhaps 100 bushels of oats from the Columbia river valley will find markets in the Puget音海。 Most of the oats will go to Colorado. One of the factors in the movement of the grain is the reduction in the rate from 60 to 40 cents per 100 pounds. Much of the grain goes to the manufacturers of flour products. For the most notable feature of the season's grain shipments to the eastward, however, is the barley. The crop in the Columbia basin this year is of exception ally fine quality for brewing. The big brewing centers of the east—Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and other cities—became aware of the excellence of the northwest barley early in the season and began placing orders for supplies.

The Union Road.

Wisconsin timber men are fast moving the great timber area on the side of the Milwaukee Mountains toward Duluth, says W. H. Gilkinson, one of the prominent lumbermen of the lower DuPage valley. They are the same men who were instrumental in moving a great timber road between Union and that region. He thinks beyond question that a road will be built from Union to Cathcart creek a distance of 10 to 15 miles, and thence across the hills in this direction to the head of the great timber region. This will bring transportation costs 24 dollars of the slope and fire timber.

Ready for Bridge Repair.

The W. & C. R. railroad men from and a large crew of men arrived in Pendleton this morning from Riverdale, where they have been filling in tracks and doing repair work. They are here to do the job and are rapidly repairing the bridges across the Columbia river out of town. This bridge will be torn away in the spring and a large steel structure will take its place at a cost of something like $20,000. This will be a part of the extensive improvement work to be done by the W. & C. R. railroad company next season following the expenditure of a large sum of money on the lines out of Walla Walla.

O. R. & N. Work to Be Done.

President A. L. Mohler of the O. R. & N. announces that it is the intention of the company to push the building of the road until every foot of the line is in first-class condition for the heavy traffic. For four years he has been engaged in the rebuilding of a large part of the line so as to reduce grades and curves, has filled in bridges and replaced wooden structures with steel and at the same time relaid the track with 80 and 90-pound steel. The rebuilding of the track between Mosier and The Dalles, which has always been a hindrance to business because of its crookedness, sharp curves and heavy grades, is now rapidly nearing completion and when done will finish the re-construction of the line between Portland and The Dalles and will shorten the time of trains fully an hour. A gang of 150 men is at work day and night under the direction of a corps of the best engineers, who are doing their work with a thoroughness that is a credit to themselves and the company. The time is approaching when trains between here and Portland can be run with the same speed and safety as trains are now being run over the Pennsylvania railroad. None will appreciate the improvement more than merchants and business men of Eastern Oregon.

Reform School Loss.

The damage to the state reform school by Wednesday's fire, is estimated by Superintendent H. E. Bickens at from $20,000 to $30,000, and will probably reach the latter figure, and the loss is partially covered by insurance. The burned building was constructed about five years ago, and within its walls hundreds of boys have since that time learned trades which will make them independent, self-respecting mechanics and good citizens. The building will doubtless be rebuilt at an early date.

Asks a Divorce.

Through Attorney J. J. Balleray, Mrs. Ruby F. Ford has filed suit for divorce from her husband, William S. Ford. They were inter-married in Pendleton in December, 1885, and lived together as man and wife until the 1st of December, 1900, when the plaintiff alleges that without cause defendant abandoned her and went to California, and has since failed to provide for her. There are no children or community property.

No Friday Services.

Owing to the fact that the rector, the Rev. W. E. Potwine, is unable for the present to use his eyes, there will be no services this evening at the Church of the Redeemer. Mr. Potwine has been suffering from an affection of the eyes for a week past, and is not yet sufficiently recovered to permit him to read the services. The physician has enjoined absolutely no reading for some time.

Walla Walla Elks' Mardi Gras.

Walla Walla, Dec. 19.—It is understood here that the local lodge of Elks will have a carnival on the mardi gras order sometime during January and that the Walla Walla band will cooperate with them in getting it up. No definite announcement has been made, but the managers are now figuring with various attractions with a view to making the affair quite a brilliant success.
