PARIS TRADESMEN MUST
MARK "MADE IN AMERICA"

Buyers There Demand Goods Made in the United States, Hence the Resort to False Representations as to Where their Wares Were Purchased. Paris, Dec. 21.—Paris tradesmen complain that the legend "Made in America" has become the fetish of American buyers to such an extent that they are unable to sell even reputable makes of French goods unless they represent them as the output of the Yankee factories.

French shoemakers are imitating American shapes in French leather. The Lyons silk manufacturers are adopting bizarre patterns. Hatmakers are revolutionizing the shape and quality of their product, always with the same object—to pandar to the latest fad of the buying public. Even the famous Paris dressmakers are beginning to assure fair customers they "cut their gowns according to the New York horse show style."

In most cases the pretense of American origin is pure fraud. The tariff on Yankee shoes is too high to permit of their importation to any great extent, while American silks are not yet able to rival the French article. According to the president of the syndicate of Parisian merchant travelers, the French tradesmen who have led in this wholesale deception are only serving the public right.

"Paris merchants ought to take a stand against the pernicious tendency," said the syndicate president this afternoon. "Since J. Pierpont Morgan began threatening to buy the world fickle French society affects to believe that American handwork of all kinds is indispensable for the comforts and refinements of life."

"A well-known old maker a stone's throw from the Place de l'Opera, who has the biggest business of this kind in France, began last week advertising 'Chicago pins,' though experts are unable to tell the difference between this and the former brand. A prominent society man ordered American point put on a new chateau, though French workmen have always excelled in house painting. Other examples might be quoted, showing the present high tide of Yankee prosperity."

"Unless this tendency is soon checked French hats, shoes, silks, cotton goods, kitchen utensils and desks will utterly fall into disrepute. We will therefore shortly distribute thousands of circulars urging French retailers to make a desperate stand. Up to the present no great harm has been done, but sooner or later the deception will be discovered, and then there will be no telling where this 'Yankee craze' will land the unfortunate native manufacturers."

The Revue Economique devotes a long article to the subject, warning the public against deception and also rebuking its extravagance in the desire for American handwork.

A SCIENTIST'S VIEW

CANCER CURE AMUSES
CHICAGO PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Brown, Well-Known Specialist, says Escharotic Treatment is the Only Proper Method to Pursue.

New York, Dec. 20.—The much-heralded "discovery" by Chicago physicians of a cure for cancerous growths by the use of the X-ray, is received with more amusement than interest among the prominent medical men of the East. Leading physicians, while reluctant to discuss the claims of the Chicago doctors, agree in expressing the opinion that cancer is a malignant structural change of the tissues of the body, that the change is permanent and cannot be neutralized by heat, light, electrical effects, liquid air or any other agency. To effect a cure, leading practitioners agree, the cancer must be entirely removed and destroyed.

The causes and cure of the dread disease, as viewed through the eyes of the ablest members of the fraternity, are well set forth by Dr. Wallace E. Brown, perhaps the foremost cancer specialist in America, and who is now at the Waldorf-Astoria. Dr. Brown is the head of the medical faculty of the Berkshire Hills Sanitarium, at North Adams, Mass., which for years has been the Mecca for cancer patients and physicians alike. In discussing the various methods for treatment of the disease, Dr. Brown said today:

"I do not believe any valuable light will be thrown upon the malady by researches along the lines recently employed and exploited by certain physicians in Chicago and Buffalo. Cancer, to define it in a way that can be understood by laymen, is a perversion of cellular activity, or the dynamics of the cell. In its incipency it is always a local disease, and not a disease of the blood. It invariably attacks persons that are otherwise in perfect health, and never presents premonitory symptoms, not even a slight pain. The first knowledge a sufferer has is the appearance of a malignant structural change that is microscopical in size and permanent in character."
