BILLS OF COMING PLAYS.

Together With the Christmas Opera, Matinee and Evening.

The attraction coming to the Fraser on next Monday night will be William A. Brady's and Joseph R. Grismer's production "A Stranger in a Strange Land." This play kept New York laughing for 10 weeks at the Manhattan theater. The play is from the joint authorship of Sidney Wilmer and Walter Vincent. The scene is laid in England, and the story is suggested by the ignorance of the upper English classes concerning the topography of America. The wild and erring young son of a British family has been going a pace a bit too rapidly in his own country, so his family have sent him to America with the idea of locating on a ranch for three years.

An exceptionally strong cast has, it is said, been engaged to interpret the various characters.
The Opera Christmas.
For matinee, "Said Pasha." For evening, "La Mascotte." The Wilbur Kerwin Opera company on Christmas day. Manager Wilbur has brightened up and added to his assortment of costumes, until the unparalleled number of 170 trunks are used to convey the monster wardrobe from town to town. Each opera has its different costumes, and no dress is worn in two different productions.

The Burgomaster.
In place of "Old Joe Prouty," that having been cancelled, "The Burgomaster," fresh from its triumphant tour of the country, will be presented at the Fraser Dec. 27. Without a doubt, this melange is the cleverest musical travesty presented for many a day, and its reception here, and in fact, everywhere, has been little short of an ovation, as it has captured the good will and praises of the press and public.

Baltimore, Cincinnati & Western.
Philadelphia, Dec. 21.—In financial and railroad circles considerable interest is manifested in today's meeting of the stockholders of the Baltimore, Cincinnati & Western railroad. The road is a paper corporation. It secured a charter from the legislature several years ago, filed the necessary papers in the office of the clerks of the various counties, and was forgotten until the advertisement was issued last week calling for today's meeting of the stockholders at the office of the counsel for the company in this city. It is understood that the
