GENERAL NEWS.

It is said the czar has accepted an invitation to attend the coronation of King Edward, provided the empress is in good health at the time of the ceremony.

The Rev. Robert Cameron, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Jersey City, is dead, the result of blood poisoning following a cut on his right leg.

According to a recent mandate of Pope Leo, John D. Crimmins, of New York City, has been created a knight commander of the order of St. Gregory. This title is conferred only for real or special acts of charity.

As a result of conferences between a clergyman, Rev. Mr. Broekhuysen, and the Boer leaders it has been decided to send C. M. Wessels to the United States in January, bearing a letter from Kruger to President Roosevelt.

Miss Mary Mildred Lee, a daughter of General Robert E. Lee, visited the state senate at Richmond, Va., and was introduced, the senate taking a recess of five minutes in order that the members might personally be presented.

Alexander H. Revell, chairman of the Illinois auxiliary of the McKinley Memorial Association, reports that the monument fund for the state of Illinois is fast approaching the $25,000 mark. The total amount subscribed to date is $29,919.

Through the appointment of Francis E. Baker to the United States circuit court of appeals in Indiana, by President Roosevelt, an odd condition of affairs has been created. Judge Baker is a son of Judge John H. Baker, now on the bench of the United States district court, in the same district of Indiana, and, therefore, the son may possibly review the decisions of his father, should any federal cases be carried up from the district court.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS

D. S. Ambler, of Salem, has been appointed to a federal judgeship in the Philippines.

Congressman Moody has introduced in the house of representatives a bill asking $299,000 for the Portland postoffice.

Flags on the capitol building at Salem were suspended at half mast out of respect for the late Governor Rogers of Washington.

Mrs. Jane Adams, a pioneer of 1849, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. W. Osborne, at South Bay, Thurston county, in her 81st year. With her husband, since dead, she crossed the plains to the Willamette valley in Oregon in 1847.

Is M. D. Landis, the Coos county murderer dead? G. E. Landis, his brother, asserts that such is the case. Landis is charged with several murders in Coos county, and a reward of $1000 for his arrest has been standing for several months.

John E. Woody, of Woodlawn, near Portland, died Friday after an illness of about five years. Mr. Woolley has been a resident of Portland for 22 years, and lived in Woodlawn 11 years. He was 67 years of age. A wife and one child survive him.

Mrs. Thomas M. Hines, an Oregon pioneer of 1848, died at Forest Grove Friday night, aged nearly 82 years. She was a native of Pennsylvania. She was married in Missouri in 1848. The start for Oregon was made in 1848. The family first settled in Yamhill county. She left a husband and two sons.

Jessie Metz, of 69 Dorchester St., St. John N. B., writes to Mayor Rowe of Portland, seeking information in regard to the whereabouts of Charles Edward Culvert, who left St. John about 1835, some 66 years ago. She has knowledge that he was in Portland 20 years ago, and is very anxious to hear from him or learn his present whereabouts.

BEAR KILLED CATTLE.

He Was a Big Cinnamon Bear, But an Indian Succeeded in Killing Him.

Now comes the story from upper McKay creek, or what is known as the Fall Springs country, that during the late fall months a cinnamon bear killed six head of yearling cattle belonging to different stockmen of that section. Mr. Bruin, which was seen several times by different ones, and killed a couple of weeks ago by Pete Red Hawk, an Indian, would apparently lay in wait for his intended victim and when the animal passed he would jump upon it and cut its throat. After the animal was dead the bear would then catch hold of the head, just back of the ear and rip the hide off one side as skillfully as any practiced butcher could do it with his knife. The hide removed, Mr. Bruin would take a hearty meal out of the fat yearling and leave it until hunger drove him back to fill himself again from its carcass. After eating two or three meals out of one he would then kill another and serve it the same way. The Indian who killed his bearship has been given a vote of thanks by the stockmen who suffered from his depredations.

TUTUILLA NOTES.

Newsy Items From a Live Correspondent of Persons and Things.

Tutuilla, Dec. 29.—M. H. Gillett is taking a trip to California.

Vic Boquette, a former resident of Tutuilla, recently a train hand on the Northern Pacific, is seriously ill in a Tacoma hospital.

J. W. Thomson was down to the rabbit drive on Rutter creek today.

George Smith started for Harney valley on Saturday.

J. H. Williams started for Eureka Flat on Saturday to see some real estate which he thinks of purchasing.

John Muir moved his outfit over north of Pendleton on Friday, where he has a job of plowing.

William Guseman has gone to the Barnhart neighborhood to work with a well-boring outfit.

The early-sown fall grain which at first came up very spotted, presents a much better appearance since the rains.

W. Walker, from Stage Gulch, spending Christmas here, says the present kind of winter weather has put him in the notion of plowing.

George Case, who was over from Cold Springs last week, hung onto his wheat until he got 50 cents for it, a habit which he has cultivated for the last four or five years.

The late Governor Rogers of Washington was in most moderate circumstances when he became governor five years ago, and beyond what he saved from his salary of $4000 a year he left little. He carried no insurance, whatever, seeming always to have a prejudice against insuring his life.

At the regular meeting of the trustees of the Portland chamber of commerce further action was taken to press before congress the matter of opening the upper Columbia to free navigation.

CHRISTMAS IN HOLY LAND.

How the Day Was Celebrated Where Christ Was Born.

The New York World prints a cablegram from Bethlehem, showing the manner in which Christmas eve and Christmas were celebrated in the Holy Land. According to the dispatch: from Bethlehem, the sky was clear and the air chilly on the day before Christmas. In the morning crowds began to stream in from Jerusalem and other towns. Many traveled from Europe, some even from America. The European costumes, mingled with the bright Oriental dresses, made the scene varied and vivid with colors, while in the throng were seen many fair-faced Bethlehem women.

At the church of the Nativity at Bethlehem, the Latins, the Greeks and the Armenians each have a place of worship, but the ceremonies which attracted the thousands were those at the Catholic church. Throughout the morning crowds flocked to the magnificent church of the Nativity, enclosing the cave believed by many scholars to be the actual birthplace of Christ. It was brilliantly illuminated.

During the afternoon a multitude crowded the great square fronting the church, covering the house tops on all sides. The patriarchs, escorted by Turkish soldiers, preceded by the official guard of the patriarchs, advanced to the church. Following the sacerdotal procession came that of the French consul and his staff in uniform with an escort of mounted guards, he taking precedent as representing France, the recognized guardian of Catholic interests in the holy land. Following his entry into the church came the beautiful service of vespers and the benediction.

In the evening the church was never without its crowd of worshippers. At 11 o'clock matins were sung and a few minutes before midnight all was hushed. Then on the stroke of the hour "Gloria" arose—all kneeling in profound adoration to usher in Christmas morning.

Immediately afterward the Patriarchs ascended the high altar and commenced to celebrate high mass. Thenceforward throughout Christmas day every altar in the sacred edifice was occupied by priests saying mass. Many devotees who took their places at 10 o'clock Christmas evening kept their vigil until 11 o'clock on Christmas day, anxious not to miss one moment of the ceremonies on the site of the birthplace of Christ.

THE NEW YORK WORLD.

The Most Widely Read Newspaper in America.

Time has demonstrated that the Thrice-a-Week World stands alone in its class. Other papers have imitated its form but not its success. This is because it tells all the new all the time and tells it impartially, whether that news be political or otherwise. It is in fact almost a daily at the price of a weekly and you cannot afford to be without it.

Republican and democrat alike can read the Thrice-a-Week World with absolute confidence in its truth.

In addition to news it publishes first-class serial stories and other features suited to the home and fire-side.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the weekly East Oregonian together for $2.25.

Traits of the Mikado.

The mikado of Japan is a man of much energy and endurance, and is constantly smoking cigarettes. He is fond of outdoor sports, and has warmly encouraged the introduction of football into Japan. He is a hunter and fisherman of no mean reputation and is a good shot with the rifle. His devotion to lawn tennis is marked, and he is clever as a wielder of the racket.

Christmas and New Years are not far away, neither are the pure and wholesome superior brands of California wines, brandies, liquors at Kline's Family Liquor Store, Court street.
