

ON THE DIAMOND

SOME 1902 BASEBALL GOSSIP IN PROSPECTUS.

Some Good Players Want to Join the Pendleton Team This Year.

At the close of the baseball season in 1901, the Pendleton club had over $200 in its strong box. This sum has been increased during the winter months by something like $40, which has been obtained from rental of the grounds for football games, so that at present there is about $250 in the treasury. This is a very good showing and reflects credit upon Manager M. A. Rader and the other four directors of the club, who were Lee Teutsch, R. W. Fletcher, H. J. Stillman and Captain George Hartman.

The pleasant weather of the past few days has had the effect of causing the situation for 1902 to be discussed, with the result that it may be said that the outlook is encouraging. Clarence Penland and Director Lee Teutsch are in receipt of a number of letters from different players who wish to come here next summer. These aspirants include Cartano, the big second baseman, George Brown, shortstop, Roi Brown, general utility man, and Earl Saunders, pitcher, all members of the Athena club last year. They noticed how the visiting teams were treated here last year, and it pleased them so much that they are anxious to don Pendleton's uniform.

It is quite probable that some, if not all four, will be engaged, but that is a matter which of course can not be definitely stated at this time, before a manager has been selected. F. Miller, left fielder of the Boise semi-professional team last year, is now in Pendleton and wishes to remain here and play. If the inducements to do so meet with his approval, W. F. Matlock owns the Alta-street grounds, which is the only available place to play. He is always ready to promote legitimate sports, and in an interview recently he expressed the hope that Pendleton would put a good team in the field. He will probably be one of the directors this year.

The directors of last year, who hold until their successors have been elected, have been discussing the

R. S. Patterson, an American school boy, has gone to England to arrange for an athletic meet between the boys of that country and America to take place some time in July, there. English teams are to come from Eton, Rugby, Seton Hall and Stonyhurst, and those from America from all over the country.

matter informally and have announced that a meeting will soon be held to make the preliminary move toward reorganization. Claude and Clarence Penland, E. F. Chapler, J. Cox, Frank Ulrich, Billy Barlow, and Captain Hartman reside here, so it will be an easy matter when the proper time comes, to put a strong team in the field to fight for baseball supremacy.

John Sharpstein has already been re-elected as manager of the Walla Walla team for next year, and is already making dates with visiting teams. One strong attraction booked recently is the Stanford University team, which is going to make a trip through Oregon and Washington early in the season.

The question of forming a basketball league of clubs representing La Grande, Baker City, Walla Walla and Pendleton, has again come up for discussion. In fact, it has been up all winter, and it is not at all unlikely that something definite will be done. The managers of the four teams above mentioned should certainly arrange a series of games in which all could participate for the championship, even if no close league were formed. The arrangement of these games, so that the dates would not conflict, and each club be given its share of the holidays, would do much to make the game even more popular than it is at present, and would be a good move financially, as well, which point should not be overlooked.

Whitman's Prospects.

Speaking of the Whitman team the Walla Walla Union says: With his fractured knee-cap healed and now able to walk about without the aid of crutches, former Captain Arthur Hauerbach will be seen at the first corner of the Whitman College baseball team this summer as of yore. He will not captain the nine this season, that honor having been conferred upon "Flea" Brown, veteran pitcher, and end on the varsity football eleven. Mr. Hauerbach will finish Whitman this year, and the fact that he will be able to take up his position again in the game is hailed with delight by the supporters of the blue and gold, who after his injury on the football field feared he would be unable to play first this season.

Whitman baseball men are already in training, and every bright afternoon sees them at work under the watchful eye of Coach Allen, who believes in making ample preparation for war in time of peace. While another training ground is being constructed in the rear of Billings hall for the use of the track teams, this will not interfere with baseball and football games being played on the old campus as formerly. Both grand stands will remain where they are and baseball will go on in its accustomed place.

Ringer, who officiated behind the bat at the close of last season, will in all probability catch for Whitman this year. Captain Brown and South-law Marquis will be on the slab, and when Brown does not pitch he will probably appear on the second bag. The absence of Rigby at short is a weak spot in the team, which it will be hard to fill, but material is showing up in good form, and there is strong probability that by the time the first schedule game takes place, the aggregation will be as fast as that which last year pulled Whitman to victory over the entire coterie of Inland Empire colleges.

N. P. WILL HAVE

Experimental Farm in Kennewick—Has Men at Work.

The Northern Pacific will have an experimental farm in this section, says the Walla Walla Union. The station is to be situated at Kennewick and will be in the arid lands which the company intends to reclaim by means of the old Kennewick ditch which was recently purchased and is now repairing.

The Northern Pacific now has a large force of men at work on the ditch and it is understood that the experimental farm will be located at Kennewick for the purpose of demonstrating to the settlers what this once widely hooped section of land is capable of doing. Just what the sandy soil along this portion of the Snake is fit for has never been definitely known and homeseekers are becoming timid whenever the word "arid" is mentioned in connection with a new country.

The Northern Pacific is now bothered with lack of capital to push its project, and now that the old ditch has been secured the work of finishing it is being carried forward.

RELEASED THEN RE-ARRESTED.

West, the Bigamist, Will be Tried in Walla Walla for Assault. Says the Walla Walla Union: The case of West, the alleged bigamist, is peculiar. Attorney Cain said that the man was undoubtedly a bigamist but that there could be no case as the matter stood at present. West has, according to report, been married three times. Happiness did not exist between the man and his first wife and he instituted divorce proceedings. The husband soon after drifted into Montana and married Allie Barker, with the divorce still pending in the courts. For this he would be guilty of bigamy. He afterwards left Allie Barker and came to Walla Walla where he was married to Jennie Kelly. In the meantime, wife No. 1 had secured her legal separation. The case was dismissed, but the prisoner was arraigned for assaulting Jailer Malone. He pleaded not guilty and will be held until the next session of the superior court. The penalty for such a crime is imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year and to pay a fine of not more than $500.
