GENERAL NEWS.

A dispatch received at the Indian bureau from the Tongue River agency, in Idaho, where troops have been sent to quell the excitement of the Indians, announces that everything is quiet at the reservation.

Representative Hill, of Connecticut, presented the majority report from the house committee on coinage, weights and measures, in favor of the bill providing for the exchangeability of gold and silver coins.

At Copenhagen a deputation representing 24,000 signers of an address protesting against the sale of the Danish West Indies, without the question being previously referred to a plebiscite, was received by King Christian.

The Cherokee, Choctaw and Chickasaw nations have, by their councils, passed resolutions asking congress to do away with tribal government and asking that territorial government be instituted. They claim the two governments cannot well exist at the same time.

Lewis Nixon, who was chosen last Saturday to succeed Richard Croker as chairman of the finance committee of Tammany Hall, is a shipbuilder, well known all over the United States. His new position in Tammany gives him the leadership of that organization.

At Mandan, N. D., James E. Burke, the oldest passenger engineer on the Northern Pacific west of the Missouri river in time of service, is dead. He had been in the employ of the railroad company 23 years. He ran the first passenger train across the Missouri on the ice, and the first passenger train to Glendive from Mandan.

A movement for the fitting celebration of the pontifical silver jubilee of Pope Leo XIII, which will take place this year, is now on foot in all parts of the world. Elaborate preparations for the coming celebration are already making in England, and will soon be begun in this country. Copies of the paper just issued in England have been received at the house of Archbishop Corrigan.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS

The city council which took office on Tuesday last, is determined to make Olympia a wide-open town.

George Williams, a well-known "bad man" among the Indians, was stabbed to death Saturday night by Charley Tom, another Indian, about 10 miles southeast of Olympia, on Dr. Manier's ranch.

George W. Hayes, the register at Burns, recently ordered removed, arrived in Washington. He does not ask for a continuance, but desires to have the charge of removal withdrawn, alleging that the findings of the special agent were upon prejudicial evidence, and that he had no chance to reply.

In the supreme court the City of Salem won its $5000 damage suit against F. R. Anson and the Fidelity & Deposit Company, of Maryland. This is the termination of a series of suits that grew out of a disagreement between Anson and the Salem Light & Traction Company, of which company Anson was formerly manager.

At a meeting of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce a resolution, introduced by W. W. Whipple, approving the Lewis and Clark Centennial and pledging the support of the people of that city, was unanimously adopted. New officers were elected by the chamber as follows: President, E. W. Tallant; vice-president, F. J. Taylor; secretary, E. C. Holden; treasurer, G. W. Lounsbury.

The will of Mrs. A. H. Stewart, of Olympia, mother of woman's clubs in Washington, gives her entire estate of $50,000 to three club women. Mrs. D. A. Gove, of Tacoma, gets one-half, and Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickenson, of New York, and Mrs. Sarah Utt, of Pola, Cal., are to divide the remainder. Mrs. Stewart left no kinpeople. She was buried according to a ritual prepared by herself for club women.

COLUMBIA SOUTHERN WILL BE EXTENDED.

E. E. Lytle Says Construction will Begin as Soon as Weather Permits the Coming Spring.

The first definite move toward the long-looked-for extension of the Columbia Southern railroad southward into eastern Oregon was made when E. E. Lytle, Max Enright and E. R. Deyoe filed articles of incorporation for the Columbia Southern Railway Extension company. The object announced is to build an extension of the Columbia Southern railway from Shaniko to Bend, a distance of about 100 miles with branches to Ashwood and Prineville. The amount of the capital stock authorized is $1,000,000.

The extension will consist of, first a line from the present terminus of the Columbia Southern at Shaniko in a generally southerly direction, crossing Trout creek and Crooked river, to a point on the Deschutes river, at or near the Bend postoffice in Crook county; second, a branch up Trout creek via the Oregon King mine, to a point at or near Ashwood postoffice; third, a branch up the valley of Crooked river to Prineville. The usual authority to maintain and operate the railroad, and to construct, maintain and operate telegraph lines is also taken. It is also provided that the company may establish and operate stage lines whether in connection with its railway or steamboat lines or otherwise, and build, purchase or lease steamboats or barges and operate them on the Deschutes river, and receive merchandise for storage and carry on a warehouse business.

President E. E. Lytle says the filing of these incorporation articles means the building of the extension at once. The construction will be begun as soon as the weather in that region is suitable, and the line will be put through to completion this year unless some unlooked for obstacle shall be found. It is said to be not a difficult country to build in.

CONDUCTOR MAY SUE THE W. & C. R. COMPANY

And Demand $6000 Damages for injuries Received while on Duty.

Rumor is current of a suit by former Conductor McDaniels against the Washington & Columbia River Railway company to collect damages in the sum of $5000 for injuries said to have been sustained by colliding with a fence while in the employ of that corporation. The accident occurred near Clyde, and McDaniels was laid up for several days as a consequence.

According to the story of the accident told at the time, McDaniels was assisting in the switching of several cars of wheat. While riding over a cattle guard, hanging to the side of a freight car his body came in contact with the right of way fence, and he was torn from his grip and flung fainting to the ground. The injured man was placed in the caboose and brought to this city for medical treatment.

Since that time McDaniels has been released from the employ of the company, and now it is alleged that he will bring a suit for damages.

Jaw Breaking Indian Names in a Land Suit Just Filed.

Suit has been brought in the district court of Umatilla county, entitled Louisa Charley, whose Indian name is Tal-La-Camp-Pen-Ml, vs. I-Yot-I-Yot, wife and daughter of Iseiva, a Walla Walla Indian No. 12, who died intestate in March, 1901, asking that the court declare Louisa Charley the only heir-at-law to Iseiva's estate, consisting of 160 acres of land

THURSDAY—RUSSIAN PLAY "FOR HER SAKE."

Promises to be an Event of Special Interest.

Of all the countries that the sun in his course shines upon, none, probably, has lent its name, its physical and social characteristics, and its history, to romance as has Siberia. Russia's dark militarism, the mines, the convict population—even the rigors of the northern climate, which generally is made to play its part—have been made the elemental parts in scores of tales of thrilling interest. Dramatic writers generally, where the piece has appeared, seem to be of the famous Russian-Siberian play, "For Her Sake," exercised a wise discretion when he pitched into the rein on the reservation, subject to the dower of I-Yot-I-Yot, the costs to be apportioned between them. James A. Fee is their attorney.

Max Healey Married.

The Sunday Oregonian of January 12, contained a notice of the marriage of Robert M. Healey, a young man who made Pendleton his home for many years. Max Healey is a son of the late A. Healey, at one time treasurer of Umatilla county, and for many years in the boot and shoe business in Pendleton and a highly respected citizen. The Oregonian's report of the wedding was as follows:

A pretty home wedding took place on January 2 at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Scharowfley, 420 Post street, San Francisco, when their daughter, Natalie, was united in marriage to Robert Maxwell Healey by the Rev. Mr. Adams. The bride is a social favorite in San Francisco circles and the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. M. Brenner, of San Francisco, and a grandson of Mrs. Helen Dyer, of Portland. A sumptuous supper was served after which the happy couple were driven to their cosy home at 274 Ninth Avenue, San Francisco.

"For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but milk toast, and at times my stomach would not retain and digest even that. Last March I began taking CASCARETS, and since then I have steadily improved, until I am as well as I ever was in my life."

of the Cear for the locale of one of the most engrossing of the latter-day melodramas. The story of the piece reads like the condensed version of one of the narratives of Tourguenev or of Stepanak. It has its opening in Poland. Location thus early serves to indicate what is to be the nature of the story, for the name of Poland is significant in the Cear's domain.

The company is an excellently large one and the roster includes the names of several actors well known to the patrons of the Frazer, where the play will be seen tomorrow night.
