GENERAL NEWS.

The vote in the Ohio senate was: Foraker, 21; Baker, 11. In the house: Foraker, 66; Baker, 42.

Eighty thousand trades unionists of Chicago have decided to take uniform action against the building of warships and naval machinery in any but government shops.

It has been announced that Prince Henry, of Prussia, on his return from the United States, will be deputed to represent Emperor William at the coronation of King Edward.

Kentucky's vote on senator was: McCreary, 74; Deboe, 24. In the senate: McCreary, 23; Deboe, 23. Senator W. H. Cox, republican, voted for ex-Governor W. O. Bradley.

It is believed in shipping circles that a British transport laden with American mules, bound for South Africa, has been either intercepted and blown up by a Boer spy in the Gulf of Mexico, or has foundered.

It is absolutely certain now that the Payne tariff bill will contain a 25 per cent reduction on Philippine goods coming to the United States, besides a reduction equal to the amount of export duty charged in the Philippines.

Chicago's night schools are closed temporarily, at least. It is also a serious question if the day schools can be kept open during the regular 19 months. This condition is the result of the low condition of the city's finances.

Continuing the opposition to the playing of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Albert Sydney Thompson Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, Louisville, began a movement to petition the Kentucky legislature to prohibit the presentation of the play in that state.

The North German Gazette, which contradicted the statement from England that Emperor William pressingly invited the Prince of Wales to be present at Berlin on the occasion of the Emperor's birthday, January 27, published an authoritative contradiction of it.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS

The fine of $5000 imposed by Collector of Customs Fox, at Astoria, on the British ship Irbay for failure to bring proper bills of health on her arrival from Freemantle, has been reduced by the department to $15.

Donald McKerracher pleaded guilty to one count of the indictment charging him with embezzling $2100 from the Seattle National Bank. Judge Hanford sentenced him to five years imprisonment in the United States penitentiary at McNeil's Island.

At Forest Grove the city election passed off quietly. The total vote was 234, as against 244 last year. The following ticket was elected: Mayor, F. T. Kane; councilmen, J. T. and J. S. Huxton and A. J. Wirtz; recorder, J. C. Clark; treasurer, W. S. Huds; marshal, W. P. Cronen.

Eight different companies have perfected applications for arid land under the Carey arid land act. These applications cover nearly 200,000 acres, all in Eastern Oregon. Many more applications are in course of preparation and have been forwarded to the state land office, but owing to some defect they have not been placed on file.

N. C. Christensen was unanimously elected mayor of Forest Grove. He was the choice of all citizens, and his administration will begin under the most favorable auspices. He is one of Newburg's substantial and progressive business men, and is one of the proprietors of the new Chehalis Valley Flouring Mills.

A New York paper publishes a poll of the senate on the canal, giving 21 senators favoring Nicaragua and 40 favoring Panama. The poll is utterly unreliable, as both Mitchell and Simon are classed in favor of Panama, while both favor Nicaragua, because they believe it means a canal, and are doubtful if the Panama scheme means anything but delay, says the Oregonian's correspondent.

JOHN P. WAGER IN LONGFELLOWESQUE VERSE.

Paul Showaway and His Onetime to be Divorced Wife the Hero and Heroine.

John P. Wager, editor of the Portland, has the following agent the Showaways of the Cayuse Indian tribe on the reservation here: Vell your vision, O forefathers, Roming happily, serenely.

In this boundless unfenced country, Land of forests and tall bunchgrass, Land unploughed and millless, noiseless.

Save for tread and call of wild beasts And the shots of trusty rifles, And the chanting of ghost dances, And the howl of squaws well beaten, And the whimpering of papooses, And the music of the storm wind— That heavenly hunting ground so happy.

Look not earthward, O forefathers, Royal sires of the Cayuses, Look not down upon my thralldom, On the depth to which has fallen Thy noble tribe, once proud and noble.

On the cursed laws and customs Of the tyrannous palefaces; On the shameful degradation To which Showaway, thy Scion, Last of all our noble chieftains, Is subjected in this country, Where ye once roamed unmolested, Gave our hunting privileges, Gave the red deer from the rivers, Tutullia and Umatilla, And the stately mountain forests Overrun with bleating sheep are, One small piece of land they gave me.

Land to raise a crop of wheat on, Which I rented to the paleface, Taking pay in gold and silver, Which at Pendleton, the city, Furnished me with firewater, Only thus could I be happy, Only thus could I drown my sorrow, Shame forget and degradation, That our race so low has fallen.

O, my sires, too long we linger, In this land of plows and reapers, Vexed with courts and laws and churches, Marred and scarred with marks of labor.

Noisy with the strife of traffic, Every paleface working, striving, Plodding, delving for the chicamon, Working, mightily for the dollar, While the women do but little, Keep the house and tend the babies, Spending hours playing with them, And in dressing and adornment, Which the men besides all manner Of choice foodstuffs must provide them.

Subject to such laws and customs, Such humiliating bondage, Is Paul Showaway, thy Scion, Last of chiefs of the Cayuses, But more wrongs I am to suffer, Still endure more grievous insults, For because my squaw I gave not Money, not for her provided, But expected, as a chief should, Her to rustle for her living, Her and all her five papooses, As was ever our good custom, Brought into a law court I was, By this creature whom I married, Who demanded separation, And that I my land and money Be compelled to use to keep her, To provide for and support her, Her and all our hungry young ones, That I spend no more for whiskey, But go thirsty all the year through, And this idle insolent woman, Filled with silly thoughts whose head is,

Notions that a man should labor, E'en a chieftain, such as I am, And support his squaw and children, With the paleface court conspired, Me to force to work or hunger, Work and give for our maintenance, O, 'tis terrible, ye chieftains, In your paradise free roaming, Thus o'er my sad fate to ponder, And compare those times with your times, Thus twas not when you grandfather, Or when those before you dwelt here.

Then disgrace of toll ye knew not, Then our squaws, as women should be, Were our servants' bundle bears, Wood they out and brought for fire, Cleaned the deer of smoking entrails, And your guns for next day's hunting, Planted maize and reaped the harvest.

Far too late life I, the victim, Of this time of work and worry, Time when e'en a chief must labor, Time when nature all reversed is, And when man, once lord and master, Is a slave to idle women; And for books and clothes for children, Must pay out his shining dollars, Time of lawyers and divorce courts, When our squaws are held quite equal, To their natural lords and masters, From such times and scenes un-happy, Turn away, O sires, your faces, Gaze not down at my debasement, For I am a sorry chieftain, Weary am I, also thirsty, And if I must work or suffer, If I must forego firewater, If that squaw I must provide for, And those ravenous papooses, Longer care I not to dwell here, But will welcome, O great Spirit, Swift translation to my fathers, To the land of the hereafter, To the Hunting grounds of Heaven, Where no work is, neither lawyers, And where squaws are what they should be, Servants silent of their masters.

SEVERAL SUITS ARE FILED IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Business Has Been Brisk at the Court House of Late.

Business at the court house, in the way of new suits instituted, has been quite lively during the past few days. The following damage and judgment suits were docketed Wednesday:

DeMott vs. Willis Pea.

George R. DeMott has sued Willis Pea for judgment in the sum of $52.70 alleged to be due for goods, wares and merchandise purchased between August 5, 1895, and October 12, 1895, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent from October 12, 1895, together with costs of action. H. E. Collier is attorney for plaintiff.

Allen Bros. vs. O. R. & N. Co.

Henry Allen, Joseph Allen and James Allen, doing business under the firm name of Allen Bros. have brought suit for damages against the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, in the sum of $3483.38 for the loss of wood, posts, ties and the damage of standing timber on their land, lying near Huron station. The allegations say that the defendants negligently allowed combustible material to collect along their right of way through plaintiffs' lands and that through negligence fire started from an engine on the road on the 27th day of August, 1901, which burned up and damaged property belonging to plaintiffs worth the sum asked for. T. G. Halley is attorney for plaintiffs.

Smith & Son vs. Richardson & Co.

R. P. Smith & Sons Co., a corporation doing business in Chicago, has brought suit against D. B. Richardson & Co., of Helix, for judgment in the sum of $261.85 alleged to be due for

Dug and weeded in the garden, Tended well your stout cayuses, Dressed the fish and jerked the elk meat,

Did all manual, mental labor, Without clamoring or complaining, While we smoked our pipes in comfort,

Happy were the times ye lived in, Happy ye in your departure.

Far too late life I, the victim, Of this time of work and worry, Time when e'en a chief must labor, Time when nature all reversed is, And when man, once lord and master,

Is a slave to idle women; And for books and clothes for children, Must pay out his shining dollars, Time of lawyers and divorce courts, When our squaws are held quite equal,

To their natural lords and masters, From such times and scenes un-happy, Turn away, O sires, your faces, Gaze not down at my debasement, For I am a sorry chieftain, Weary am I, also thirsty, And if I must work or suffer, If I must forego firewater, If that squaw I must provide for, And those ravenous papooses, Longer care I not to dwell here, But will welcome, O great Spirit, Swift translation to my fathers, To the land of the hereafter, To the Hunting grounds of Heaven, Where no work is, neither lawyers, And where squaws are what they should be, Servants silent of their masters.

Catarrah Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, Catarrah is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrah Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrah. Send for testimonials, free.

She Was Buffaloed.

A young lady down at Enterprise, Oregon, has joined the "Buffaloes," according to newspaper reports, says Joseph Herald. Sunday morning the young lady took a bath and the bathroom being too cold for the purpose, she took a position behind the kitchen stove and called her sister to give her a rubbing down with a towel. During the operation the young lady backed up against the stove directly where the name of the city in which it was manufactured occurred, and the word "Buffalo" was burned deeply into the flesh. The letters standing out in bold outlines on a very red field. She refrained from making the customary calls on Sunday and put in the day holding down a pillow.

Cigar Popular in Germany.

In no other country in the world is the cigar so popular as in Germany, so much so that it is impossible to raise enough tobacco in the empire to supply the domestic demand. Last year Germany imported nearly $22,000,000 worth of tobacco, a little more than a third of it coming from the United States. The use of the cigarette is rapidly spreading in Germany. Last year 386 tons of cigarettes were consumed, at least five times as many as were needed 10 years ago.
