Both houses of the Iowa legislature voted separately upon the election of two members of the United States senate. The vote in the senate was: Allison, 36; Dolliver, 36; Thayer, 10; Seerley, 10. In the house: Allison, 52; Dolliver, 52; Thayer, 14; Seerley, 14.

It is rumored in faculty circles in the University of Chicago, that John D. Rockefeller is contemplating a gift of $26,000, in order to see the complete development of the university, according to President Harper's plans and under his direction, within the next few years.

In compliance with a resolution of the senate recently adopted, the secretary of the interior today sent to the senate a statement giving the status of leases of Indian lands. He said that his department has in contemplation several leases, all of which would be made under the authority of the act of congress of 1891 bearing upon this question.

The canal situation remains unchanged, but both sides seem to be gathering themselves for a mighty struggle in the senate when the question must be finally determined. The friends of Nicaragua grow less discouraged over the action of the commission in reversing its former position, especially when it is found that several things may intervene upon a lease in perpetuity of the canal route to the United States.

The senate today adopted a resolution offered by Senator Mitchell calling on the secretary of war for information as to the number, name and tonnage of transports now owned by the United States, with dates of purchase, from whom purchased, the price for each and terms of payment; also similar data regarding transports now held by the government under lease, with dates, terms and duration of such leases.

The troubles of the noted Baisley-Eikhorn mine, a few miles west of Baker City, are apparently drawing to a close. Some Eastern capitalists have offered to pay off the indebtedness of the mine, provided the creditors will accept 50 cents on the dollar for their claims. The indebtedness amounts to about $20,000.

Judges and clerks who will serve at the coming primaries and ensuing June election, were announced by the county commissioners. The list is fixed up, as far as it can be, to further Senator Simon's interests. This is apparent, and if it is not wholly Simon, the reason is that there are not enough of Simon's partisans, says the Oregonian.

From Whatcom, Wash., Rev. I. N. DITCH CO.'S PLANS

BOUGHT 27,000 ACRES FROM C. B. WADE.

Oregon Land and Water Company Plans Extensive Development Work Near Umatilla This Year.

F. B. Holeomb, manager of the Oregon Land and Water Company, said today to the East Oregonian that his company has bought from C. B. Wade 27,000 acres of land contiguous to the company's ditch a few miles below Umatilla. The ditch owned by this concern was bought last year from the D. W. Bailey company, and work of improvement has been done. However, this work has only begun, as it is the intention of the company to develop that part of the country, in so far as water in abundance placed upon productive land will develop it.

The company offers not an acre of land for sale, and says little of its intentions. The plan has been to demonstrate first the value of the proposition, and then to place expert gardeners and fruit raisers upon the lands to be covered by the ditch. Men from various sections where similar conditions exist will be induced to come and they will be assisted in the work of demonstration of the possibilities of that region in raising all the products grown in this zone.

Mr. Holeomb has confidence in his scheme, to the extent that he is investing in it his money and time, and proposes that that shall be the earnest of his faith in the enterprise. Upon the face of it, it appears to be an excellent thing for this county, as well as for Morrow county, for the lands covered by the ditch and included in the last purchase are in both counties.

At Astoria the taking of testimony in the suit brought by the Chinook tribe of Indians against the United States was commenced before Special Commissioner M. C. Magee. The case has been pending in the United States court of claims for about two years, and is to secure reimbursement for about 250,000 acres of land, including the site of the city of Astoria, all in Pacific county, Wash., a portion of Wahkiakum county, which were ceded by this tribe under the treaty of 1851.

SAVED THE SCHOOL

PUPILS HURRIED OUT THEN THE CEILING FELL.

Third Grade at Hill School House. Had Dangerous Experience Wednesday Afternoon.

The pupils of the third grade at the high school building escaped from what might have proved a fatality to some of them and injuring nearly all, if not all, more or less, yesterday afternoon by the falling of the plaster and laths from the ceiling.

This room is taught by Miss Elsie Folsom. It is in the basement, which was not built for a school room, but owing to the pressing need for more room it was fixed up last summer and put into use. The basement was plastered overhead when the building was put up, and when the directors concluded to press it into service, they had it replastered in order to deaden the sound from the upper rooms. This was done by tacking slats across over the old plaster and tacking the extra laths for the second coat of plaster to these slats, thus leaving an air chamber between the two layers of plaster, with the idea of deadening noise from above. It now seems that the man who did this job was not very particular in the way he did the work, and the slats were not put on substantially. These pulled loose, which was the cause of the ceiling falling.

The danger was noticed by some of the pupils, who discovered that one corner of the ceiling was sagging, and the attention of Miss Folsom was called to it. She then called the attention of Douglas Glenn, who is janitor, to what had been discovered and he told her to get her pupils out of the room. The last one had not cleared the room more than half a minute before the crash, when the whole ceiling, consisting of a thick coat of plaster and laths it was fastened to, fell in one solid mass to the floor.

The crash and narrow escape of Miss Folsom and her pupils, caused much excitement, not only among those who were in immediate danger, but among all of the pupils in the building, as well as the teachers. It was indeed a narrow escape, and all can congratulate themselves that the danger was discovered when it was. There is another room in the basement which was plastered by the same contractor and in the same way, that is being used, and since the narrow escape of those in the third grade, the directors have investigated and made arrangements to have it fixed so as to eliminate all danger at once.

Miss Folsom's room was cleaned out and school continued this morning.

Night Was Her Terror.
