CHICAGO CHEERS FOR SCHLEY MAYOR SCHMITZ DOWN MERCURY HINT THAT IRELAND MAY RISE of the Greatest Demonstrations in the History of That City.

OF SANTIAGO WELCOMED IN CHICAGO

Entertainment Tonight at Auditorium with Distinguished Artists and Speakers.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Amid the boom of cannon and the cheers of hundreds of people, Admiral Schley arrived in Chicago today. For the next few days he will be the guest of the city and the program for his entertainment will take up nearly every moment of his time until his departure Monday evening, for Louisville.

The entertainment program will be completed tonight with a banquet for the admiral. The affair will be held in the massive banquet hall of the auditorium. The set program of the evening, aside from Admiral Schley, is as follows:

A Great Demonstration. The admiral was with cheers from thousands of throats, blowing of whistles and from many bands the welcome Chicago was given. It was one of the most remarkable demonstrations in the history of the city.

The train pulled in, cheers went up and the enthusiastic hero worshippers and the cheering continued until the admiral reached the hotel. The march from the depot to the hotel was lined with thousands of cheering hats, everyone cheering like mad. The admiral smiled and bowed to the officials and club men welcomed him to the depot and accompanied him to the hotel. The admiral was particularly touched by the greeting of several thousand school children with small American flags.

HARRIMAN WAS A RATHER GLIB TALKER.

Said the Merger Was to Preserve Avenues of Traffic of the Three Roads.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—E. H. Harriman was called to the stand when the interstate commerce commission resumed its sessions this morning. He was quick and decided with his answers. The earlier part of the testimony was confined to relating his connection with various railroads.

Regarding the merger he said it was accomplished for the purpose of preserving the avenues of the three roads interested. He did not think Traffic Director Stubbs divided the traffic. When asked to shed some light upon the Hill-Harriman fight of last May, he stated nothing not already recorded.

Harriman said the merger would prove to be beneficial in that new markets would be opened, discrimination against shippers be prevented, and the service be improved. Increased rates are not contemplated.

Gov. McBride Opposes Merger. Seattle, Jan. 25.—A special to the Times from Olympia says that Governor McBride today issued a proclamation on the railroad question.

The proclamation declares that the only safeguard in this state against railroads is competition. Touching the so-called "community of interests" idea, Governor McBride says:

"The basis of such a combination of interest is necessarily insecure because of the many individual factors it contains. It is like a chain of many links, the breaking of any one of which would be disastrous to the whole. One of the individuals might die, or sell his holdings to another. Either event might destroy the combine. For this reason the promoters of the community of interests idea were not satisfied. So, in order to solidify the chain and make it a bar of steel, thus perpetuating their control, a scheme was shrewdly devised to form a gigantic corporation to which a majority of the stock of each competing line should be transferred, the officials receiving in return stock of the new company, which stock might change hands freely without in any way disturbing the control."

SAN FRANCISCO'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE STIRS THINGS.

He Says He Found a Shocking Situation Among the Old City Hall Employees.

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—San Francisco's union labor mayor, Eugene E. Schmitz, is busily engaged effecting reforms in the city's government and demonstrating that the executive ability developed by an orchestra leader in directing his musicians is sufficient to enable the possessor to wisely govern a big city.

San Francisco's peculiar charter makes the mayor the absolute head of the city government through the various commissions the members of which are appointed by the mayor for a defined length of service. One member of each commission has been appointed by the new mayor, the other three members holding over from the previous administration. When their terms expire their successors will be appointed by Mayor Schmitz, who will then be in complete control of the city's municipal affairs. As civil service rules govern, and a removal in any office must be for good cause, it is evident that the mayor's power is limited, for a majority of each commission govern the appointments made by that commission.

City Hall Shake-Up.

Though Mayor Schmitz has held office only a few weeks, he has already caused such a shaking-up at the city hall as to cause widespread terror among the easy-going, sleek officials holding down the many sinecures. Recently elected County Clerk A. B. Mahoney was proved to have promised patronage in order to secure his nomination, and only a restraining order of the court temporarily prevents the mayor from removing him for violation of the charter. Charles H. Gallagher, superintendent of paving, was next suspended for forcing his employees to attend political primaries. J. B. Casserly, member of the school board, was told to devote himself to his work or resign, and accepted the latter alternative. Thomas P. Woodward, a former member, was appointed in his place. Ed B. Williams, for many years chief clerk of the justice court, was the next man to be decapitated, for neglect of duty, and Powell Frederick appointed to the vacancy. Williams got a temporary restraining order from the superior court, but was ejected from the office by the police. Frederick has been summoned to appear for contempt in consequence.

Shocking Situation.

Speaking of Williams' removal, Mayor Schmitz said: "I have found a shocking condition of things among the city's employees. Public office with many of the holders has come to mean a private snap. I find many officials reporting at their offices at about 10:30, staying an hour or two and leaving for the day, devoting the time for which the city pays them to drinking, dining, loafing and worst of all to patronizing the race track, gambling across the bay. Why, the whole boatload of city hall employees have been in the habit of going to these races daily. This has got to stop, they must either work or clear out. Either the work is being neglected, or there are too many employees. I shall follow these removals up with many more, and want everybody to understand that they must work or forfeit their positions, and that I will not tolerate the condition of things existing in the past."

Catholic Federation.

Columbus, Jan. 25.—Members of the executive committee of the National Federation of Catholic societies are arriving here in anticipation of the general meeting to be held here tomorrow at the Chittenden. This will be the first meeting of the national committee since the organization convention of the Federation held in Cincinnati, in December. The principal business to be transacted is the arranging of the constitution in such a shape that it can be printed and circulated among the confederated societies. A meeting of the Catholic Federation of Ohio will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the committee.

Articles were signed for two races for $20,000 a side between Lawson's Borlams, Smather's Lord Derby and Schannel's The Abbot.

OLD BOREAS VISITED PENDLETON AGAIN

After Ealmy Weather Prediction of Intense Cold Came True—Reached 6 Below.

Such weather as that since yesterday morning is enough to make the residents of Pendleton wonder what has become of the usually balmy climate of Oregon. All day yesterday, the snow came down at quite a brisk rate, and it did not cease until after dark. The snow was accompanied by a strong north wind that drifted the snow and chilled the man or woman that ventured out, but at night there was probably not more than five inches on the ground.

Early yesterday morning, the thermometer registered no lower than 28 above zero and at noon it was not quite so low, but early in the afternoon the mercuries about town suddenly dropped and within one hour there was a change of nearly 10 degrees. It kept getting colder until at 10 o'clock p. m. it was 6 above.

This morning, the local thermometers around town registered all the way from 2 to 8 below zero, but it was clear and the air almost still. People could be seen going to their places of business with heavy caps drawn down over their ears or holding them with their hands.

The snow is drifted until there is no sleighing, but every boy in town, and many girls, are out with their sleds sliding down inclines or catching onto every rig that goes through the street and using them as locomotive power. The dealers who had in large supplies of sleds in the fall, hoping for snow to create demand for them, had come to the conclusion that they would have to hold them over, but the saying that "all things come to him who waits," is again proved true, and they are almost as happy as the young folks. The wood and coal dealers are also thanking "Old Boreas" for his timely visit.

Walla Walla's Cold Wave.

Walla Walla, Jan. 25.—A sudden change in the weather here yesterday and last night made a record for freezing so far this winter. With a fair wind blowing, snow began to fall yesterday afternoon, and as the weather was quite cold, the snow drifted unusually. The cold continued to increase in intensity until this morning, and snow fell most of the time. Last night, Weather Observer Newman predicted zero weather early this morning, and the prediction came true. The storm thus far has been by far the most severe of the winter months. Considerable damage to water pipes is reported this morning.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

The difference of cost between a good and a poor baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year. The poor powder would cause doctors' bills many times this. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the most economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and insures perfect, wholesome food.

Used always in making the biscuit and cake it saves both health and money. Made from pure, grape cream of tartar, most healthful of fruit acids.

NOTE.—You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade baking powders. They are mostly, in spite of the pure food laws, made from alum, which endangers the health. All physicians will tell you that such powders in food are injurious.
