GENERAL NEWS.

A letter of General Miles has been published stating that he has not been and is not a seeker for presidential honors, and that all reports crediting him with being a presidential aspirant are without foundation.

Experiments are being made on a most elaborate scale in London, with a modification of Tesla's high frequency electrical currents in the treatment of consumption. It is stated that some remarkable results have been achieved.

The application of Herr Schmidt, fugitive director of the Treber-Trocknung company which failed in July last, for a safe conduct enabling him to return to Germany from the United States, in order to testify at the trial of the persons indicted in connection with the failure, has been refused by the court at Cassel.

On a cot in the Spokane county jail, sleeping the uncanny sleep of hypnosis, lies Hans Younger. Since Tuesday night the unfortunate man has been in this unnatural condition. Efforts of physicians to overcome the weird influence are futile. Who put Younger into this sleep, and for what purpose it was done, is a question that is puzzling the authorities.

At Chicago, Rear-Admiral W. S. Schley twice declared that he has no intention of entering politics. His remarks were calculated to set at rest for all time the political ambitions which some of his admirers have entertained for him. He said that no office, however high, would tempt him to jeopardize the love which the people of this country have expressed for him.

The report of the secretary of the interior for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, shows that there are 297,724 pensioners on the government rolls, and that during the year the enormous sum of $144,002,469.61 was expended in payment of pensions and the administration of the pension office. There are on the rolls the names of 715,667 soldiers who served in the civil war, and also the names of 20,122 men who served in the navy of the United States during the same period.

The steamer Mainlander, from Seattle to Vancouver, went ashore on the east side of Sinclair Island during the severe northerly gale which raged over Puget Sound. Captain McWilliams was in charge of the vessel at the time.

The interview with Governor McBride has given rise to considerable comment and conjecture among the state officials in Seattle. It is the sole topic of consideration today, and many and divergent are the views expressed upon what the governor says relative to railway matters.

Two years ago the great cry among Oregon hopgrowers was a reduction of the hop yield, in order to prevent an over supply, and thus maintain prices. This year the hops will be entirely sold to brewers, who will use them in the manufacture of beer, and next year's crop will be put upon a clean market.

It transpires that the purpose of the Columbia River & Northern Railroad Company, which was incorporated in Portland Thursday to build a line up the Klickitat river to Goldendale, is to make it an electric line, power for operating which will come from the falls of the Klickitat river a mile or so above the mouth of the stream.

C. A. JOHNS IS OUT

THE APPEARANCE AND THE DISAPPEARANCE.

Of the Baker City Statesman as to the Nomination for the Governorship.

C. A. Johns, of Baker City, has appeared and disappeared from public view, as a candidate for the governorship, all within a short half a week. Following are two correspondent items from that town that tell the story:

Mr. Johns Brought Out.

Baker county has a candidate for the republican nomination for governor in Hon. C. A. Johns, writes the Oregonian correspondent from Baker City. It is a well known fact that Eastern Oregon is going to make a very strenuous effort to name the head of the ticket at the next state convention, and that W. J. Furnish, of Pendleton, is an avowed candidate for the place. But this does not dismay Baker county. Mr. Johns says he is not seeking the office, but his friends declare he is to be a candidate, and they propose to boom him in the strictest sense of the word. Baker City also has another candidate for state office, Hon. Edward Everett Young, who aspires to be state printer. Politics are beginning to warm up here, and it is hard to say what Baker County and Eastern Oregon will ask at the hands of the next state convention, but Mr. Johns' friends say they propose to give every assistance to the move to get the governorship for Eastern Oregon and the nomination of Mr. Johns. They assert that they have been promised loyal support from several of the Western Oregon counties, else they would not persist in bringing Mr. Jones out, when Eastern Oregon already has a candidate in the field.

Johns Goes Back.

Later—C. A. Johns declares that he will not "yield to the entreaties of his friends" and run for governor. He definitely and finally withdraws from the race, and leaves the field clear in so far as he is concerned.

CRITICIZE MAYOR BABCOCK.

Giving Telephone Franchise Without Exacting Benefits the Cause.

Walla Walla, Jan. 27.—The Union says: It is up to the mayor. That much was made known from two sources. Members of the city council called for a rehearing of the matter of the extension of the franchise of the telephone company without demanding additional benefits to the city from such action, and the Taxpayers' League demanded that Mayor Babcock order a special meeting of the council to be held today to repeal the ordinance and to further discuss the matter.

The Taxpayers' League has demanded of Mayor Babcock that he call a special session of the city council for the purpose of repealing the ordinance granting the telephone company an extension of its franchise.

The Mayor Did Not Call.

Mayor Babcock made the following statement:

"I did not call a special meeting of the council yesterday because there was nothing to be considered. The matter of the franchise extension of the Telephone Company is past the council and the power to deal with it is no longer within the hands of the municipal governing body. The ordinance has been passed, approved, published and is a law. Whether it shall remain one rests with the Telephone Company alone as only by failure of that corporation to live up to its agreement can the enactment become void.

"It always remains within the power of the city to regulate the rental of telephones in the event an attempt is made to charge more than a reasonable rate. I do not think the people need fear the council will permit overcharges or oppression. But the reason I did not call a meeting was because there was nothing to be considered."

OUR ROAD MEN WILL

VISIT WALLA WALLA.

On February 4, Meeting to Be There for Purpose of Considering Methods.

It is expected that some of the road supervisors of Umatilla county will attend the meeting to be held in Walla Walla on February 4, at which road makers are to discuss the best methods of improving the public highways in this part of the country, and lay plans for the coming year. The county court of Walla Walla allows to each supervisor a sum equal to the expense of going there upon that occasion, and it is expected that the meeting will include practically all of the road men of that county.

Invitations have been sent to the supervisors of Umatilla county, and some of them have sent word to Walla Walla that they will be there. Other counties will be represented.

The matter of the lands of Umatilla county is receiving considerable attention, and it is hoped that plans will be laid for some permanent work. It is noticeable that all over the country the subject is being agitated, and everywhere there is the determination to make some progress along this line during the coming year.

PRICES BOUGHT SIX 40'S.

Land Deal at Weston—F. J. Steen Sold 240 Acres $11,000.

An important land deal was closed last week at Weston, says the Leader, by which the Price brothers became the owners of 240 acres of improved wheat land northeast of town, and part with the goodly sum of $11,000 in exchange for the same. They also received a four years' lease on a section of land besides, 320 acres of which is in wheat.

James H., John M. and Charles M. Price, the purchasers, are capable and successful young farmers.

The land was sold by F. B. Steen, who is preparing to move to the Big Bend country to engage in the stock business. Mr. Steen has been one of the east end's most successful and enterprising farmers, and his departure will be generally regretted.

Fire at Goldfield, Colo., caused damage estimated at $30,000, the Clayton Hardware company being the heaviest loser.

It is understood at Cambridge that the proposed plans for another five-years' agreement between Harvard and Yale are not progressing smoothly.
