NO CURE KNOWN

STATE BACTERIOLOGIST
ON SWINE DISEASES.

Professor Pernot, of Corvallis, Counsels Immediate Action in the Premises.

A letter received at the Agricultural College indicates the existence of swine plague at Turner. Professor Pernot, state bacteriologist, and head of the bacteriological department at the college, has written for specimens and these are expected in a day or two.

The fact that the same disease is reported as widely prevalent in Umatilla county," said Professor Pernot, today, "suggests the importance of taking immediate steps for preventing the spread of the disease. It is highly contagious, and there is no known cure. The symptoms are well marked, though it is often difficult to distinguish them from the symptoms of hog cholera, a widely different disease. Plague and hog cholera are produced by different germs. In cases of plague, the lungs are generally the seat of the disease, while in hog cholera the disease generally appears in the intestinal tract. There are, however, acute cases of cholera in young hogs in which death occurs before the characteristic ulceration of the intestines appears, and in such cases there is usually present a considerable congestion of the lungs, which, upon a cursory examination, is liable to lead to the belief that the disease is swine cholera. It sometimes happens that hog cholera and the plague exist in the same animal at the same time. In many cases, the true character of the disease can only be determined by microscopic examination.

Hogs affected with swine plague soon become mopey, refuse to eat, and appear to be cold. They shiver and invariably seek a warmer spot, often seeking to burrow in the straw, if it is present. A high fever is present, and as the disease progresses the animal becomes weak in the hind legs, frequently staggering about. The breathing is difficult and death results from suffocation. In acute forms, the disease generally runs its course in a few hours. If there were remedies, application in most cases would be impossible for lack of time. Whenever, at least in infected localities, a hog shows signs of sickness, it should be at once separated from the other hogs, the remaining hogs not affected should be taken to other quarters. If allowed to remain on the same premises where the disease appeared they are, of course, subject to the same infection.

Infection may occur either through food or water supply. The water supply in infected districts should by all means be changed. The germs of the disease are carried in water from place to place, and may be transmitted long distances. Before hogs are returned to premises that have been infected, the place should be well disinfected with lime, which should be brought into contact with all feed troughs, hog pens and enclosures. In every case where the body of a hog is opened for post-mortem examination the greatest care should be taken not to drop escaping blood. The germs of both hog cholera and the plague are in the blood, and when the blood is spilled, millions of the germs are liberated for future infection.

REPRESENTATION OF OREGON DEMOCRATS

For the Next State Convention—Slogan to be "Commercial Expansion and Advancement of Pacific Interests."

The date for the democrat state convention will be determined after the republicans fix theirs. This the state committee decided on at the meeting in Portland.

Regarding the platform the committee did nothing more than consider five issues out of which planks can be framed. The Philippines will occupy an important place in the platform, and the slogan will be "Commercial Expansion and the Advancement of the Interests of the Pacific Coast."

Since the democrats have for years advocated the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, it was decided that at the state convention May's law be observed and a democratic nominee named for the position. This is considered the only consistent course open to the democrats under the circumstances, and it also hoped that some capital may be made out of it since the rumor is abroad that the republicans are afraid to name a man for the United States senate in their state convention.

There will be 164 delegates at the state convention according to the ratio. The apportionment will be about as follows, for the figures are not official:

County—	Green's vote.	Delegates.
Baker	1495	12
Benton	792	5
Clackamas	1641	13
Clatsop	636	4
Columbia	404	3

Wasco	850	7
Washington	1258	10

Counties will be represented at the next democratic convention at the ratio of one delegate for each 125 votes cast by the respective counties for T. C. Green for supreme judge, two years ago. Major fractions count as one delegate.

Mrs. Sophie Binns, President Young People's Christian Temperance Union, Fruitvale, Bal., Cured of Congestion and Inflammation of the Ovaries by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Eighteen months ago I was a pretty sick woman. I had felt for some months that I gradually grew weaker, but finally I had such severe pains I could hardly stand it. I had taken cold during menstruation and this developed into congestion of the ovaries and inflammation, and I could not bear to walk or stand on my feet. The doctor recommended an operation which I would not hear of. One of my friends advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a trial. Can you imagine my feeling when within two months I felt considerably better, my general health was improved, and my pains had entirely disappeared. I kept taking it six weeks more and am now enjoying the best of health, thanks to you. Yours truly, MRS. SOPHIE BINNS."

$5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.
When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.
