AXEMAN AT WORK

POLICEMAN COFFMAN'S HEAD FELL LAST NIGHT

The Council Places Fee on Force as an Officer and a Street Commissioner.

The first step toward economizing and cutting down the expenses of running the municipality of Pendleton that has been taken by the new council was made Wednesday night, when Policeman Coffman was cut off the police force.

The council decided that expense had to be reduced, and they did not see their way clear to cutting off the street commissioner completely, but they thought the entire service of one man was not needed in that capacity. So Mr. Coffman was taken off the police force and Street Commissioner Fee will divide his time between police duty and looking after the streets. He will go on at noon and look after his work on the streets until 6 o'clock, when he will drop that and take up the work of policeman, which he will attend to until midnight, when he goes off, leaving only one policeman for the latter half of the night.

The councilmen argued that, after midnight, the streets were practically deserted, and one man could attend to all the business that would have to be looked after, as about the only thing to do is to keep a look out for fires and ring the bells in case of a conflagration. Coffman's work as policeman was not attacked, only that the council had done man had to "go" and he was the man who "got it in the neck."

Less Fines Collected.

The recorder's report shows a great falling off in the receipt of fines. The total amount collected from all sources in fines was $135, against $285 for December of last year, making a difference of $150 in the fines of the two months. This shows that less money was paid into the city treasury from law breakers last month than for any one month in many years, and is evidence in itself that there has been a change for the better in the moral condition of the town.

The recorder's report showed only 39 arrests for the month.

SNOW IS GOING.

Chinook Carries Away the Six Inches That Came Two Weeks Ago.

The snow in Pendleton is almost a thing of the past. Where only a few days ago lay six inches of the "beautiful," today are only sloppy, slippery mud holes and everything is wet and disagreeable. This has not been one of the regular Chinooks that are so frequent in this Western country, and did not take the snow off with a rush. There has been a gradual melting going on for the last three days and at night there would be just enough change to freeze a little, and most of the water from the snow has gone in to the ground to the farmer's delight. Sleighbags have been spoiled, but while that has been done, the small boy has had his usual routine of fun. It has been at the expense of the fellow passing by whom he attacks with snow balls and makes things warm for him until he is out of reach.

The weather prophet is now in evidence and the prediction is that the "backbone" of winter is broken and spring will be heralded soon by the singing of the meadow lark.

GREAT NORTHERN MAN WOULD GET MORE POWER.

Various Companies Are to Be Brought Under the Control of the Magnate in the Northern Waters.

Tacoma, Feb. 6.—President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern, intends to control the Alaska and Sound steamship business. It is unofficially announced that Hill & Sons, chief stockholders of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, which recently purchased five Sound steamers belonging to the Thompson Company, have announced their intention of building several new steamers gradually covering all of the Puget Sound routes. The organizer in Puget Sound is Walter Oakes, son of the former president of the Northern Pacific, and brother-in-law of Lewis Hill. Oakes is also president of the Alaska Steamship Company, the only line now competing on the Alaska routes with the Pacific Coast Company, controlled by Hill, both companies becoming important feeders of the Great Northern.

For Arid Lands.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Hansbrough, of North Dakota, today laid before the senate a bill appropriating receipts from the sale and disposal of public lands in certain states and territories to the construction of irrigation works for the reclamation of arid lands. He spoke at length in advocacy of the measure.
