HAYDEN QUAIL CASE ENDS IN TROUBLE.

Glenn Bushee and R. V. Hutchins Have an Encounter, Caused by Bushee's Threatening Hutchins—Guns Figured in the Affair.

This afternoon, Glenn Bushee, who has been employed as clerk at the Hotel Pendleton, and R. V. Hutchins, reporter on the East Oregonian, had an encounter which was but a trifle less than serious. Bushee threatened to assault Hutchins; Hutchins, armed to protect himself, the two met at the Froome livery stables; Hutchins drew his pistol to prevent receiving injury, Bushee also drawing his, but failing to get it from his pocket in time, giving Hutchins the "drop." Hutchins did not shoot, having, so he thought, prevented Bushee from assaulting him; both had their weapons taken from them, and then Bushee made the attack, inflicting some slight bruises on Hutchins' face. Bushee was taken to the city recorder's office, where he was fined $20. In the court room, after the trial, as well as at other times, Bushee said he would "put Hutchins in his grave before tomorrow, if he did not get out of town."

The trouble arose over the John P. Hayden case, the latter having been fined $15 yesterday by Justice Fitzgerald for having two bob white quail in his possession. Bushee was a clerk at the Hotel Pendleton. Hayden, arriving in town a couple of days ago, took to the hotel a package containing game birds, which he instructed that the cook should prepare for him. Bushee opened the package and saw that quail were in it. Later complaint was made to the deputy game warden, T. B. Wells, who caused Mr. Hayden's arrest and fining.

A question arose as to whether or not Bushee informed on Hayden, and in the discussion of it, Bushee was enraged at Hutchins and made threats several times that he proposed to do the latter bodily harm.

Hutchins saw Bushee about the matter, and there was no encounter. Later, the threats were renewed, and Hutchins being told that Bushee was a "scraper," placed a pistol in his pocket. Mr. Hutchins states that he had seen Bushee with a weapon in his pocket at the hotel, hence desired to be able to defend himself against assault.

At about 1:30 this afternoon Bushee called Hutchins across the street to the Froome livery stables, and upon his arrival, seemed to be willing to drop the matter.

Then trouble again arose, and in the mix-up both drew their guns and both had them taken away from them. The personal encounter that followed was inconsequential.

PROTECTION OF GAME GIVEN PROMINENCE.

J. P. Hayden Case Attracts Attention to the Question.

Considerable interest has been manifested in Pendleton along the line of protecting game birds since the arrest and fining of J. P. Hayden yesterday for having two bob white quail in his possession, and this will likely do others some good who have been unlawfully hunting and killing game birds out of season. Considerable complaint has come to the ears of the game warden recently but in every instance the tracks of the breaker of the law has been so completely and well covered that not enough evidence was obtainable to cause an arrest and conviction.

The Oregon Game and Fish Association are determined to punish every man who is caught breaking the law by destroying the birds or fish out of season or every man who comes under the penalty of this law by having the game in his possession, no matter in what way he gets it. The arrest of Hayden resulted from Glenn Bushee's curiosity to see what a paper bag contained that was left at Hotel Pendleton, where he is clerk, he not thinking at the time he opened the sack, that he would get anyone into trouble. One of the men whose attention was attracted to the sack, is a member of the association and he was in duty bound to inform the game warden, whose place it was to file the information.

MITCHELL, THE INDIAN, GUILTY OF STEALING.

Court Tried Him on Tuesday and Convicted.

The case of Ed Chapman and Senator Mitchell, Indians charged with stealing a horse and saddle from a young man named Smith, occupied the attention of the district court for Umatilla county all day Tuesday. Chapman was dismissed, as there was not sufficient evidence against him to connect him with the crime. Mitchell was tried and the case went to the jury in the afternoon and after deliberating for several hours they returned a verdict of guilty. He has not yet been sentenced by Judge Ellis. Charlie Moy, the Chinaman, charged with larceny from Hobbach's bakery, was before the court first this morning.

INJUNCTION CASES FRIDAY.

Date Set Again by the Parties Interested.

The latest date set for the hearing of the injunction cases involving the city of Pendleton which was precipitated by the opposition of four of the councilmen and Mayor Hailey to the further incumbency of the marshal's ann recorder's offices by Heathman and Beam, is for 9 o'clock Friday morning at the court house. Then, unless something comes up that causes the attorneys to ask for another postponement the pros and cons of the case will be argued by the attorneys in the cases before Judge Ellis and he will decide the matter. It is impossible for any one to foresee what this decision will be and which ever way he decides, it is not known whether or not his decision will settle the affair. The Heathman-Beam men have been determined all the way through and say they will carry it to a higher court in case of losing in the district court. Therefore, where it will end cannot be foretold, but the people are awaiting the final outcome with more than ordinary interest and are anxious to see it settled.

The Last Heard of It.

"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O. "We feared he would die, but a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved him and he went to sleep. That's the last we heard of the croup. Now isn't a cough cure like that valuable?" One Minute Cough Cure is absolutely safe and acts immediately. For coughs, colts, croup, grip, bronchitis and all other throat and lung troubles it is a certain cure. Very pleasant to take. The little ones like it. Tallman & Co. and Brock & McComas Co.
