ALLEGATIONS IN THE RICHIE DIVORCE CASE.

The Husband Pestered His Wife With Many Bothersome Manners.

The publication of the summons in the divorce case of Mrs. Lizzie Stine Richie vs. Charles William Richie is completed and it will be passed upon by Judge Ellis in a few days. Following are a few of the allegations which the judge will have before him on which to base his findings:

They were married in Walla Walla in November, 1892, and plaintiff alleges that it was only a short time after this until he began a course of abuses which made life burdensome for her. She says that when they would visit the home of her parents he would tell them she did not keep the buttons sewed on his clothes and did not take proper care of them and would sneeringly censure her in the presence of her parents for what he alleged to be her shortcomings. She says that he also criticized her language, pronunciation and grammar, not only before her relatives, but in the presence of callers at their home and friends in whose company they happened to be thrown, well knowing that it greatly mortified plaintiff and that during the last few years of their married life she remonstrated with him but it did no good and she got so she entirely ceased asking friends to visit them on that account.

Plaintiff further alleges that at different times when they had company at their home, when sitting at the table with the company, he would sneeringly remark: "Is this some more of your rotten coffee?" and would tell the guests to "be careful of the cream, as madam don't have cream except when she has company," and "what have you on; is this some more of your rotten coffee, or is it your company coffee?" and that two years ago they had more company than they anticipated and plaintiff called defendant into the kitchen and told him they were short of spring chicken. At the table defendant said to the company: "You will have to go slow on chicken; madam says we are short."

He Sulked Over the Eggs.

If, in preparing eggs for his meals, plaintiff would cook those with yellow shells, he would become angry and sulk for several days, and that he had a habit of regularly saying disagreeable things in a disagreeable way and for a disagreeable purpose, and that she has gone to him time and again with tears in her eyes and asked him to desist from his ways, but he would reply: "Go 'way"; or "see that you do better in the future," or accuse her of being "too touchy."

In August, 1909, plaintiff suffered a severe sprain of the right knee and while she was compelled to go about on crutches defendant left her at home with no one to care for her except the Chinese cook and hired men and went to Wyoming on a hunting trip, being gone nearly a month. Again in September, 1901, he went to Montana on a hunting trip, saying that he intended to abandon her. For the past four years he has only contributed $350 toward her support and that she has been compelled to rely upon her parents for maintenance.

Mrs. Richie says that such treatment has greatly impaired her health both in body and mind and she has suffered much mental anguish and to live with him longer would permanently endanger her health, therefore she prays the court to grant her an absolute divorce from defendant and give her such other relief as the court sees fit. They have no children and have accumulated no property since their marriage.

T. P. and C. C. Gose, of Walla Walla and Carter & Raley, of Pendleton, are attorneys for plaintiff.

Plaintiff and defendant have been residents of Milton since their marriage.

HARDEST EQUINES

OUR HORSES BEST FOR USE IN YUKON STAGING.

Klondike Man Purchases Many in This Locality for Shipment to North Country.

Oregon-bred horses are the hardest. They can stand more hardships than the Canadian horses and are sought for to use on the Yukon stage routes. This is according to advices from Dawson, which say that George Pulham, of the White Pass winter mail and stage service, uses them. He estimates that 80 per cent of the horses used in the Yukon country today for stage and packing purposes are bought in Oregon and are Oregon-bred animals. These advices further state that Mr. Pulham recently returned to Dawson from a tour through Western Canada and Eastern Oregon, where he had been for the purpose of buying animals for his service. He says he found horses more suited for his service in and around Pendleton than in any other place he has been.

"We purchased 125 head at the latter place, but we would prefer to buy Canadian stock if they filled the bill as well as the Oregon horses, because we can get them into the Yukon free of duty," said Mr. Pulham, "but the horses of Canada have run down so far as concerns heavy fast stage work. In Eastern Oregon I found animals that have weight and bottom, and yet sufficient bone and length to be able to cut out a fast clip. They have been well inured to climatic hardships and can stand the rigors of northern winters without injury. The horses bought weigh about 1250 pounds each and stand 15 hands high. To get them in 20 per cent duty has to be paid, but I found it to our advantage to pay the duty."

Our Army the Best.

Our army is the most effective and efficient organization in the world. The reason for this is the men are well paid as well as well fed. Good feed and good pay, however, will not alone make a good soldier. He must have steady nerves, a good digestion and a strong constitution. To fight disease it is also necessary to have the same requirements, but if you are weak and nervous there is a medicine that will strengthen your system. We refer to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. For 50 years it has been making weak people strong and sick people well. We therefore urge you to try a bottle and satisfy yourself. It is a specific remedy for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, flatulency, nervousness and malaria, fever and ague.

UNBEARABLE ITCHING

Felt It Would Be a Relief to Tear Skin From Back. Cured by CUTICURA.

I had a breaking out all over my back. The itching was almost unbearable, and at times I felt that it would be a relief to tear the skin off my back. I tried doctors' prescriptions, and several remedies, without even relief. I read of your CUTICURA remedy in the Indianapolis News. After three applications, my back quit itching, and by the time the box of CUTICURA Ointment was half used the breaking out had all disappeared.

Treasury Department, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., January 16, 1902. Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the First National Bank of Pendleton, in the city of Pendleton, in the county of Umatilla and state of Oregon, has complied with all of the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence, and for other purposes," approved July 14, 1892,
Now, therefore, I, William B. Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The First National Bank of Pendleton," in the City of Pendleton, in the county of Umatilla and state of Oregon, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business January 16, 1922.
In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this sixteenth day of January, 1902.
WM. B. RIDGELY,
Comptroller of the Currency.
