TO SCATTER SCADS

WOODMEN WILL SPEND
 $1000 IN LOG-ROLLING.

Last night's meeting of the Women of Woodcraft was a "hummer," and plainly showed the great interest which is being taken by the local members of the Perfected Woodcraft in the forthcoming log-rolling. Every seat in the hall was filled and a full row of extra chairs down one side of the room were brought in and occupied. Eighteen applications for membership were entertained, and assurances received that at the next meeting fully 25 more would be presented. Captain J. E. Krause presented the drawings showing the designs for the uniform of the new team, which is the admiration and approval of the ladies will certainly be "in it" (the uniforms) when they make their appearance in the competitive contests in April.

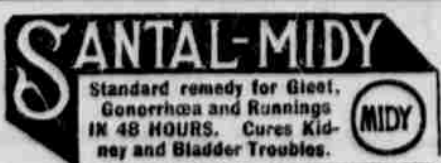

A lengthy discussion was indulged in about the entertaining of guests during the great log-rolling, and it was decided that between three and four hundred dollars would be required for that purpose. The matter was referred to the executive committee, who will furnish the necessary funds. This money, in addition to $700 already voted by the local camp, makes over $1000 already allowed by the two local lodges of Perfected Woodcraft. This money will amount to a dollar, be spent right here in Pendleton among our local business men.

When it is remembered that the great host of visitors who are coming, will leave between $5000 and $10,000 in this city, to say nothing of the splendid advertisement we will receive, some conception of the importance of this movement may be realized. Pendleton camp, Woodmen of the World, will meet tonight and after entertaining the large list of applications which are to be presented, will immediately adjourn and go over to attend the ball which the camp is giving this evening at Music Hall. The committee having this party in charge have spared no pains to make it a royal success, and a splendid time is promised all attending. All are invited and a good time is assured to all. Kirkman's music of five pieces will be in attendance. This dance is not intended as a profit-making one, 50 cents only being charged to defray the expenses. It is intended to introduce to the lovers of dancing a series of dances to be given by the Woodmen and Women of Woodcraft up to April 21-22, when the largest event that ever occurred in Eastern Oregon takes place, and 1144 candidates will be initiated on those dates. They take this means of bringing to the public notice of that event.

PIONEERS OF PACIFIC

MAY HAVE LODGE HOME
 Some Talk of Erecting a Building, But Not Very Soon.

Although several of the members of William Martin Encampment, No. 1, Pioneers of the Pacific, have stated to the East Oregonian reporter that they had done nothing officially toward the move for erecting themselves a home, they say that the idea has been discussed by the officers of the order and that they may bring it to the notice of the lodge in the near future with the hopes that the idea will be accepted as feasible and steps taken toward that end. However, they say it may be several years before the approval of the lodge and the idea be abandoned entirely, but the projectors think it is a feasible one and would undoubtedly be a paying proposition. If a large building was erected in the business part of town the lower floor could be leased for store purposes and the upper floor could undoubtedly be rented to other secret societies as well as for gatherings of other natures, so that the money expended in the construction would pay interest on itself in this way and save the paying of rent the Pioneers pay for their present meeting place.

Only two out of the many secret societies in Pendleton own their own meeting places. These are the Odd Fellows and the Masons, and as the Pioneers is among the largest orders in town, there is no reason why they should not own their own building.

THE MINES UNITED

RED BOY—CONCORD COS.
 WERE CONSOLIDATED.

Incorporation Articles Filed in Baker City on Monday—Capital $3,000,000.

The Concord and Red Boy mining companies have been consolidated, as a result of the recent negotiations that have been going on between the Godfreys, Tabers and the owners of the Concord, among them James A. Howard and J. H. Robbins, who appear in the new officers of the Consolidated. Mr. Howard, secretary of the new concern, makes the following authoritative statement to the East Oregonian: "The articles of incorporation of the Red Boy Consolidated Gold Mines Company were filed in Baker City on Monday. They had previously been filed in Charleston, W. Va. The capital of the company is $3,000,000. It was formed to take over the properties of the Concord and Red Boy companies, consisting of quartz claims and mines, timber tracts, water rights, mining machinery, tools and a large quantity of personal property besides the realty included in the transfers.

"The stockholders of the new company met on Monday and elected the following directors, who are also officers as indicated in each instance.

"Clark Taber, president; E. J. Godfrey, vice-president; James A. Howard, secretary; J. H. Robbins, treasurer; C. A. Johns, counsel."

Although Mr. Howard did not say anything upon this phase of the deal, it is understood from a reliable source that the owners of stock in either of the former corporations are at liberty to accept stock in the new company, or cash in full for their entire holdings. It is also understood that most, if not all, of the former stockholders in both companies have elected to take stock on the Consolidated, and thus express their faith in the strength of the company that is now formed from both the others.

Regarding the amount of stock held in the Concord in Pendleton, it is true that the majority is owned here, but, as to the exact quantities held in individual instances, no correct statement has ever been published, and it is likely that none will be given out. Guesses may be made by one as well as another, therefore guesses by a newspaper writer have no value. There is no likelihood that the precise amount held in the new company's stock by Pendleton people will be told to the public, since it is not usually the custom of business men to tell their affairs to the world. It is known, however, that there is a fine profit accruing to several Pendletonians, from the Red Boy-Concord consolidation, and that the total mounts up well into the hundreds of thousands.
