WHEAT AT TOP NOTCH

WORTH 53 1/2 CENTS.
Seed Brings From 55 to 60 Cents and Much is Needed.

Wheat is quoted at 53 1/2 cents in the local market today and in some instances farmers have been offered as high as 54 cents for choice lots. This is the high water mark since the 1901 crop was harvested, and many farmers are taking advantage of it and letting loose. The local dealers who are in touch with the farmers and know what wheat has been sold and what is still in the hands of the farmers, estimate that not more than 300,000 bushels of the entire last year's crop has not been disposed of and if the present price continues to prevail it will only be a short time until all the surplus will be transferred and the grower will have the money instead of having his grain in the warehouse at considerable storage expense.

Much wheat is also purchased by those who will be compelled to resow on account of the freeze-out and those having choice seed grain can now get a good price therefor, it being sold at from 55 to 60 cents per bushel.

One reason that farmers are somewhat anxious to market their grain is to escape having to pay tax on it if they keep it until the 1st of March, for according to the statutes of the state of Oregon all property is taxable after that date.

Since noon yesterday the local dealers have purchased 14,100 bushels at 53 1/2 cents. This was the crops of Joe Hanscom, of Warren; S. Henderson, of Warren; Tillman & Serrall, of Stanton; and S. S. Parris, of Grandview.

I. L. Campbell was down town again today. Through some inexplicable cause the paralytic shock that he experienced recently has left him in far better health than he has enjoyed for several years.

Bronson-Maack.

A man's life, as estimated by the courts, is worth $5000. A prize bull has just been sold for $19,000.

ARE SAWING WOOD

MILTON ALREADY HAS
37 WOODMEN PLEDGED

Have Exceeded the Promises and Expect more Than 50—Miss Sumner Here.

The joint committee of the local camp and circle, Woodmen of the World and Women of Woodcraft met last night. Splendid progress is reported all along the line. A large number of communications were read from various camps and circles, all going to show widespread interest in the log-rolling movement. Among the most encouraging of the reports were those from The Dalles and Milton. The little town of Milton pledged 31 candidates at the commencement of the campaign. Up to date they have 37 and feel that they will come with between 50 and 75 logs for the mill. The report from Milton is also to the effect that Mrs. Kate R. Hills, who was sent by the grand guardian to organize a circle, is meeting with splendid success and that an excellent character list of applicants for a local branch of the Women of Woodcraft will soon be reported.

From The Dalles comes the report that the camp and circle joint committee there are interesting several camps outside of that city, both in Oregon and Washington, and that they are gathering in the timber on a wholesale basis. These are all for the April 21 log-rolling.

The local committee of the Women of Woodcraft have just issued a bulletin call to their members, which should stir every neighbor to action. It is an earnest plea to make this the leading circle in the state of Oregon. If not in the entire jurisdiction. A pleasing feature of the work in this city is the fact that the Woodmen are taking hold of the circle proposition and are joining the ladies' branch of the order in large numbers.

Miss Sumner, General Organizer.

The grand guardian introduced the general organizer, Miss Bertha Sumner, to the general committee. Miss Sumner has arrived from Portland and will make Pendleton her headquarters for the next three months, or during the progress of the campaign. She is one of the brightest and most successful of the order's deputies, and while here will give her attention to circles throughout this portion of the forest.

Miss Sumner, who was at that time a teacher in the high school of Woodburn, became a charter member of Whittier Circle, No. 133, of that city in March, 1888, and has been a loyal and enthusiastic disciple of Perfected Woodcraft ever since. Such an interest did she take in the order that at her own expense (not being a delegate) she visited the grand circle session at Salt Lake City in August, 1890.

It was there that the grand guardian arranged for Miss Sumner to enter the field as a representative of the Women of Woodcraft. Her first work was at Ranier, Or., where, under the most adverse circumstances possible, she organized a circle. Since then she has organized new circles at Vancouver, Reardon, North Tacoma and South Tacoma, Washington. She also organized the circle at Mullen, Idaho, assisted in the institution of one of the circles in Spokane, Wash.

The circles in this part of the having here at work this very talented lady, during the progress of the work now on.

Stillman Goes East.

Head Manager A. D. Stillman announced that he would leave this evening for Chicago, where he will look up several features for the celebration. He will go from there to Denver and will, while in that city, devote his entire time to matters appertaining to the order. He will return to this city about the 15th of March. Mr. Stillman stands high in the councils of the order and is called to Denver four times a year on matters connected with the head camp.

General Organizer George K. Rogers went to Walla Walla this morning and will meet with the camp in that city tonight on matters in connection with the great gathering. He will return to Pendleton Friday evening.

GEORGE PEEBLER MAY SOON HAVE A CREAMERY.

He Thinks of Establishing One in Stage Gulch on His Ranch.

Stage Gulch may have a creamery. George D. Peebler, one of the extensive farmers of that country, with his place laying 12 miles northwest of Pendleton, is investigating the advisability of running such an establishment. If he finds that there is any money to be made out of the business he will put his plans into immediate execution.

While Mr. Peebler says he knows nothing about the creamery business and does not know whether or not it will be a success from a financial standpoint, he is thinking seriously of the matter. He expects to make a trip to the Milton and Ukiah creameries to get figures as to the cost of establishing and maintaining one. If he finds it as favorable as he now thinks, he will embark in the enterprise. He will keep his own cows and expects to buy machinery for the handling of about 1000 pounds of milk per hour, and while the project will only be an experiment on the part of Mr. Peebler, he is confident that he can find ready and steady market in Pendleton for all the products of such a manufacturing establishment at a good price. He would like to have someone who has had experience, furnish him with information along this line.

The Revised Bible.

The new American standard revision of the Bible brings it up to date, without changing its meaning; but do the people want any change from the original copy? Thousands will answer "No." This would also be the popular answer if you asked people who have once tried Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to use some other remedy. New medicines come and go, but this old reliable remedy continues to be the favorite, because it can always be relied upon in the most severe cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, flatulency, nervousness, constipation or biliousness. We would therefore urge you to try it. You will find its beneficial effect from the start, and it will eventually restore you to perfect health. Our Private Die Stamp is over the neck of the bottle.

"Mamma's" Art Criticism.

The old negro "mammy" of the antebellum type is fast disappearing, and when one does meet with the genuine article there is generally reason to remember the occasion pleasantly, says the Baltimore Sun. Recently a gentleman was making some purchases in a small grocery in west Baltimore, when there entered the store one of those characters belonging to the days gone by.

Hanging conspicuously on the wall of the store was a large lithograph depicting an airily clad youngster in a field of waving grain. The picture immediately caught the eye of the newcomer.

"Who dat?" she asked the clerk.
"Why, that is George Washington," replied the clerk, with a twinkle in his eye.

"Huh!" granted amply dubiously. "HB looks mo' lak Moses in de ambush."

Curious Legal Tender.

Almost every age and tribe, as well as every epoch, has had its peculiar currency or medium of barter and exchange—not only gold, silver, copper, brass, iron, lead and paper, but such out of the way articles as bits of glass, shells, beads, stones, soap, bits of various colored cloth and numerous other objects, some of them absolutely valueless to our way of looking at the matter.

The Burmese, Karens, Hangee and Ghans have no coined money, lead and silver in bullion being the ordinary tender in trade, weight and purity being the standard of value. For a long time salt was the ordinary money of the Abyssinians.

Dried fish has long been and is even today to a certain extent the legal tender of Iceland. Shad scales are also the medium of exchange in many of the North sea islands.

A curious custom exists in the Prussian family of selecting every July half dozen young couples too poor to marry and have them wedded in the garrison church at Potsdam on the anniversary of the death of Queen Louise of Prussia. After the ceremony each bride is presented with a gift of a sum equivalent to $125 and a handsome family bible.

Philadelphia's city hall, which was begun in 1871, has cost $24,313,455. The largest single item of expenditure was for marble, $5,567,503.
