Prevalent.

Barcelona, Feb. 21.—A Barcelona disaster yesterday fails to confirm reports of a serious collision between troops and strikers in which 40 had been killed or wounded. The disaster declares that up to last night 40 had been killed since the strike began. A few rioters were arrested on Thursday while attempting to burn a number of comrades from Madrid dispatch says conditions in Barcelona are improving this morning, though the danger still is great.

Reports of anarchists continue.
Stringent measures are taken to protect and traffic. Food is extremely scarce, however, and distress prevailing. The soldiers who are said to be lukewarm in allegiance to the government, are approached by public leaders and urged not to turn their arms against the strike.
Heavy rain last night had the effect of dispersing the rioters, but there were a number of collisions in the morning. Trains cannot enter the city, the rails having been torn up.

Confession of Murder.

valet of the millionaire, William Rice, who murdered the lawyer, Albert Leck, is being tried, continued to which came yesterday when he said he chloroformed the aged man while he was asleep.

Jones began today's testimony by presenting a number of telegrams he sent to friends of Rice after the murder. The telegrams simultaneously announced that Rice was dead, that death was due to a weak heart and old age. He said that he knew Patrick had never met Rice, but had seen him twice.

THE PRINCE IS SCHEDULED TO ARRIVE TOMORROW

KRON PRINZ WILHELM, THE STEAMER WHICH BEARS HENRY TO AMERICA.

DAY BEFORE HENRY ARRIVES A BUSY ONE

Program for the Coming Entertainment of the Guest—Gotham Ready for Some Elaborate Functions.

New York, Feb. 21.—The day before the scheduled arrival of Prince Henry of Prussia and his suite has been an exceedingly busy one for those interested in the reception and entertainment of the distinguished guest. Members of this committee and that committee have been scurrying and hurrying about all day in a frantic effort to complete the final details of their arrangements. Decorations in many parts of the city are engaged in putting up flags and bunting and the city is fast blossoming out a mass of color. The main scheme of the decorations is the colors of the two nations interspersed and crowned with golden eagles.
Another popular form is the prince's portrait draped in bunting and displayed in windows. A good many bronze medallions are also exhibited.
Fifth Avenue and Broadway do not monopolize the decorations. In every part of town, in the far east and west sides, and particularly in those sections occupied by Germans, shops and houses have been decked out in honor of the occasion. Of flags there seems to be no end in the tenement districts. They are not so large as those in Broadway and Fifth Avenue, but they make a brave show, fluttering from windows forty or fifty feet above the ground. Next in popular esteem after the pictures of the Prince come pictures of the Kaiser.

A Great Drawing Card.

It is evident that the celebration will draw one of the largest crowds ever assembled in New York. Hotels and boarding houses are overflowing with visitors, many of whom have journeyed hundreds of miles to witness the festivities. The gathering of such a large crowd might be thought a good opportunity for anarchists to perpetrate their nefarious work, but if they show their heads above the surface during Prince Henry's visit they are assured of a warm reception. An elaborate system has been worked out by the United States secret service men, by which the whereabouts and purpose of every anarchist in the city is known today. It will be practically impossible for any malignant to gain access to the persons of President Roosevelt or Prince Henry during the festivities. During the Prince's tour of the country a close, but unobtrusive, guard will be kept upon his person. Some of the shrewdest detectives of Europe, including secret service men of St.
Petersburg, Berlin, Paris, London, Rome and Vienna, have arrived here during the past two weeks. These officials are thoroughly acquainted with the personality of their anarchistic countrymen, and will be ready to deal with them on occasion. They will have the hearty cooperation of the government secret operation of the government bureau service, and of the detective bureaus of the several cities to be visited by the imperial guest.

He Comes Tomorrow.

According to expectations the Kronprinz Wilhelm, with Prince Henry and his suite on board, will reach port some time tomorrow forenoon. The steamer's office, appreciating the situation, will endeavor to make the best time possible, and it would afford little surprise if the vessel was sighted off the Hook tonight. Admiral Evans, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, will meet the steamer at quarantine on board his flagship, the historic Olympia, and will conduct the Prince and his suite to the Hohenzollern, which the president's delegates will then visit and extend greeting. Then will come the visit and official welcome by the mayor of New York, a visit which courtesy requires the prince to return the same afternoon. The prince will be escorted to the city Hall by Squadron A and Troop C, and will be ushered into the mayor's office. There he will be presented to prominent city officials and will be escorted to the aldermanic chamber, where the aldermen will be assembled in special session. The hope of the public to get a glimpse of the prince during these ceremonies will not be fulfilled, as admission will be by invitation only. Members of the city committee and prominent citizens will be the guests. Mayor Low will formally tender the freedom of the city to Prince Henry, and he will reply. After that the aldermen will be presented to the prince. In the evening Prince Henry and his suite will attend a gala performance at the Irving Place theatre, returning to the Hohenzollern for the night.
