UNLOCKED JAIL DOORS.

The Supply of Prisoners is Quite Exhausted.

The doors of Umatilla county's jail are standing unlocked and the three prisoners confined therein are allowed to go in and out at will as they are all trustees and the officers do not have to keep them continually under their care.

This is something that is seldom ever the case and Jailer T. H. Taylor rarely sees the time when he does not have to keep the lock and keys on the county prison. In fact, there is seldom a time that the county boarders are as few as they are today. The three men held at the jail are Ed Peters, who is serving a term for destroying public property, and whose time will expire in a few days; and the others are Boyd and Irons who are serving 90-day-terms for seduction. Their terms will expire in about 50 more days but they are allowed to come and go at will and are busy most of the time renovating and cleaning up around the jail and court house yard.

IMPRESSED WITH PENDLETON.

An Eastern Man Thinks it is a Great Small Town.

"Pendleton is the best town of its size in the states of Oregon or Washington, and is better than some I know that are twice as large," said R. L. Darrow, who boasts of being a native Missourian but who was in the city paying a fraternal visit to his old friend, A. Kunkel, and incidentally taking the latter's order for several extra cars of the products of the John Deere Company, which has recently established a branch supply house in Portland, placing Mr. Darrow in as its manager. He also stated that in his opinion Pendleton had the brightest future before it of any town in the Northwest and he added that "it had the citizens who are wide awake and alive to the best interests and upbuilding of the town and will evidently not stop at any move or expense which is calculated to further its welfare and is what makes a town a city and this is what I expected Pendleton to be in a very few years."

Dr. Pearsons has Offered a Large Sum of Money.

Wooster, O., Feb. 21.—This is the crucial day for Wooster University and students and friends of the institution are on the qui vive in anticipation of the announcement regarding the completion of the fund to erect new building to replace those destroyed by fire last year. Shortly after the disaster Dr. D. K. Pearsons the Chicago philanthropist offered $100,000 to the institution on condition that Wayne county raise $40,000 and the synd of Ohio $100,000. This fund, under the conditions named, must be completed by 6 o'clock this evening. In order to meet the requirements the faculty and trustees of the institution have been working with might and main during the last few weeks. ### YALE ATHLETICS FOR THE COMING YEAR

Positions on the 'Varsity Team are Wanted.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 21.—Athletics at Yale began to look up today when the candidates for positions on the baseball team were called out. The baseball situation is not altogether rosy, though it is expected to improve as the time for the season's opening approaches. A careful canvass of the university has not brought to light any remarkably brilliant set of candidates. There is the old trouble about the pitcher, and the candidates for backstop are none too good. The remainder of the team excepting the shortstop are fair. For the pitcher's box there are at present but two promising men. They are John Garvan, who has pitched two years for the 'varsity, and Joe Patton, the freshman twirler. The infield is weak in the number and strength of candidates. The outfield is stronger, with three veterans out for places—Barnwell, Ward and Winslow.
