JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY CELEBRATION

Quarter Centennial Today—Brilliant Exercises—Ira Remsen Inaugurated President of the Institution.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 22.—The celebration of the quarter centennial of Johns Hopkins University, which began yesterday, culminated today in brilliant exercises attending the inauguration of Professor Ira Remsen as the new president of the university. The ceremonies took place at eleven o'clock in Music hall, the interior of which was tastefully decorated in black and old gold, the university colors. The seating capacity of the hall was taxed to accommodate the many students and members of the alumni, faculty and others who sought admission. Among the invited guests were prominent educators representing scores of the leading colleges and universities of the United States and Canada. Included in the number were President Conroy of the Catholic university, President Wiggins of the University of the South, President Harris of Bucknell, President Starr of Randolph-Macon, President Pritchett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Professor C. L. Edwards and Smith of Trinity College, President Wheeler of the University of California, President Quirk of Loyola College, Principal Patterson of McGill University, President Warfield, of Lafayette and Dean Thomas F. Crane of Cornell.

Daniel Gilman Presided.

The ceremonies were opened with prayer, followed by several musical selections. Addresses were delivered on behalf of the trustees, faculty, students and alumni of the university. Daniel C. Gilman, President Emeritus of Johns Hopkins University, presented the symposium of authority, the key to the university, and a bible, to the new president, whom he officially introduced to the assembly. President Remsen responded with his inaugural address, which was full of interest and was listened to with close attention by his auditors. In the course of his remarks the new president recited the history of the university from the time of its foundation to the present. Warm tribute was paid to Professor Gilman, the first and only president of the university and to whom more than anyone else, its remarkable growth and influence, its flourishing condition and present high standing among educational institutions, are due. The speaker said that the university had been hampered in the past by the conditions regarding its finances imposed by its founder, but that, thanks to recent acts of philanthropy, the gloomy prospect has been suddenly illumined by a ray of sunshine.

The Endowment.

Johns Hopkins university was endowed by its founder, Johns Hopkins of Baltimore, with a bequest of $3,000,000, its philosophical department being opened in 1876. Pending the erection of suitable buildings at Clifton, libraries, lecture rooms, laboratories, etc., have been provided in Baltimore. The design of the university, which is entirely unsectarian, is to promote the higher pursuit of special branches of study. At the present time the university has nearly 700 students.

Dr. Ira C. Remsen, the new president, was born in Baltimore in 1846 and has been associated with Johns Hopkins university since its foundation. He is a graduate of Columbia College Medical School, a post-graduate student of Munich and Georgetown, and for four years was professor of chemistry in Williams college. In 1879 he founded the American Chemical Journal, and has ever since been its editor. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, and foreign member of the Chemical Society of London. By all who know him he is looked upon as an eminent educator.

"PENNSY" JUBILATES IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Feb. 22.—The faculty and students of the University of Pennsylvania today celebrated Washington's birthday in an elaborate manner. The students assembled on the campus at 10 o'clock this morning and marched to the academy of music where the exercises were held. Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, "public orator" in the annual conferring of honorary degrees, introduced each candidate to Provost Harrison. The provost conferred the diplomas in Latin and on each candidate placed the hood and gown peculiar to the degree. After the conferring of the degrees, Bishop Doane of Albany, who was the orator of the day, delivered his address. An interesting feature of the celebration was the presentation to the university of a portrait of Benjamin Franklin, by Gainsborough, by the class of 1852.

OHIO SENATOR MAY LAUNCH HIS BOOM

Speaks at Peoria, Illinois, Tonight, and Political Wiseacres are Wondering what He'll Say.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 22.—Political wiseacres affect to see a great deal more in the banquet of the Creve Coeur club here tonight than the mere celebration of Washington's birthday. The fact that the affair is largely under the management of Frank P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and that Senator Hanna is to be the chief speaker has given rise to the rumor that the occasion is to mark the formal launching of a Hanna presidential boom along the line of an appeal to labor organizations. The rumor has it also that the senator's speech will deal indirectly at least with those who have criticized him to his assumptions as a labor arbiter. Officials of the club and others interested in the affair, on the other hand, declare that the banquet will have no political significance and that it is in line with the club's custom in celebrating the birthday of the first president of the United States each year. Besides the Ohio senator, addresses are expected from Congressman Cushman of Washington, Edward Detweiler, of Pennsylvania, President Alderman of Tulane University and other men of note.

100 ANNIVERSARY.

A Pennsylvania Town Holds a Celebration Today.

Cannonsburg, Penn., Feb. 22.—The people of Cannonsburg today celebrated the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of this town into a borough. One hundred years ago the site where is now situated one of the most thriving towns in this section of the state there were but a few small dwellings and in the background were dark forests still inhabited by Indians and wild animals. Today busy manufactories dot the valley and around them has grown a busy bustling community. The town has had an eventful history, having been the scene of stirring events of national moment.

In observance of the centennial the streets today were decorated, business was suspended and the day was given over to parades, public amusements, speechmaking and other amusements.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKINS.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide.
