THE HORSEMAN-CORLEY CASE.

Judge Ellis Decides that Alleged Contract Between Parties to be Void.

Wednesday afternoon, Judge Ellis filed his finding in the case of J. A. Horseman and Eugene Corley vs. Charles H. Horseman, a suit being brought in 1899 by plaintiffs to force defendants to accept $2250 and deliver to plaintiffs their promissory note and mortgage on cattle and real property which had been given defendant for security for the $2250 borrowed money. The judge's findings were to the effect that the contract between plaintiffs and defendant was void and that there was no ground for suit. He therefore dismissed the suit and taxed the costs up to the plaintiffs.

This action was brought in 1899 to force Charles H. Horseman to accept the money for the above promissory note a new months after it was executed, it not being due until two years after date of execution. Plaintiffs alleged that they had tendered defendant the money with all interest but he refused to accept it, and had threatened to foreclose the mortgage, so they prayed the court to enjoin him from doing this and force him to deliver over the note and cancel the mortgage according to the contract, which was to the effect that said plaintiffs could pay the note at any time before it came due.

Walker vs. Warehouse Company.

The suit brought by J. M. Walker against the Western Warehouse Company to recover $1586.17 for wheat stored in the Athena Flouring Mill Company's warehouse and $319 damages is on the ground that the defendants purchased the wheat from the flouring mill company and although it was done in good faith on the part of the defendants, Mr. Walker alleges that they are liable to him for the worth of the wheat.

"JOURNALISM AS A CAREER."

John E. Lathrop, of Pendleton, Delivers an Address at Whitman College.

"Journalism as a Career," was the subject of the Monday morning chapel lecture at Whitman college. The professions and their possibilities are being taken up weekly by different professional men for the benefit of the students. John E. Lathrop, of Pendleton, was the speaker.

In taking up the field of the gatherer of news, the writer stated that the newspaper editorial had gone the way of the political stump speech, and that while 40 years ago the editorial page of the newspaper was its main excuse for existence, the real force of the modern newspaper lay in its news columns. The news columns were characterized as the positive force, and the thing which gives journalism a place among the great institutions of the world.

Mr. Lathrop selected the three most popular forces in society as the school, the pulpit and the press, and said: "Furthermore, select the most potent of the three, and I firmly believe you will be compelled as a social philosopher to say it is this thing we call the press." The newspaper of the present day was characterized as a species of mirror of the people. The paper said: "Public opinion is the determining element in the make-up of the press. If it contains undue sensationalism it is because the people demand it. If the press is mendacious it is because lying is common among the people. If it be anything except honest and pure, it is because there is dishonesty and impurity among the people." Many excellent points were brought out in the paper.

Mother General in Pendleton.

The mother general, of Philadelphia, is in town paying a visit to the Catholic hospital and school. She is accompanied by her private secretary. They left today for the Indian Mission school to remain there until the last of the week, when they go to Washington to visit the Catholic institutions in that state. She will return here in about three weeks, when the plans and specifications of the new hospital to be built in the west end of town will have been completed. It has been decided that this hospital will be much larger than was first planned and that instead of costing $12,000, it will cost between $16,000 and $17,000, and will be fitted with all the latest methods known to science for the furnishing of an up-to-date modern hospital, such as is needed in Pendleton, and a brick building that will be a credit.

PERSONAL MENTION

A. B. McEwen is in town from Athena.

H. D. Meridith, a farmer from McKay creek, is in town.

William Folsom, of Pilot Rock, spent last night in town.

T. J. Berg and Delos Coffin, prominent citizens of Walla Walla, were guests at the Golden Rule hotel last night.

Mrs. Lillie Wilson and two children, of Echo, are visiting Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Mattie Kearney, in West Pendleton.

Rev. John Warren arrived today from Heppner, where he has been holding special lent services the past three weeks.

F. L. Satterlee left last night for Port Townsend to take charge of the paper recently purchased by him and Will Satterlee and others.

Guy W. Wade has returned from St. Paul, Minn., where he has been attending the stock experimental department of the state agricultural college the past three months.

Dr. Smith informs the East Oregonian that W. H. Nebergall, who had the misfortune to get his leg broken recently in a runaway and, who, it was thought for a while would lose the limb, is getting along better than expected and that the leg will be saved.

Robert Willner, of Spokane, is in town on his way to visit a sister living near Ritter. Mr. Willner is a baseball player, having pitched for the Spokane and Tacoma teams last year in the Northwest League, and the local association is making an effort to secure him for the Pendleton team this season. He is said to be hard to beat in the box.

Ed Lieuallen, of Weston, was in Pendleton Wednesday evening and took the night train for the west, on his way to San Francisco, where he may locate permanently. He has been engaged in the meat market business in his home town and expects to continue in that line of work. Will Knox, formerly of Weston, in Hessel's saloon, is located in San Francisco, and wrote to Mr. Lieuallen to come on as business was good.

Frank Steunenberg, of Caldwell, Idaho, ex-governor of the state, was a visitor in Pendleton today, on his return from a trip to Spokane. He was a guest at the Hotel St. George last night, and spent the day visiting with friends, notably Sim Badley, J. J. Zehner and James C. Gwinn, being the guest of honor for dinner at the last named home. Mr. Steunenberg says he has retired from newspaper work and politics and is now engaged in the sheep business, occasionally taking a flyer in a mining deal. He thinks well of the Thunder Mountain country, in Idaho county, central Idaho. Mr. Steunenberg left on the Chicago-Portland special at 5:25 this afternoon for his home.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

Meets in Pendleton and Sets Dates of Primaries on March 7 and County Convention March 12.

The republican county central committee, which met in the court house Wednesday afternoon, set March 7 for holding the primaries and the 12th for the republican county convention. Dr. F. W. Vincent presided and L. G. Frazier acted as secretary. Delegates from all the precincts were present in person or by proxy, except from three precincts, Union, Mountain and Ruddock. The committee appointed on order of business and credentials consisted of C. A. Barrett, of Athena; N. W. Mumford, and J. S. Gurdane, of Pendleton. After they made their report the roll was called.

The basis on which delegates should be apportioned to the different precincts was discussed at length, and it was finally decided to use the number of votes cast from each precinct in 1900 for Congressman Moody as a basis on which to apportion the delegates, allowing one to every 30 votes cast for him that year.

Then the subject of primaries was discussed and it was the unanimous decision to hold the primaries early. When the vote was taken it resulted 19 in favor of holding them on March 7, and 6 votes cast for the date to be a week later. The date selected will come on Friday, and the county convention will follow on the following Wednesday. The convention will contain 110 delegates, which will be divided among the different precincts as follows: Adams 4, Alba 2, South Athena 2, North Athena 4, Bingham Springs 2, Cottonwood 3, Echo 3, Encampment 3, Fulton 4, Gilliland 2, Hogue 2, Helix 3, Juniper 2, McKay 4, South Milton, 5, North Milton 4, Mountain 3, Pendleton 4, North Pendleton 7, South Pendleton 4, East Pendleton 6, Pilot Rock 6, Prospect 1, Ruddock 2, Reservation 4, Union 2, Umatilla 2, Ukiah 3, Valley 2, Vancycle 2, Vinson 2, Weston 3, East Weston 3 Willow Springs, 2 Yoakum 2.

Union County Republicans.

La Grande, Feb. 27.—The republican county central committee met here yesterday and set March 22 as the date for holding the republican primaries and March 29 for the republican county convention. La Grande was chosen as the place for holding the convention. C. E. Cochran, who two years ago was defeated for district attorney by Sam White, was elected chairman.

MISSOULA PIONEERS.

Big Lodge Organized—Edgar's History as a Montanan.

A dispatch from Missoula says: Henry F. Edgar, Lodge, No. 43, Pioneers of the Pacific, was reorganized in this city last evening and started out on its journey over the benevolent and fraternal sea under circumstances that were most auspicious. Thirty new members were admitted at the first meeting and the total close to 75. In keeping with the custom of the order, followed since the inception, the naming lodges after the oldest pioneer who is a member of the order, it was proposed and unanimously carried that Missoula encampment be christened "The Henry F. Edgar No. 34."

Mr. Edgar, as all old-timers know, is a famous pioneer, having come to Montana in 1859, and has the honor of being the one who panned out the first gold in Alder gulch, a discovery that contributed to the world upwards of $100,000,000 and laid the foundation upon which the treasure state now exists. The old gentleman was too much overcome by the honor thrust upon him to respond. Preceding the selection of a name for the encampment, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: P. C. judge, F. C. Webster; Com., Andrew Logan; captain, E. P. Dungan; chaplain, Dr. George H. Putney; scribe, Mrs. Avis Burnicote; treasurer, George Pringle; N. S., Mary Mansaul; S. S., Ella J. French; A. G., E. C. Walling; messenger, Amelia Loffness; Sen., James Broulette; picket, Charles M. Hill; medical examiners, Drs. Putney and Tremblay. The meeting for the installment of officers will be held Tuesday, February 25, after which a social given by the members to a few invited guests will be held.

Baldwin Works Anniversary.

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—The Baldwin locomotive works, the largest establishment of its kind in the world, today celebrated the seventieth anniversary of its foundation by the late Matthias W. Baldwin. One of the features of the anniversary was the completion of the twenty thousandth finished engine turned out by the works. The locomotive is of the most modern high speed passenger type and was built for the Plant system.

Degree of M. A. Discussed.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The association of American Universities, at the concluding session of its annual convention here today, considered the general subject of the degree of the Master of Arts, and discussed the question as to whether the granting of this degree should be encouraged or discouraged, the conditions upon which it should be given, and the standard of accomplishment it should mark. The discussions were participated in by many leading educators.

REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION.

King Edward of England is Encouraging the Experts.

London, Feb. 27.—Since King Edward has taken such a marked interest in the medical battle against consumption, experts are devoting themselves with increased energy to finding a remedy for the dread disease. Attention this week has been centered on a discovery which, if circumstantial reports may be credited, promises to have important results. The discoverer is Dr. Robert Maguire, a physician at the Brompton hospital, and one of the best authorities on tuberculosis. It occurred to him that, as certain antiseptics produced remarkably good results, even with limited use, because doses had to be so mild as not to irritate the stomach, if one could be found that could be injected into the blood so as to directly attack the germ of the disease, great benefit would result. After great research he chose formaldehyde, one of a group of very active germicides, notable for the fact that a solution of one in one hundred and seventy thousand parts is fatal to the consumption germ. He has injected this in various strengths with marvelous results, cavities in the lungs healing up, it is reported, in six weeks' time, achieving what may be regarded as thorough cures of cases thought hopeless. A patient is instance who was given up as in the last stages of consumption. The treatment was tried on him with the result that in two months he was passed by the medical examiner of an insurance company. The injection of the drug is painless and is made at the elbow. While it is too soon yet to say that the treatment can do all that is claimed for it, the discovery has nevertheless attracted the attention of eminent medical men all over England and on the continent.

In Interest of St. Louis Fair.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 27.—A party of St. Louis business men, headed by ex-Governor David R. Francis, appeared before the Massachusetts legislature today and explained plans and purposes of the coming Louisiana Purchase Exposition. This evening the visitors are to be tendered a dinner at the Algonquin Club, under the auspices of the Boston Commercial club. The commercial club has invited the governors of the six New England states, together with the members of the world's fair commissions of each of these states.
