NEW BOYS DRILL

Prince Henry Visits the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

ATTACHED CADETS MANEUVERS IN RAIN.

Dressed With What He Saw and Visits All the Buildings of the Famous Military School, and Returns to Washington in Afternoon.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Prince Henry and his party left before noon today for Annapolis, the rain coming in torrents as the train pulled out but in spite of it a large crowd present to see the royal party.

Arrived at Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 28.—When Prince Henry and his party arrived at a drizzling rain was falling, but it did not mar the enthusiasm of reception given the royal visitor. The party was driven from the train to the parade ground, where the cars were lined up. The prince found the boys going through their evolutions. He seemed greatly impressed with their work and despite the disadvantages of the slippery grounds and heavy rain under which they labored, they met every expectation. After the drill all of the buildings of the naval academy were visited.

An Informal Lunch.

After the inspection the Prince's party took lunch at Commander Ingham's house, all officers contented with the academy and their families being present. The function was entirely informal. After lunch the party left immediately for the city, a salute of 21 guns being fired as the prince emerged from the academy gate.

VISITS NAVAL ACADEMY.

The prince takes a Look at Uncle Sam's Naval School.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 28.—The entire party of Prince Henry reached this city at noon on a special train from Washington. In the Prince's party were the German ambassador, Admiral Von Tirpitz, General Von Plessen, Vice-Admiral von Seckendorff, Adjutants in Chief von Schwind and von Egidy, with a number of less prominent members of the imperial suite. In the party were several distinguished American naval officers, including Secretary Long, Senator Hale, Congressman Foss, Admirals Skenny, Enott, Bowles, Bradford, Commander Miles, Captains Lemley and Sigbee, and the Secret Service Chief Wilke.

The prince and his distinguished staff, all arrayed in brilliant uniform, of his rank, was received by Commander Richard Wainwright, superintendent of the naval academy, assisted by all the officers stationed there. A salute of twenty-one guns was fired. The visitors inspected the various buildings of the academy, as well as the ships in the harbor and explanations made to them of the methods employed. The Prince repeatedly expressed his admiration of the completeness of the institution and also paid handsome tribute to the fine and manly appearance of the cadets. An elegant luncheon was served in the gymnasium and at 3 o'clock the distinguished visitors left for their return to Washington.

Prince Ready for Western Trip.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Upon returning from Annapolis this evening Prince Henry is to be given a dinner by the German ambassador. He will pay his farewell visit to the president and spend the night at the German embassy. Preparations for his trip to the south and west, beginning tomorrow, have been completed. The departure from Washington will be made at the Pennsylvania road at 12:30 p. m. Brief stops are to be made at St. Louis, Columbus, and Cincinnati, arriving at Chattanooga at an early hour Sunday morning.

Vienna, Feb. 28.—A Constantinople dispatch says that the United States according to a report there, intends to take early action to compel Turkey to reimburse the citizens of the United States who raised the $72,000 ransom for the release of Miss Ellen M. Big Convention of Cattle Growers.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 28.—From all indications the convention of the American Cattle Growers' Association to be held in this city next week, will be the largest and best represented gathering of its kind ever held in this country. Large delegations will be present from Texas, Wyoming, Montana, the Dakotas, Washington, Nebraska, Arizona and other states and territories in the west. Many matters of interest to cattlemen are to be discussed, one of the most important of which is the Land Leasing bill, now before congress, prepared by a committee appointed for that purpose by the last convention of the association. "The Diseases of cattle and their Remedies" will also come up for consideration and papers will be presented by the most able men in the country on "The best mode of feeding and fattening Cattle for Market in the Arid Regions of the West, where but Little Grain is Raised." The program will be limited to a few set subjects or papers, it being the purpose of the convention to confine the proceedings to open debate and argument on the part of the members.

To Meet on the Mat.

New York, Feb. 28.—The wrestling match between Carl Norbeck, the giant Norwegian, and John Penning, the "Butcher Boy," which takes place at the Lenox Lyceum tonight, has aroused keen interest among the Norwegian followers of athletics in this city, who have made much over Norbeck since his arrival in this country. The match is to determine the world's championship. Both men have been training for some time and a hard contest is expected to be the outcome.

DEATH UNDER WHEELS.

Pasco is Looked Upon as the Railroad Man's Graveyard.

Two deaths in the Northern Pacific switchyard at Pasco every 12 months is the startling story of the casualty list coming from that place. This has been the rate for the past seven years. On an average of every six months some luckless trainman is ground to death beneath the wheels of the engines in the yards and his mangled body either laid to rest in the shifting sands along the Columbia river or sent to a heartbroken wife and friends in some other place.

The Franklin county coroner could tell many a harrowing tale of the tragedies he has been called upon to investigate at Pasco, were he in that mood. From daylight to dark and from night until morning the continual sound of the switch engine is heard and ground to pieces under the cars, piled down under wreckage or caught between "bumpers," switchmen have met their fate. There is a continual sound of the rush and bustle and the switch engines do not create all the commotion, for the passenger trains coming through frequently are heard. Engineers, brakemen and conductors, going off duty and rushing to their homes to spend a few hours with their families are caught unawares and crushed to death. Like the miner who works underground, not one of the trainmen knows what minute he may be killed or maimed for life. The scared faces and occasional limp shows the strenuous life the railroader has to live, but someone has to follow this work and someone has to either meet his fate like a hero without flinching, or, as it happens many times, be run down by the merciless monster when his back is turned.

Washout in California.

Sacramento, Feb. 28.—A washout on the railroad between Curtis station and Woodland occurred this morning, caused by a break in the levee at Knights Landing, where the water is the highest in 25 years. At East Marcus is a break in the levee along Feather river and the railroad tracks are overflowed. The Oregon trains are running via Oroville in consequence.

TILLMAN-M'LAURIN

Censure Resolutions Recommended and Passed.

TILLMAN'S OFFENSE CONSIDERED THE GRAVER.

Beverage, of the Committee Reporting, Submitted a Minority Report, Recommending Double the Punishment for Tillman—Democrats Agree to Resolution.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The senate committee on privileges and elections decided that Senators Tillman and McLaurin should be censured for their action in the senate chamber, in which McLaurin called Tillman a "liar" and Tillman struck McLaurin.

Censure Resolutions.

The censure resolutions presented to the senate soon after the opening of the session this morning, were as follows: "That it is the judgment of the senate that the senators from South Carolina, for disorderly behavior and flagrant violation of the rules of the senate during an open session of the senate, on February 22, deserve the censure of the senate, and they are hereby so censured for their breach of privileges against the dignity of this body and from and after the adoption of this resolution the order adjudging them in contempt of the senate shall no longer be in force and effect."

Harder on Tillman.

In the report accompanying the resolution, it was stated that Tillman's offense was graver than that of McLaurin.

Bailey, on behalf of the democrats, presented a report agreeing to the resolution, but expressing the opinion that there was no difference in the gravity of the offense of either senator.

McComas and Beverage presented a report recommending that Tillman be suspended for twenty days.

The committee report was adopted by a vote of 54 to 12.

During the roll call, when Tillman's name was called he arose, and with his face red with anger, said: "Mr. President, among gentlemen, an apology for an offense committed under the heat of blood, usually is considered sufficient."

A sensation followed this utterance. For a moment there appeared to be danger of a stampede against the adoption of the censure resolution, but it was averted, Tillman finally being allowed to withdraw his words, which he consented to do.
