GIRL TAKES POISON

MAY BUTT DIES FROM DOSE OF STRYCHNINE.

First Reported That She Had Recovered, But She Relapsed Into a Stupor and Death Soon Followed—No Cause Assigned.

One of the saddest deaths that it has been the duty of the East Oregonian to record for several months is that of Miss May Butt, the 13-year-old daughter of Jacob Butt and the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morse, who lives 20 miles south of Pendleton, on McKay creek.

Last Thursday Miss Butts swallowed a dose of strychnine and within a few minutes was in a serious condition. Mr. Morse came to town for a physician, but owing to the roughness of the roads and the late hour no one ventured to go that night. Friday morning Dr. T. M. Henderson started to go to Mr. Morse's place, but when within a few miles of the house he was met by Dr. J. C. Shields, of Pilot Rock, who told him there was no need for him going further, as he had just come from attending the girl and she was then better and apparently out of danger. Miss Butt was very much better and it was thought, to be on the road to recovery, but Saturday morning she went into a stupor, and died at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

No cause can be obtained for the rash act, as the girl had been in the best of spirits and there is no knowledge of her having had trouble with any one or that she contemplated doing such a deed. She was rational after taking the poison and said she did not know why she took it.

The body was brought to town Sunday evening, arriving here about 8 o'clock and was taken to Failing's undertaking parlors from where the funeral was conducted today.

Mr. Butt, the father of the girl, arrived this morning from his home near Huntington.

There Are Rumors, Too.

It was rumored that Miss Butt had been mistreated by her foster parents and this was the cause of her wanting to end her life, but Coroner Cole has made a thorough investigation and found that there is no foundation for the story. He intended to hold a post-mortem examination of the body this morning, but after thoroughly questioning those who were familiar with the girl and her surroundings he was satisfied that there was no reason to believe she had been ill treated, so the body was interred this forenoon in the Pendleton cemetery.

WATER RESERVOIR CLEANED

This Accounts for the Odor Arising from the City Water.

A great deal has been said recently about the city water and there were good grounds for complaint, for during the past week it had a very objectionable taste and the odor arising from it was quite strong, especially when the water is being heated. Saturday Water Superintendent Brown had the reservoir cleaned out thoroughly and the story was started that all kinds of filth was found therein, but he says this report has no foundation, and that the only thing found in the water was a few boards and sticks which had been thrown in by children and the natural collection of moss and dirt that will collect in an open reservoir. The water was all let out and the bottom swept and thoroughly cleaned, and it again filled with fresh water, and Health Officer Cole, as well as Superintendent Brown, says that the cause of the odor and taste is from the fact that the water has stood in all winter and become stagnant. Heretofore, during the winter season, the water was allowed to run from pipes over town to keep from freezing and this kept the water in the reservoir continually changing, but during the past winter so much of this was not done, because people were paying at meter rates for the amount used, so that the water did not change as usual.

Health Officer Cole advises users of the city water to boil it before drinking, and in this way any disease germ that might be in it will be killed and there will not be so much sickness as if the water was used as it is.

Mr. Hartman Offers a Poem.

Pendleton, Or., March 3.—To the Editor.—The Tribune has had much to say about me. I think the following borrowed lines fit the case of Dodd and others: G. A. HARTMAN.

"There are songs enough for the hero,
Who dwells on the heights of fame;
I sing for the disappointed,
For those who missed their aim."

"I sing with a tearful cadence,
For one who stands in the dark,
And knows that his last best arrow
Has bounded back from the mark."

"I sing for the breathless runner,
The eager, anxious soul,
Who falls with his strength exhausted,
Almost in sight of the goal."

J. Sheurman will be in Pendleton on April 15th and he requests hunters and trappers to keep their furs until that time when he will pay the highest price for them.

When Woods Decay.

Tests have been made to determine the variations in the length of time that is required to produce decay in different kinds of woods when buried under the surface of the ground. The birch and aspen were both found to decay in three years, the willow and the buckeye in four years, the maple and the red beech in five years, elm and ash in seven, while the larch, juniper and arbor vitae were uninjured at the expiration of eight years.

Eskimo Mourning Customs.

All Eskimos are superstitious about death, and, although they hold festivals in memory of departed friends, they will usually carry a dying person to some abandoned hut, there to drag out his remaining days without food, medicine, water or attendance. After the death of a husband or a wife the survivor cuts the front hair short and fasts for twenty-five days.

A Contractor.

"What does your father do?" asked the teacher of the new boy.
"He's a contractor," was the reply.
"A railway contractor?"
"No, ma'am; a sausage contractor. He ties up the ends after another man has filled them."

Different Methods.

"Whatever became of Lamb?"
"Oh, he played the markets and went broke."
"And Wolf, what became of him?"
"Oh, he worked the markets and got rich."—Puck.

None Too Liberal.

"Mr. Linger spends a great deal of time with you, Molly," said Mr. Kitch to Miss Frocks.
"Yes, but that's all he does spend."—Detroit Free Press.

One on the Colonel.

Barnett—Colonel Blower showed me a Bible that saved his life during the war.

Garnett—But did you notice that he carries it in the hind pocket of his trousers?—Judge.

And He Got It.

"I see you have a new cashier," remarked the depositor, meeting the bank president.

"Yes; the old one seemed to think he needed a little change," remarked the president sadly.
