

WILL BUY MINE

PENDLETON MEN WILL JOIN J. H. ROBBINS

To Purchase one of the Best Producing Mines in Eastern Oregon, Requiring Something Near $300,000.

A group of Pendletonians are going to join J. H. Robbins, of Sumpter, in the purchase of one of the best mining properties in Eastern Oregon. The mine is equipped with machinery and is a property that has already produced much yellow metal. It is not as yet desired to make known the mine in question, but some prominent men in Pendleton are enthusiastic over this latest proposition of Mr. Robbins, who put through the Concord deal which yielded such handsome returns to the Pendleton investors.

The present proposition calls for an investment of $300,000 and of this amount Pendleton people will probably contribute one-half. Those who have inquired into the venture assert it is the best thing in the mining line ever offered to Pendleton people, and if it goes through it is asserted that monthly dividends will come rolling in regularly after the first six months, as the mine to be purchased is already a gold yielder in large quantities.

The Concord mine, which Mr. Robbins placed with Pendleton people to a great extent, has paid the investors something like $400,000, and this deal is expected to be even more fruitful, as the possibilities are very much greater in this instance.

THE OREGON KING MINE.

The Suit for the Possession to Go to a Higher Court.

Judge Bellinger, of Portland, has allowed the petition of the defendant, in the case of J. T. Brown and W. D. Maddox against the Oregon King Mining Company for a writ of error, which is virtually an appeal of the case to the United States circuit court of appeal for the ninth district.

This is the important mining suit for the possession of the Oregon King Company's mines in Crook county, which was tried before Judge Bellinger in the United States court in Portland. A verdict was reached by the plaintiff on the second trial, and the defendants, through their attorney, W. W. Cotton, filed a motion for a writ of error. The defendants are to put up a bond of $3000 to take the case upon appeal. It is further ordered by the court that the defendant is not to remove any of the ore from the dump at the mines while the appeal is in progress and until it is decided.

Several Pendleton men hold stock in the mine, which is an excellent one and are, therefore, directly interested in this case.

What It Is.

Advertising is the life blood of the business world today, and well directed advertising is like the powerful searchlight of a river steamer, thrown upon a distant cottage on the bank, cutting it out like a picture painted on a black canvas. The timid buyer and the prospective industry will follow the rays of the searchlight of publicity, just as surely as will the eyes of the steamer's passengers follow the light thrown from their vessel. They will not search the surrounding gloom for objects of interest when a beautiful picture is clearly shown before them. Prospective buyers will not search the surrounding gloom for your competitors if the searchlight of publicity is turned on your own place of business.—Canastota (N. Y.) Bee.

Advertising.

We may live without poetry, music and art, We may live without conscience and live without heart; We may live without friends, and live without fads, But business today cannot live without ads.—The Country Merchant.

BATTLE STILL ON

PENDLETON MARSHALSHIP MUDDLE CONTINUES.

Argument of Counsel Before Judge Ellis and No Matter What His Decision is Case Will Go to a Higher Court.

Pendleton is still in the throes of the personal fight which has been waged between the Heathman-Beam and the anti-Heathman-Beam sides. This morning the matter was again taken up in the district court for Umatilla county and Judge Ellis has been listening to the lawyers' pleas pro and con, and the end is not yet. The citizens of Pendleton are thoroughly disgusted and think that it is time for something to be done to stop the matter, consequently all kinds of remedies have been suggested, among them the one of getting up a petition asking all the present city officials to resign their places and have a special election called to elect new officials throughout, and it is likely that this will be brought up at the meeting of the Pendleton Commercial Club Tuesday night. Whether or not this would be a remedy that would put an end to the scrap is not known, but people are jumping at any and everything that is suggested that has a possibility of bringing peace between the factions.

Something should be done at once but what that something is is what people would like to know. Each faction thinks it is right, and Heathman's backers say they will fight it to the bitter end, while the anti-side are just as determined to stand by what they think is right and will continue to assert themselves until they gain their point, if Judge Ellis decides against Heathman and Beam after hearing the argument being brought out today this will end the fight in the district court, but it will be carried up to the supreme court and fought there. This will keep the old officers in their official positions while the matter is in litigation. The outcome will be awaited with more than ordinary interest and every citizen in Pendleton will rejoice when the affair is finally settled.

A Table Decoration. At a banquet given recently in Paris by a French countess the guests received a most astounding surprise. In the center of the table was what appeared to be a huge pile of roses, and just before soup was served the roses parted, disclosing a large birdcage. This suddenly opened, revealing a beautiful young lady adorned with wings. She remained in her strange position during the dinner and introduced each new dish by singing a couplet.

Had Looked Out For Number One. "Have you ever done anything to better the condition of any part of the human race?" said the very serious man.

"Of course I have," answered the person with the cold gray eye. "Am I not a part of the human race?"—Exchange.

A Cynic on Marriage. Sardines are a delicacy fit for any epicure, but the other fish was thus summed up by an epigrammatic Cornishman: "Plichards," he said "are like wives. When they're bad, they're awful, and when they're good they're only middling."—Pall Mall Gazette.
