HELP FOR CHILDREN

AMERICO-INDIAN FAMINE RELIEF SOCIETY

Has in Charge 16,000 Children Rescued from the Famine Stricken District of India.

Now the American people are called upon to donate money enough to educate and bring up the 16,000 children in the famine-stricken regions of India. This is the latest move of a recently organized society calling itself the Americo-India Famine Relief Committee, and they expect to raise enough money by public subscriptions to carry out their plans. Already literature is being sent out all over the country asking for funds for this purpose, and it is the desire of the committee to establish a branch in every city and town of any importance in the United States. Following are extracts from the appeal sent out asking assistance toward the project:

The fact that the 25,000 famine children who have been rescued from death and suffering, and who are now receiving care and training, the responsibility of 16,000 falls upon American missionaries, leads the committee to think that American benefactors whose generous gifts saved these children when starving, will be glad to make use of our undenominational and unsectarian agency for helping those thousands of India's famine children until they are able to earn their own living.

While at first the mere support of these 25,000 children was the pressing thought, there has now been added an equally urgent necessity for their proper industrial training.

The Americo-India famine relief committee therefore appeals to American benefactors to extend a helping hand in securing for these children an industrial training to the giving of which the missionary body of western India is giving its earnest attention.

The cost of the support and industrial training of each famine child is calculated to be on the average $20 a year.

Large sums for workshops, tools, raw materials and industrial teachers are needed in over 100 centers.

Central industrial schools, which are to serve as model schools, and also for the training of industrial teachers, are needed in a few places. These require larger buildings, more expensive machinery and expert teachers.

To help these undertakings, and in doing so, to help to solve the difficult problem of the industrial education India's masses, an earnest appeal is herewith made. The problem is being earnestly considered by all in charge of the famine children and industries are being made the main feature of their education. The government is in sympathy and is giving financial support in the form of large proportions and needs a large sum of money each year, as well as many small and a few large endowments to make the solution a success.

Twenty-five thousand children at $20 need $500,000 a year. America's share of 16,000 children at $20, is $320,000 a year. Industrial plants at 100 centers, from $1000 to $50,000 at each center, according to the purpose and extent of the industrial institution.

There are generous friends of humanity in England and America who are sending help to the missionaries who have assumed responsibility as representatives of Christian benefactors. Of the 25,000 children few have yet had to be sent away to wander and perhaps perish but the majority of these children need their support and industrial training assured for the next five years at least, and to do this gifts must be generous if the children are not to be driven from the homes.

Money may be sent to Brown Brothers & Co., 59 Wall street, New York, and should be designated as for the "Industrial training and support of India's famine children" through the Americo-India Famine Relief Committee, of Bombay.

(Signed) ROBERT A. HUME,
JUSTIN ABBOTT,
Secretaries of the Americo-India Famine Relief Committee, Bombay, India.

FLORENCE BURNS OF NEW YORK, ACCUSED OF SHOOTING HER LOVER, WALTER S. BROOKS

Walter S. Brooks.

The incident in the case of Miss Florence Burns, the young Brooklyn woman charged with the murder of young Walter S. Brooks, are so thrilling and unusual that the greatest interest is manifested throughout the entire country. Miss Burns, the accused, is a young girl refined and of good family. The dead boy was also well connected. Brooks is supposed to have proven faithless to the beautiful young girl who, it is charged, shot her betrayer in a moment of passion. Miss Burns steadfastly denies her guilt and her calm self possession under the serious charge that hangs over her causes the prison officials to marvel greatly.

DEALS OUT PASSES.

The O. R. & N. Reported to Be Free With Them—Other Roads Tight.

The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has mailed annual passes to all members of the legislature, says the Spokesman-Review, who had them last year regardless of how they voted on railroad questions before the legislature.

But the Great Northern and Northern Pacific have mailed passes only to holdover senators, and then only to senators whose votes were with the railroads in the last session of the legislature.

The word has been passed out, unofficially and informally, of course, that the two roads in Mr. Hill's merger intend to be more strict in the distribution of transportation favors hereafter. It is said that no passes will be given out to those whose votes it is known will be against the railroads. This applies to holdover senators. None of the present members of the lower house, regardless of age, race or previous condition of servitude will be given passes. It is said the roads have figured out that only about one lower house member in ten is re-elected, and that they see no use in continuing favors to a lot of men who will be of no further use to them.

Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, attorney at law, Monmouth, Ill.

The Paper Industry.

The Wisconsin paper making district is said to be the second most important in the world, ranking next to the Massachusetts district. The latest official directory reports forty-four paper mills in Wisconsin, to which should be added thirty-six mills making wood pulp and sulphite fiber for the paper mills. It is estimated that 5,000 to 6,000 persons are employed in and about these mills, but there are other thousands dependent on the paper industry. Among these may be mentioned the men who get out the wood and those who transport it to the mills. Then there are various Wisconsin factories which are now manufacturing machinery for the mills, and many persons are engaged in the sale and handling of the finished paper.

HOMESEEEKERS' RATES.

The Railroads Making Concessions to Induce Immigration.

Owing to the rush of homeseekers that is expected to the West during the months of March and April, the W. & C. R., Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. transportation companies have offered unusual concessions to holders of homeseekers' tickets in order to give the holders a chance to see as much of the territory tributary to each line as is possible for a very small amount of money.

During the present month and the month following the W. & C. R. offers to sell tickets at one fare for the round trip to all stations on the Northern Pacific, Ellensburg and Kitzville inclusive.

The O. R. & N. company have offered the same rate from Pendleton and return to any place on their line, to holders of settlers' tickets sold in the East and reading to points between Pendleton and Spokane. These tickets on all lines bear a ten day limit.

Shipmasters Organize.

Boston, Mass., March 4.—The organization of the American Shipmasters' protective association, the preliminary steps of which were taken at a conference held in Newport News last month, will be completed today when a charter will be obtained under the laws of Massachusetts. The main objects of the association will be to look after the interests of the sailing shipmasters in matters of legislation. The association expects to embrace in its membership all the sailing shipmasters engaged in the Atlantic coast trade.

Consider Valued Policy Law.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—The annual meeting of the National Association of Co-Operative Mutual Insurance companies has commenced here today with W. D. Forbes of Des Moines presiding. Large numbers of delegates are in attendance from various parts of Iowa, Ohio, Missouri, Colorado, Kansas, Oregon, Texas, Nebraska, Tennessee, Mississippi and several other states. The valued policy law is one of the main questions up for discussion.

Hackney Show Opens.

London, March 4.—A brilliant gathering filled Agricultural hall, Islington, today on the occasion of the opening of the great annual show for hackneys. This is the eighteenth annual show of the association and judging from the number of high class entries it will be the best of its kind ever pulled off in England. Several Americans are among the competitors.

Still Fighting Addicks.

Dover, Del., March 4.—The rumors of harmony between the republicans of Delaware have evidently been based more upon the wishes of the leaders than upon actual facts. As a matter of fact there appears to be no let up in the fight to prevent the election of J. Edward Addicks as United States senator. This is evidenced by the rousing meeting of the regular republicans of Sussex county at Georgetown today at which plans were laid for continuing the campaign with increased vigor. The republicans of Sussex county have the strongest party organization in the state and their action will doubtless be followed by the anti-Addicks element all along the line.

Lumbermen Assemble at Chicago.

Chicago, March 4.—Scores of well known lumbermen from various parts of the country registered at the Auditorium hotel today in anticipation of the meeting of the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' association, which begins its sessions tomorrow. The gathering promises to be the largest of its kind ever held in the country. Many questions of interest to the trade are scheduled for discussion. The convention will also consider steps to promote the passage through congress of the amendment to the interstate commerce act to enable the commissioners to enforce their decisions.

I. O. M. A. Biennial.

Peoria, Ill., March 4.—The biennial meeting of the Illinois grand lodge, Independent Order of Mutual Aid, which began here today, is the largest meeting ever held by the state organization. There are upwards of 300 delegates in the city, representing the leading cities of the state. The officers in charge of the convention are: Judge T. J. Scofield, of Chicago, grand president; Alexander McLean, of Macomb, grand secretary; George Doying, of Jacksonville, vice president; and F. S. Mosler, of Sandwich, grand treasurer. The officers' reports show the affairs of the order to be in a flourishing condition.

Big Car Works for Pacific Coast.

Seattle, Wash., March 4.—Active steps have begun for the erection of a big plant at Ballard for the manufacture of freight cars, logging engines, trucks and machinery. The plant is to cost upwards of $100,000 and is expected to be in operation before the end of the year. It will be the pioneer establishment of the kind in the Pacific northwest. The Washington fir is to be used on a large scale for the manufacture of freight cars.
