EAST OREGONIAN PUB. CO

COUNT VON BULOW.

The above is the latest picture of Count Von Bulow, whose prominent connection in current news makes him of interest.

NESMITH AND WILLIAMS.

True Origin of Former's Famous Witticism About the Mule.

Judge George H. Williams, of Portland, writes to the Oregonian as follows:

"Permit me to say a word or two about a story published in the Oregonian, in which it is stated that I presented a bill to the senate for expenses in which there was an item of $10 for cab hire; that Nesmith took exceptions to this item and was induced thereby to say that when he knew me in Oregon I rode astride a mule, a long-eared animal without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity.
I never presented any bill to the senate or elsewhere, for cab hire. That part of the story is pure fiction. Ne-smith and I were warm personal friends until the quarrel came up between Andrew Johnson and the republican party. Nesmith was a Johnson man and secured some democratic nominations which I defeated in the senate. This made him very angry.
When I was nominated for chief justice, Nesmith was a member of the house of representatives and actively and bitterly opposed my confirmation and, referring to the fact that I rode in the department carriage, about which there was a great ado made at the time (I was then attorney-general) he said on the floor of the house what is above stated. The wit and sarcasm of the remark are undeniable.
Our differences were entirely political and I am pleased to say that long before Nesmith's death our early friendship relations were resumed."

Political Notes.

E. M. Croisan, local manager for Joseph Simon, practically dictated the date for the Marion county primaries.
He did it in the interests of Simon and thereby secured an advantage of no small importance. While the date selected, March 14, does not give him an advantage over the anti-Simon people, it places him in the position of absolute dictator over the Geer people.
The contest between State Senator Williamson and Representative Moody in the Wasco county primaries Saturday, resulted in a victory for Mr.

Moody, giving him a plurality of 35 votes in the county convention as now reported. Three out of the four of The Dalles precincts were carried by Moody. There were 71 votes in Mr.
Moody's favor out of the 107 comprising the county convention.

At the enthusiastic meeting of many representative republican voters in Portland, plans were discussed for getting out the fullest possible registration previous to the primary election, in that city, March 15. Judge C. H.
Carey, who was selected to act as chairman of the meeting, was authorized to appoint a committee of three in each precinct to urge all voters to register in time to vote at the primary.

The Baker City Herald gives the following democratic slate in Baker county: Joint senator, William Smith; representative, J. H. Robbins, of Sumpter, banker and miner; county judge, W. W. Travillion, 28 years in public office; sheriff, John P. Han-non, of Huntington; clerk, George H.
Foster; recorder, C. W. James, the incumbent; assessor, George W. Jett, whose political scalp the big mine-owners of this county will go gunning for, and Commissioner, J. W. Moody.
Elgin republicans says the Recorder, will ask for two places on the republican ticket for Union county. D. H.
Proctor will try for the recordership, and J. L. Hindman wants to be county judge.

At bedtime I take a pleasant herb drink, the next morning I feel bright and my complexion is better. My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. It is made from herbs, and is prepared as easily as tea. It is called Lane's Medicine.
Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Price 25c and 50c.

True.

The occasional ad is one of the very best methods by which to squander money. Continuous advertising, on the other hand, will bring ample returns for the money invested.—Sug-

ADMIRAL VON BAUDISSLN.

Commander of the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, now in New York harbor, and one of Prince Henry's party.

CHOLLY'S MISTAKE.

1. "That's an awfully smart girl!" murmured little Cholly Chapley to himself. "I'll skate behind her, and p'raps she'll notice me."

2. "Here's a bit of luck! The dear thing is falling backward into my arms! Now for the graceful saving act!"

3. But Cholly was small and light, and that girl was rather tall and heavy, and somehow, though Cholly did save her from a tumble—

4. —he wished he hadn't afterward, for the ice wasn't built to stand such a strain as was put upon it. And Cholly spoiled all his clothes too.

Mistress: "But why did you leave your last place?"
Cook: "Oh, why, bless you, mum, I couldn't stand the way master and mistress quarreled."
Mistress: "Why, what did they quarrel about?"
Cook: "Well, mum, it was generally about the way I cooked the dinner."

PUTTING THE OTHER FOOT IN IT.

Mother: "Ethel is the very image of what I was at her age."
He: "Really! I shouldn't have thought it possible."
Mother (coldly): "May I ask why?"
He (seeing his error and striving to rectify it): "Oh—er—I was forgetting what a long time ago that must have been!"

HE WAS BOUND TO BE ACCURATE.

Magistrate: "Now, my boy, tell me the size of the stone he threw. Was it as big as my head?"
Truthful Boy: "Yes, sir, but not so thick."
